Natural Alien Humankind And Environment:

The Natural Alien Neil Evernden, 1993-12-15 In this eloquent and sympathetic book Evernden evaluates the international environmental movement and the underlying assumptions that could doom it to failure Beginning with a simple definition of environmentalists as those who confess a concern for the non human he reviews what is inherent in industrial societies to make them so resistant to the concerns of environmentalists His analysis draws on citing such diverse sources as Merleau Ponty Heidegger and TIME and examines how we tend to think about the world and how we might think about it The book does not offer solutions to environmental questions but it does offer the hope that there can be new ways of thinking and flexibility in human environmental relations Although humans seem alienated from our the natural world we can develop a new understanding of self in the world The second edition has a new preface and an epilogue in which Evernden analyses the latest environmental catch phrase sustainable development

A New Environmental Ethics Holmes Rolston III, 2012-04-23 No one looking ahead at the middle of the last century could have foreseen the extent and the importance of the ensuing environmental crises Now more than a decade into the next century no one can ignore it A New Environmental Ethics the Next Millennium for Life on Earth offers clear powerful and oftentimes moving thoughts from one of the first and most respected philosophers to write on the environment Rolston an early and leading pioneer in studying the moral relationship between humans and the earth surveys the full spectrum of approaches in the field of environmental ethics This book however is not simply a judicious overview Instead it offers critical assessments of contemporary academic accounts and draws on a lifetime of research and experience to suggest an outlook for the future As a result this focused forward looking analysis will be a necessary complement to any balanced textbook or anthology in environmental ethics and will teach its readers to be responsible global citizens and residents of their landscape helping ensure that the future we have will be the one we wish for

The Future of Environmental Criticism Lawrence Buell, 2009-02-09 Written by one of the world s leading theorists in ecocriticism this manifesto provides a critical summary of the ecocritical movement A critical summary of the emerging discipline of ecocriticism Written by one of the world s leading theorists in ecocriticism Traces the history of the ecocritical movement from its roots in the 1970s through to its diversification and proliferation today Takes account of different ecocritical positions and directions Describes major tensions within ecocriticism and addresses major criticisms of the movement Looks to the future of ecocriticism proposing that discourses of the environment should become a permanent part of literary and cultural studies

Eco-Phenomenology Charles S. Brown, Ted Toadvine, 2003-01-30 Explores how continental philosophy can inform environmental ethics

Social Work and the Environment Michael Kim Zapf, 2009 This ground breaking new work provides a detailed and extensive comparison of how the physical environment has been conceptualized in social work and other professions and offers a new and attractive foundational metaphor for social work The author acknowledges the need for greater awareness and action regarding environmental impacts and the book promotes more comprehensive notions of responsibility identity and stewardship that lead to a dynamic metaphor of people as place as the foundation for relevant social work practice in the early 21st century Why is that a profession with a declared focus on person in environment has been so silent on the environmental crisis Mainstream social work theory has narrowed the understanding of environment to include merely the social environment but this approach is no longer sufficient for participation in multi disciplinary efforts to tackle urgent environmental issues Transformative notions of responsibility identity and stewardship have been developed on the fringes of our professional community rural remote social workers Aboriginal social workers and international and spiritual social workers They must now move to the core of the profession
