Pastons The Story Of A Medieval Family:

A Medieval Family Frances Gies, Joseph Gies, 2010-09-21 The fascinating story of the fortunes of one medieval family over the course of a century from bestselling historians Frances and Joseph Gies The Pastons were members of the English gentry a tiny group of roughly 1 000 households sandwiched between the ruling nobility and the peasants and a rough analog for the contemporary middle class Their existence was fairly typical but for the fact that it was recorded in an extraordinary collection of nearly 1 000 letters which have survived to this day Through these letters which cover the years from 1421 to 1484 and the lives of three generations of Pastons bestselling historians Frances and Joseph Gies provide a rare window into the day to day life of this family and the broader political and social goings on of medieval England A Medieval Family first tells the story of Judge William Paston 1378 1444 the patriarch of the family a lawyer and judge who bought up land in Norfolk and left his son a sizeable estate which was later forcibly seized by a neighboring baron We then follow the family through its ups and downs over several generations learning of their feuds with neighbors the frequent instability of 15th century England and significant historical events such as the Siege of Caister and the Battle of Barnet There are also many letters of more personal significance including a series of Valentines sent to John Paston III The work of acclaimed historians Frances and Joseph Gies has been used by George R R Martin in his research for Game of Thrones In A Medieval Family they have woven a compelling intergenerational saga that is essential reading for anyone seeking insight into the medieval period The Gieses who specialize in making the Middle Ages accessible to nonspecialists have done a wonderful job of linking and amplifying the Pastons words New Yorker The Pastons and Their England Henry Stanley Bennett, 1922 Bibliography and collation of editions and original letters The Paston Dynasty Pasquale De Marco, 2025-08-12 In the heart of medieval England the Paston family rose from humble beginnings to become one of the most prominent and influential families in Norfolk Their remarkable story captured in a collection of nearly 1 000 surviving letters offers a rare glimpse into the lives of ordinary people living in extraordinary times Through the Pastons eyes we witness the Wars of the Roses a bloody conflict that divided England for decades We see them navigate the treacherous waters of politics law and religion facing both personal challenges and triumphs We learn about their marriages their alliances their financial struggles and their legal disputes We witness the birth of their children and grandchildren and we mourn the loss of loved ones The Paston Letters are a treasure trove of information about medieval English society They shed light on everything from the daily lives of ordinary people to the workings of the royal court We learn about the Pastons relationships with their neighbors their tenants and their servants We gain insights into their religious beliefs their educational pursuits and their leisure activities But the Paston Letters are more than just a historical record They are a testament to the enduring power of family Through good times and bad the Pastons remained steadfast in their devotion to each other and to their family name Their story is a reminder that even in the most challenging of circumstances the bonds of family can provide strength and resilience This book brings the Paston family to life offering readers a vivid and immersive experience of medieval England Through their letters we are transported back in time to a world of knights and ladies castles and manors battles and feasts We see the world through their eyes and we come to understand the challenges and triumphs that shaped their lives The Paston family s story is not just a tale of one family s rise to prominence It is a story that reflects the broader history of England in the late Middle Ages It is a story of ambition intrigue love loss and the enduring power of family It is a story that continues to resonate with readers today offering insights into our own lives and the human condition If you like this book write a review

Reading Families Rebecca L. Krug,2018-09-05 Rebecca Krug argues that in the later Middle Ages people defined themselves in terms of family relationships but increasingly saw their social circumstances as being connected to the written word Complex family dynamics and social configurations motivated women to engage in text based activities Although not all or even the majority of women could read and write it became natural for women to think of writing as a part of everyday life Reading Families looks at the literate practice of two individual women Margaret Paston and Margaret Beaufort and of two communities in which women were central the Norwich Lollards and the Bridgettines at Syon Abbey The book begins with Paston s letters which were written at her husband s request and ends with devotional texts that describe the spiritual daughterhood of the Bridgettine readers Scholars often assume that medieval women s participation in literate culture constituted a rejection of patriarchal authority Krug maintains however that for most women learning to engage with the written word served as a practical response to social changes and was not necessarily a revolutionary act The Story of Us Humans, from Atoms to Today's Civilization Robert Dalling,2006-03 The Story of Us Humans explains human nature and human history including the origins of our species emotions behavior morals and society It explains what we are how we got here and where we are today by describing the origin history and current ways of our neighborhoods religion government science technology and business Written in plain language it explains what astronomy physics geology biology chemistry anthropology history religion social science and political science tell us about ourselves Most everyone feels that human success is measured in terms of healthy and happy children and communities Human thoughts and actions involve little besides love and children spouse and family community and justice because we are parenting mammals and social primates Each of us simply wants to laugh and joke with our family and friends pursue life raise children and strive to be a valued and contributing member of our community We have made incredible progress building civilization in just a few hundred generations using nothing except our animal minds Have you wondered What are the laws of nature and how many laws are there How did molecular life begin and then evolve into worms fish amphibians reptiles mammals primates and humans What are the differences between these animals How did we get from the Big Bang to bacteria and on to Christianity democracy and globalization What is life like for gatherer hunters When did we first become farmers and first build cities and what was life like at those times What was life like in Ancient Mesopotamia Ancient Athens 13th century Cahokia Medieval China and

Covering the years 1179-1499 this work discusses common traits of medieval universities, their major figures and their roles in medieval life. The Paston Family in the Fifteenth Century Colin Richmond, 2000 This is the third and final volume in the trilogy by Colin Richmond on the Paston family in the 15th century, completing the sequence which began with The First Phase and continued with Fastolf's Will. This volume deals with the later years of the century and those topics and themes which arise at that point in the family's history. The principal characters are John Paston II, his younger brother John Paston III and their mother Margaret Paston. Richmond deals with a variety of issues, some of which have arisen in previous volumes, and attempts some judgements on the role of the English gentry in the later middle ages. Writing the Family Narrative Lawrence P. Gouldrup, 1987 At last! Here is a clear, concise and highly readable explanation of how to write your family history. This book was written for the genealogist who has compiled scores of pedigree charts and family group sheets, has spent years poring over forgotten manuscripts and staring into dimly lit microfilm readers, and who now wants to bring it all together into a final narrative form. In a timely and interesting manner, the author shows how you can compose a controlled and focused rendition of your family's story. Medieval Prosopography, 1992

Widows in Anglo-Saxon and Medieval Britain Marie-Françoise Alamichel, 2008 This volume provides a comprehensive study of widowhood in Medieval Britain based on literary and historical sources from the seventh to the 15th centuries. It devotes much attention to family structures and to the legal and social aspects of inheritance. Medieval Justice Hunt Janin, 2009-10-15 A primer on medieval justice, this book focuses on France, Germany and England and covers the thousand years between the transformation of the Roman world in Western Europe which took place around the 4th and 5th centuries and the European Renaissance of the 14th and 15th centuries. It highlights key elements in the intricate, overlapping legal systems of the Middle Ages and describes a wide range of contemporary laws and cases. A discussion of the modern legacies of medieval law is included, as are a brief overview of the Inquisition, the 27 articles of Joan of Arc and useful commentary on many other topics. Illustrations range from the earliest known depictions of English courts and illuminations of torture to pictures of important sites, events and instruments of punishment in medieval law. The Paston Family in the Fifteenth Century: Volume 1, The First Phase Colin Richmond, 2002-05-16 This volume describes in lively and original style the beginnings of the family's gentility. Blood and Roses - The Paston Family in the Fifteenth Century Helen Castor, 2025-05-24 The Wars of the Roses turned England upside down. Between 1455 and 1485, four kings lost their thrones, more than forty noblemen lost their lives on the battlefield or their heads on the block, and thousands of the men who followed them met violent deaths. Yet almost nothing is known about the thoughts and feelings of the people who lived through this bloody conflict whether kind of noble landowner or peasant Almost nothing but not quite As they made their way in a disintegrating world a Norfolk family called the Pastons were writing letters about politics about business about shopping about love and about each other Using these letters the oldest surviving family correspondence in English Helen Castor traces the extraordinary history of the Paston family across three generations Blood Roses tells the dramatic moving and intensely human story of how one family survived one of the most tempestuous periods in English history New Medieval Literatures 24 Wendy Scase, Laura Ashe, Philip Knox, 2024-03-12 This volume continues the series engagement with intellectual and cultural pluralism in the Middle Ages showcasing the best new work in this field New Medieval Literatures is an annual of work on medieval textual cultures Its scope is inclusive of work across the theoretical archival philological and historicist methodologies associated with medieval literary studies and embraces the range of European cultures capaciously defined Texts analysed here range in date from the late ninth or early tenth centuries to the fifteenth century and in provenance from the eastern part of the Hungarian kingdom to the British Isles European understandings of the world are explored in several essays including historiographical perspectives on the Mongol Empire and world building in the romances of the Round Table In their consideration of translation of English diplomatic texts into French of the Latin Boethius into Old English of Old Turkic and Mongolian into Latin several contributors reveal complex medieval multilingual societies while translatio is shown to be weaponised in international scholarly rivalries Bibliophilia book collection and book production inform identity formation shaping both nationalisms and the many layered identities of fifteenth century merchants Several essays engage revealingly with economic humanities Account books provide traces of book production capacity in the unlikely location of Calais credit finance provides metaphors for human relations with the divine in the Book of mystic Margery Kempe and women broker credit in real world scenarios too Other essays engage with sensory studies sight and optics are shown to inform ethnography while smell and taste often considered beyond the reach of language emerge as surprisingly central in some religious and philosophical writings
