Pathways Of Change In Africa:

Pathways of Change in Africa Ian Scoones, 2002 In the literature of sustainable development many have argued for the encouragement of mixed farming involving the integration of livestock and crops on one farm to meet the needs of small scale African farming systems Scoones and Wolmer both with the Environment Group at the Institute of Development Studies U of Sussex argue that behind this argument is the implicit or explicit assumption that mixed farming represents a stage in a normative evolutionary process towards an ideal They suggest that this view is mistaken and that mixed farming is only one of a range of possible pathways of change in agricultural systems They present case studies from Ethiopia Mali and Zimbabwe and analyze how social actors have varying access to resources This variance is often due to institutional arrangements that are too often ignored in discussions of mixed farming and therefore fail to take into account situations that could help development efforts to be more effectively targeted Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR

Women and Power in Post-Conflict Africa Aili Mari Tripp, 2015-10-20 The book explains an unexpected consequence of the decrease in conflict in Africa after the 1990s Analysis of cross national data and in depth comparisons of case studies of Uganda Liberia and Angola show that post conflict countries have significantly higher rates of women's political representation in legislatures and government compared with countries that have not undergone major conflict They have also passed more legislative reforms and made more constitutional changes relating to women's rights. The study explains how and why these patterns emerged, tying these outcomes to the conjuncture of the rise of women's movements, changes in international women's rights norms and most importantly gender disruptions that occur during war. This book will help scholars, students, women's rights activists, international donors, policy makers, non-governmental organizations, NGOs and others better understand some of the circumstances that are most conducive to women's rights reform today and why. Evaluation

Management in South Africa and Africa Fanie Cloete, 2014-12-01. This blind peer-reviewed book systematically records analyses and assesses for the first time in a single volume the implications of the global development and management of professional evaluation for the African continent. The book deals with the most strategic contemporary evaluation themes. Each of these themes contains discussions of theoretical issues illustrated with one or more short case studies, while selected longer case studies and other relevant documentation are also taken up in annexures at the end of the book. The book therefore comprises a guide to best M E practices for purposes of systematic policy programme and project evaluations. It is suitable for both professional M E institutionalisation and capacity building projects as well as for evaluation information dissemination and education at different levels in the public, private and voluntary sectors in society, especially in a developmental context. Gender Equality, Climate Action, and Technological Innovation for Sustainable Development in Africa

Ogechi Adeola, Olaniyi Evans, Innocent Ngare, 2023-12-07. This open access book explores the intersection of gender and climate change, suggesting ways in which innovative technologies can accelerate climate relief actions and offers strategies for integrating climate change initiatives into national policies and planning. By examining the devastating consequences of climate change on women and girls throughout the continent, the authors pose a crucial question: Does gender matter in climate change discussions in Africa? Political and social traditions have burdened women with greater vulnerability to the impacts of climate-related natural disasters, including violence, displacement, poverty, famine, and lack of access to clean water. However, women are also key to effective and inclusive climate mitigation, adaptation, and decision-making. The authors provide a compelling discourse that identifies the social and economic benefits for all citizens when gender-inclusive policies shape equitable and targeted action plans from mitigation to adaptation and funding. The UN's SDG 13 calls for urgent action and commitment to combat climate change. The implementable and action-oriented propositions presented in this book will be of interest to students, educators, practitioners, third sector actors, and policymakers committed to gender equality, sustainable development, and climate action in Africa. Pathways to Prosperity for Adolescent Girls in Africa

Mutua, 2022-10-03 There is an emerging consensus that what is projected as democratic governance and justice in Africa requires a re calibration in particular in relation to the constitutive demos human rights the realisation of commitments at various governance levels and the convergence between these ideations The post colonial narrative on democracy has unveiled some crevices in rule of law political equality political participation political culture and freedom of the press Aside from the fact that these notions are threatened by some existing institutional structures these notions are increasingly being negotiated across political spaces Evident in the prevalent narrative is an imperative for Africa to assert its place on the global scene of democratic governance and justice However if this will be accomplished it is important to understand some of the issues that need to be worked through in this transition 2019 Annual trends and outlook report: Gender equality in rural Africa: From

Decolonising Africa's Business Practices : Pro-Indigenous Marketing Pathway to a Paradigm Shift Prof. Ogechi Adeola,2023 15th Inaugural Lecture of the Pan Atlantic University delivered on Sept 1 2023 by Professor Ogechi Adeola LL B Nigeria B L Nigeria MBA Manchester DBA Manchester Professor of Marketing Lagos Business School Pan Atlantic University Lagos Nigeria Institutional Arrangements for Conservation, Development and Tourism in Eastern and Southern Africa René van der Duim,Machiel Lamers,Jakomijn van Wijk,2014-11-16 This book presents an overview of different institutional arrangements for tourism biodiversity conservation and rural poverty reduction in eastern and southern Africa These approaches range from conservancies in Namibia community based organizations in Botswana conservation enterprises in Kenya private game reserves in South Africa to sport hunting in Uganda and transfrontier conservation areas The book presents a comparative analysis of these arrangements and highlights that most arrangements emerged in the 1990s through either a decentralized or centralized change trajectory that was sponsored by donors They aim to address some of the challenges of the fortress types of conservation by combining principles of community based natural resource management with a neoliberal approach to conservation evident in the use of tourism as the main mechanism for accruing benefits from wildlife The book illustrates the empirical relevance of these novel arrangements by presenting their growth in numbers and discuss how these arrangements differ in their form With respect to the conservation and development impacts of these arrangements we show that they have secured large amounts of land for conservation but also generated governance challenges and disputes on tourism benefit sharing affecting the stability of these arrangements to generate socioeconomic and conservation benefits Africa's Future, Africa's Challenge Marito H. Garcia,Alan Pence,Judith Evans,2008-01-18 Early childhood from birth through school entry was largely invisible worldwide as a policy concern for much of the twentieth century Children in the eyes of most countries were appendages of their parents or simply embedded in the larger family structure The child did not emerge as a separate social entity until school age typically six or seven Africa s Future Africa s Challenge Early Childhood Care and Development in Sub Saharan Africa focuses on the 130 million children south of the Sahel in this 0 6 age group This book the first of its kind presents a balanced collection of articles written by African and non African authors ranging from field practitioners to academicians and from members of government organizations to those of nongovernmental and local organizations Africa s Future Africa s Challenge compiles the latest data and viewpoints on the state of Sub Saharan Africa s children Topics covered include the rationale for investing in young children policy trends in early childhood development ECD historical perspectives of ECD in Sub Saharan Africa including indigenous approaches new threats from HIV AIDS and the importance of fathers in children s lives The book also addresses policy development and ECD implementation issues presents the ECD programming experience in several countries highlighting best practices and challenges and evaluates the impact of ECD programs in a number of countries Biological Invasions in South Africa Brian W. van Wilgen,John Measey,David M. Richardson,John R. Wilson,Tsungai A. Zengeya,2020-03-10 This open access volume presents a comprehensive account of all aspects of biological invasions in South Africa where research has been conducted over more than three decades and where bold initiatives have been implemented in attempts to control invasions and to reduce their ecological economic and social effects It covers a broad range of themes including history policy development and implementation the status of invasions of animals and plants in terrestrial marine and freshwater environments the development of a robust ecological theory around biological invasions the effectiveness of management interventions and scenarios for the future The South African situation stands out because of the remarkable diversity of the country and the wide range of problems encountered in its varied ecosystems which has resulted in a disproportionate investment into both research and management The South African experience holds many lessons for other parts of the world and this book should be of immense value to researchers students managers and policy makers who deal with biological invasions and ecosystem management and conservation in most other regions Culture, Entertainment and Health Promotion in Africa Kimani Njogu,2005 This book brings together multiple voices and positions from Africa These voices assembled during a 2003 Soap Summit held in Nairobi are powerful and varied and suggest ways in which issues of health could be tackled in an entertaining manner The summit organised by Population Communications International Africa highlighted the critical role that the arts can play in ensuring better health especially among the youth It resulted from the recognition that young people in Africa are faced with a myriad of problems and complications as they struggle to deal with growth and identity formation within a globalising social and economic setup They are in dire need of information on their own sexuality and how to deal with it and are getting conflicting signals from the mass media as well as their immediate environment The youth are under intense pressure from their peers to engage in premarital sex which is in most cases unprotected The HIV AIDS epidemic presents frightening challenges and all health programs should look for ways of dealing with it Of great to concern is the vulnerability of women and girls in Africa due to rising poverty gender violence lack of access to youth friendly reproductive health facilities and lack of a conducive infrastructure especially in informal settlements and in the rural areas The myriad problems presented by the pandemic require a multi sectoral approach This book brings together a number of strategies being undertaken in Africa that combine entertainment and education in a positive way The voices from the Soap Summit are interspersed with those of the Editor to create a dialogue on entertainment education that contributes to the discussion on the way social change might be undertaken

Sustainability

Challenges in Sub-Saharan Africa I Alexandros Gasparatos, Abubakari Ahmed, Merle Naidoo, Alice Karanja, Kensuke Fukushi, Osamu Saito, Kazuhiko Takeuchi, 2020-09-04 The aim of this 2 volume book is to highlight how Sustainability Science approaches can help solve some of the pervasive challenges that Africa faces The volumes collect a number of local case studies throughout Africa that adopt transdisciplinary and problem oriented research approaches using methodologies from the natural and the social sciences These are put into perspective with chapters that introduce key sustainability challenges such using a regional focus Through this multi scale and inter transdisciplinary approach the proposed volume will provide an authoritative source that will pack in a single volume a large amount of information on how Sustainability Science approaches sustainability challenges in African contexts While there have been general books about sustainability science none has had a strong African focus As a result the 2 volume set fills a major gap in the Sustainability Science scholarship This volume sets the stage for the series Part I introduces key sustainability challenges in Africa Parts II III highlights specific case studies related to these challenges from West and Central Africa
