Rivieres Du Quebec:

Annuaire du Québec Quebec Bureau of Statistics, 1925      Le province de Quebec André Beaulieu, W.F.E. Morley, Benôit Bernier, Agathe Garon, 1971-12-15 There is no doubt that local and regional history considered by many as a kind of minor historical study has a pressing need for a systematic inventory of its resources This collection shows the durability the vividness and the astonishing productivity of a sector of history which is the stronghold of the history lover rather than the professional historian The nature and content of each book determines its selection For each book included the compilers have weighed its contribution to local history and regional history rather than the style in which it is written narrative memoir descriptive study or novel It is this criterion of selection that has permitted the retention of several general histories of a varied nature Bouchette Charlevoix Nicholas Denys La Potherie Lescarbot Hanotau Sulte etc where local and regional life takes on a major importance for reasons of order in history method or quite simply because local life is the principal object of the study itself The editors have also retained certain works those of George W Brown Arthur Buies George M Grant Blodwen Davies etc because they are primarily descriptive and contain numerous elements in which local history blends with the manners and customs of the inhabitants of certain regions This bibliography is designed primarily for historiographers who have until now paid little attention to local regional or parochial history It will also be invaluable for librarians who suffer from the numerous difficulties involved in the classification of such works Since 1950 all works published in Canada are by virtue of the book deposit law provided to the National Library of Canada and recorded in Canadiana      Les recueils de jurisprudence du Québec, publiés par le Barreau de Québec Québec (Province). Superior Court, 1905      Nationalism and the Politics of Culture in Quebec Richard Handler, 1988 Richard Handler s pathbreaking study of nationalistic politics in Quebec is a striking and successful example of the new experimental type of ethnography interdisciplinary in nature and intensively concerned with rhetoric and not only of anthropologists but also of scholars in a wide range of fields and it is likely to stir sharp controversy Bringing together methodologies of history sociology political science and philosophy as well as anthropology Handler centers on the period 1976 1984 during which the independantiste Parti Qu b ois was in control of the provincial government and nationalistic sentiment was especially strong Handler draws on historical and archival research and on interviews with Quebec and Canadian government officials as he addresses the central question Given the similarities between the epistemologies of both anthropology and nationalist ideology how can one write an ethnography of nationalism that does not simply reproduce and thereby endorse nationalistic beliefs Handler analyzes various responses to the nationalist vision of a threatened existence He examines cultural tourism ideology of the Quebec government legislations concerning historical preservation language legislation and policies towards immigrants and cultural minorities He concludes with a thoughtful meditation on the futility of nationalisms

Hometown Horizons Robert Allen Rutherford,2004 In Hometown Horizons Robert Rutherford considers how people and communities on the Canadian home front perceived the Great War Drawing on newspaper archives and organizational documents he examines how farmers near Lethbridge Alberta shopkeepers in Guelph Ontario and civic workers in Trois Rivières Québec took part in local activities that connected their everyday lives to a tumultuous period in history Many important debates in social and cultural history are addressed including demonization of enemy aliens gendered fields of wartime philanthropy state authority and citizenship and commemoration and social memory The making of Canada s home front Rutherford argues was experienced fundamentally through local means City parades military send offs public school events women s war relief efforts and many other public exercises became the parochial lenses through which a distant war was viewed Like no other book before it this work argues that these experiences were the true realities of war and that the old maxim that truth is war s first victim needs to be understood even in the international and imperialistic Great War as a profoundly local phenomenon Hometown Horizons contributes to a growing body of work on the social and cultural histories of the First World War and challenges historians to consider the place of everyday modes of communication in forming collective understandings of world events This history of a war imagined will find an eager readership among social and military historians cultural studies scholars and anyone with an interest in wartime Canada
