Sheriff,2008-10-30 In eighteenth century France the ability to lose oneself in a character or scene marked both great artists and ideal spectators Yet it was thought this same passionate enthusiasm if taken to unreasonable extremes could also lead to sexual deviance mental illness even death Women and artists were seen as especially susceptible to these negative consequences of creative enthusiasm and women artists doubly so Mary D Sheriff uses these very different visions of enthusiasm to explore the complex interrelationships among creativity sexuality the body and the mind in eighteenth century France Drawing on evidence from the visual arts literature philosophy and medicine she portrays the deviance ascribed to both inspired men and women But while various mythologies worked to normalize deviance in male artists women had no justification for their deviance For instance the mythical sculptor Pygmalion was cured of an abnormal love for his statue through the making of art He became a model for creative artists living happily with his statue come to life No happy endings though were imagined for such inspired women writers as Sappho and Heloise who burned with erotomania their art could not quench Even so Sheriff demonstrates the perceived connections among sexuality creativity and disease also opened artistic opportunities for creative women took full advantage of them Brilliantly reassessing the links between sexuality and creativity artistic genius and madness passion and reason Moved by Love will profoundly reshape our view of eighteenth century French culture The Bronze Horseman Alexander M. Schenker,2003-01-01 This is a comprehensive treatment of the most consequential work of art ever to be executed in Russia the equestrian monument to Peter the Great Schenker deals with the cultural setting that prepared the ground for the monument and provides life stories of those who were involved in its creation Two Hundred Years of Pushkin: Alexander Pushkin : myth and monument Joe Andrew,Robert Reid,2003 Puskin s poetry prose and drama frequently draw upon myths of classical antiquity myths of modern European culture grand narratives such as the Don Juan legend and Dante s Inferno as well as uniquely Russian myths The contributors to this volume explore these myths from a variety of critical viewpoints and highlight the specific ways in which Pushkin uses myth among these his recurrent emphasis on the symbolism of monuments and statuary The Art of Ceramics Howard Coutts,2001-01-01 The great age of European ceramic design began around 1500 and ended in the early 19th century with the introduction of large scale production of ceramics In this illustrated history with nearly 300 color and black and white photos and reproductions curator Howard Coutts considers the main stylistic trends Renaissance Mannerism Oriental Rococo and Neoclassicism as they were represented in such products as Italian Majolica Dutch Delftware Meissen and Sevres porcelain Staffordshire and Wedgwood pottery He pays close attention to changes in eating habits over the period particularly the layout of a formal dinner and discusses the development of ceramics as room decoration the transmission of images via prints marketing of ceramics and other luxury goods and the intellectual background to Neoclassicism
