Chapman, 1882 Documents de Séance Council of Europe. Consultative Assembly, 1965 Confessions of a Medium CONFESIONS., 1882 War and Rights David L Rousseau, 2021-04-13 Warfare in Europe contributed to the development of the modern state In response to external conflict state leaders raised armies and defended borders The centralization of power the development of bureaucracies and the integration of economies all maximized revenue to support war But how does a persistent external threat affect the development of a strong state The Garrison State hypothesis argues that states that face a severe security threat will become autocracies Conversely the Extraction School argues that warfare indirectly promotes the development of democratic institutions Execution of large scale war requires the mobilization of resources and usually reluctant populations In most cases leaders must extend economic or political rights in exchange for resolving the crisis Large scale warfare thus expands political participation in the long run The authors use empirical statistical modeling to show that war decreases rights in the short term but the longer and bigger a war gets the rights of the citizenry expand with the conflict The authors test this argument through historical case studies Imperial Russia Austro Hungarian Dual Monarchy African Americans in World War I and II and the Tirailleurs Senegalese in World War I through the use of large N statistical studies Europe 1900 50 and Global 1893 2011 and survey data The results identify when where and how war can lead to the expansion of political rights

The Haunting of Alma Fielding Kate Summerscale, 2021-04-27 Named a Best Book of the Year by NPR The Sunday Times The New Statesman The Times The Spectator The Telegraph Shortlisted for the 2020 Baillie Gifford Prize A New York Times Book Review Editors Choice A New York Times Book Review Paperback Row Selection Prepare not to see much broad daylight literal or metaphorical for days if you read this The atmosphere evoked is something I will never forget The Times London London 1938 In the suburbs of the city a young housewife has become the eye in a storm of chaos In Alma Fielding's modest home china flies off the shelves and eggs fly through the air stolen jewelry appears on her fingers white mice crawl out of her handbag beetles appear from under her gloves in the middle of a car journey a turtle materializes on her lap The culprit is incorporeal As Alma cannot call the police she calls the papers instead After the sensational story headlines the news Nandor Fodor a Hungarian ghost hunter for the International Institute for Psychical Research arrives to investigate the poltergeist But when he embarks on his scrupulous investigation he discovers that the case is even stranger than it seems By unravelling Alma's peculiar history Fodor finds a different and darker type of haunting a tale of trauma alienation loss and revenge He comes to believe that Alma's past has bled into her present her mind into her body There are no words for processing her experience so it comes to possess her As the threat of a world war looms and as Fodor's obsession with the case deepens Alma becomes ever more disturbed With characteristic rigor and insight Kate Summerscale brilliantly captures the rich atmosphere of a haunting that transforms into a very modern battle between the supernatural
