DEL CAMPO A LA CIUDAD EN COLOMBIA. LA INFILTRACIÓN URBANA DE LOS SEÑORES DE LA GUERRA.*

GUSTAVO DUNCAN

Resumen

Para sorpresa de la opinión en Colombia, la mafia en el sentido de la definición tradicional de 'empresarios de la protección', asociada a la imagen de los mafiosos sicilianos, rusos o los japoneses de la yakuza, es un fenómeno muy reciente en la historia de las ciudades del país. Más de una década posterior al apogeo de Pablo Escobar y el Cartel de Medellín. Su principal objetivo es el logro del monopolio de la coerción y la protección de una serie de actividades susceptibles al control del crimen organizado como los mercados de abastos, la extorsión, el narcotráfico, y como logro de un nivel superior, la apropiación del poder político en las ciudades. El siguiente documento es una descripción de lo que ha sido el proceso evolutivo de la mafia en Colombia, de carteles de narcotraficantes a redes de crimen organizado que basan su mayor o menor grado de poder en la capacidad de regular violentamente una serie de transacciones de alto valor estratégico en las ciudades. La tesis central del documento es que la irrupción masiva de redes mafiosas en las ciudades sólo ha sido posible por el apoyo logístico, militar y financiero recibido por los jefes de las autodefensas desde el campo.

Las consecuencias de la infiltración urbana de la mafia rebasan el tema de la crisis de seguridad y se enmarcan en transformaciones estructurales del Estado. Tras los intereses de una nueva élite de señores de la guerra está la tensión entre fuerzas urbanas que pretenden construir una sociedad regida por principios democráticos con un capitalismo moderno versus fuerzas rurales que quieren dispersar el poder del Estado para construir gobiernos regionales basados en la inmunidad de empresas criminales. En el nuevo contexto de la disputa por la configuración del Estado, la connotación de lo del campo deja de estar vinculada a la imagen tradicional de economías y sociedades campesinas. Ahora se trata de las áreas de influencia de municipios e incluso ciudades intermedias que de la mano de su historia rural han experimentado procesos de urbanización y terciarización de la economía, en gran parte gracias a los excedentes del narcotráfico.

Clasificación JEL: D74, H77, K14, N46.

Thy1/CD90 Surface Glycoprotein: Sensor of the Microenvironment? Emanuela Felley-Bosco, Lisette Leyton, 2019-11-01 Thy1 CD90 is a small and heavily N glycosylated protein that was first identified on the cell surface of murine thymocytes Today it is known to be expressed in several other cell types including human fetal thymocytes hematopoietic stem cells some subsets of fibroblasts liver stem progenitor neurons glioblastoma mesothelium precursors and mesothelioma cells In some tissues Thy 1 CD90 plays a role in different processes such as cell adhesion interaction with extracellular matrix migration However despite the available insights to the function of the molecule we still require a better understanding of the processes that drive Thy1 CD90 expression and the consequences of its presence in cells as well as to what extent these functions are conserved between species The latter is especially relevant when thinking about possible translational studies In this Research Topic various aspects covering available and missing knowledge related to the molecular mechanisms controlling Thy1 CD90 expression and its role in physiological and pathological conditions are discussed
