Ravished by Beauty Belden C. Lane,2011-04-21 In this novel exploration of Reformed spirituality Belden C Lane uncovers a green theology that celebrates a community of jubilant creatures of all languages and species Lane reveals an ecologically sensitive Calvin who spoke of himself as ravished by the earth s beauty He speaks of Puritans who fostered a lusty spirituality in which Christ figured as a lover who encouraged meditation on the wonders of creation He presents a Jonathan Edwards who urged a sensuous enjoyment of God s beauty as the only real way of knowing God Lane argues for the double irony of Reformed spirituality showing that Calvinists who often seem prudish and proper are in fact a people of passionate desire Similarly Reformed Christians who appear totally focused on divine transcendence turn out at times to be closet nature mystics exulting in God s glory everywhere Lane also demonstrates however that a spirituality of desire can be derailed ending in sexual excess and pantheism Ecologically holy longing can be redirected from a contemplation of God s splendor in the earth s beauty to a craving for land itself resulting in disastrous misuse of its resources Between the major chapters of the book are engaging personal essays drawn from the author s own love of nature as a Reformed Christian and providing a thoughtful discussion of contemporary issues of species diversity and the honoring of an earth community Clearing the Coastline Matthew McKenzie,2011-01-11 A social and ecological history of the rise and demise of Cape Cod s coastal fisheries in the nineteenth century Shaped by the West Wind Claire Elizabeth Campbell,2005 Claire Campbell draws from recent work in cultural history landscape studies in geography and art history and environmental history to explore what happens when external agendas confront local realities a story central to the Canadian experience Explorers fishers artists and park planners all were forced to respond to the unique contours of this inland sea their encounters defined a regional identity even as they constructed a popular image for the Bay in the national imagination Jacket

The Multiple Worlds of Pynchon's Mason & Dixon Elizabeth Jane Wall Hinds, 2009 New essays examining the interface between 18th and 20th century culture both in Pynchon's novel and in the historical past Thomas Pynchon's 1997 novel Mason Dixon went further using the same style wit and erudition to re-create an 18th century when America was being formed as both place and idea Pynchon's focus on the creation of the Mason Dixon Line and the governmental and scientific entities responsible for it makes a clearer statement than any of his previous novels about the slavery and imperialism at the heart of the Enlightenment as he levels a dark and hilarious critique at this America This volume of new essays studies the interface between 18th and 20th century culture both in Pynchon's novel and in the historical past It offers fresh thinking about Pynchon's work as the contributors take up the linkages between the 18th and 20th centuries in studies that are as concerned with culture as with the literary text itself Contributors Mitchum Huehls Brian Thill Colin Clarke Pedro Garcia Caro Dennis Lensing Justin M Scott Coe Ian Copestake Frank Palmeri Elizabeth Jane Wall Hinds is Professor and Chair of the English Department at SUNY Brockport

The Atlantic World D'Maris Coffman, Adrian Leonard, William O'Reilly, 2014-12-05 As the meeting point between Europe colonial America and Africa the history of the Atlantic world is a constantly shifting arena but one which has been a focus of huge and vibrant debate for many years In over thirty chapters all written by experts in the field The Atlantic World takes up these debates and gathers together key original scholarship to provide an authoritative survey of this increasingly popular area of world history The book takes a thematic approach to topics including exploration migration and cultural encounters In the first chapters scholars examine the interactions between groups which converged in the Atlantic world such as slaves European migrants and Native Americans The volume then considers questions such as finance money and commerce in the Atlantic world as well as warfare government and religion The collection closes with chapters examining how ideas circulated across and around the Atlantic and beyond It presents the Atlantic as a shared space in which commodities and ideas were exchanged and traded and examines the impact that these exchanges had on both people and places Including an introductory essay from the editors which defines the field and lavishly illustrated with paintings drawings and maps this accessible volume is invaluable reading for all students and scholars of this broad sweep of world history

Coming Over David Cressy, 1987-10-30 Coming Over discusses the English migration to New England in the seventeenth century and shows the importance of English connections in the lives of American colonists David Cressy reviews the information available to prospective migrants the decisions they had to reach and the actions necessary before they could settle in America English men and women moved to New England with a variety of motives and in a multitude of circumstances Puritanism involving religious harassment in England and the desire to follow God's ordinances in America was only one of many factors impelling people to move Rather than developing in wilderness isolation the society and culture of seventeenth century New England were constantly shaped by their English roots A two way flow of correspondence messages and information linked colonists to their homeland Family duties political sympathies friendships business and legal obligations all led to a continuing attachment across the Atlantic In treating early America from a British perspective as a part of English history Professor Cressy provides us with many insights into the seventeenth century The Power of Objects in Eighteenth-Century British America Jennifer Van Horn,2017-02-23 Over the course of the eighteenth century Anglo Americans purchased an unprecedented number and array of goods The Power of Objects in Eighteenth Century British America investigates these diverse artifacts from portraits and city views to gravestones dressing furniture and prosthetic devices to explore how elite American consumers assembled objects to form a new civil society on the margins of the British Empire In this interdisciplinary transatlantic study artifacts emerge as key players in the formation of Anglo American communities and eventually of American citizenship Deftly interweaving analysis of images with furniture architecture clothing and literary works Van Horn reconstructs the networks of goods that bound together consumers in Boston New York Philadelphia and Charleston Moving beyond emulation and the desire for social status as the primary motivators for consumption Van Horn shows that Anglo Americans material choices were intimately bound up with their efforts to distance themselves from Native Americans and African Americans She also traces women s contested place in forging provincial culture As encountered through a woman s application of makeup at her dressing table or an amputee s donning of a wooden leg after the Revolutionary War material artifacts were far from passive markers of rank or political identification They made Anglo American society Britain and the Sea Glen O'Hara,2010-06-30 O Hara presents the first general history of Britons relationship with the surrounding oceans from 1600 to the present day This all encompassing account covers individual seafarers ship borne migration warfare and the maritime economy as well as the British people s maritime ideas and self perception throughout the centuries Alien Ocean Stefan Helmreich,2023-09-01 Alien Ocean immerses readers in worlds being newly explored by marine biologists worlds usually out of sight and reach the deep sea the microscopic realm and oceans beyond national boundaries Working alongside scientists at sea and in labs in Monterey Bay Hawai i the Woods Hole Oceanographic Institution and the Sargasso Sea and at undersea volcanoes in the eastern Pacific Stefan Helmreich charts how revolutions in genomics bioinformatics and remote sensing have pressed marine biologists to see the sea as animated by its smallest inhabitants marine microbes Thriving in astonishingly extreme conditions such microbes have become key figures in scientific and public debates about the origin of life climate change biotechnology and even the possibility of life on other worlds Alien Ocean immerses readers in worlds being newly explored by marine biologists worlds usually out of sight and reach the deep sea the microscopic realm and oceans beyond national boundaries Working alongside scientists at sea and in labs in Early American Literature and Culture Kathryn Zabelle Derounian-Stodola,1992 Early American Literature and Culture Essays Honoring Harrison T Meserole a timely collection that reflects changing conceptions of the field contains studies by leading scholars and celebrates the achievements of Harrison T Meserole
