

The background of the cover is a detailed, painterly illustration of a woodworker's bench. In the center, a large, flat wooden board is being worked on, featuring a partially completed inlay design of a bird, possibly a quail, with yellow and green details. To the left, a large hand plane with a wooden handle and a metal soleplate is positioned diagonally. Various other tools, including chisels and a small block of wood, are scattered around the work area. The scene is lit with warm, dramatic light, creating strong highlights and shadows that emphasize the textures of the wood and the precision of the craft.
