The Marriage Hearse Larry Duberstein,1983 The Marriage Hearse Larry Duberstein,1988-05-01 Maurice Locksley tries to be fair to his wife ex wife and lover but the complexity of the task forces him to reexamine his life

Disorienting Fiction James Buzard,2009-01-10 This book gives an ambitious revisionist account of the nineteenth century British novel and its role in the complex historical process that ultimately gave rise to modern anthropology's concept of culture and its accredited researcher the Participant Observer Buzard reads the great nineteenth century novels of Charles Dickens Charlotte Bront George Eliot and others as metropolitan autoethnographies that began to exercise and test the ethnographic imagination decades in advance of formal modern ethnography and that did so while focusing on Western European rather than on distant Oriental subjects Disorienting Fiction shows how English Victorian novels appropriated and anglicized an autoethnographic mode of fiction developed early in the nineteenth century by the Irish authors of the National Tale and most influentially by Walter Scott Buzard demonstrates that whereas the fiction of these non English British subjects devoted itself to describing and defending but also inventing the cultural autonomy of peripheral regions the English novels that followed them worked to imagine limited and mappable versions of English or British culture in reaction against the potential evacuation of cultural distinctiveness threatened by Britain's own commercial and imperial expansion These latter novels attempted to forestall the self incurred liabilities of a nation whose unprecedented reach and power tempted it to universalize and export its own customs to treat them as simply equivalent to a globally applicable civilization For many Victorian novelists a nation facing the prospect of being able to go and to exercise its influence just about anywhere in the world also faced the danger of turning itself into a cultural nowhere The complex autoethnographic work of nineteenth century British novels was thus a labor to disorient or de globalize British national imaginings and novelists mobilized and freighted with new significance some basic elements of prose narrative in their efforts to write British culture into being Sure to provoke debate this book offers a commanding reassessment of a major moment in the history of British literature Literature Suppressed on Sexual Grounds Dawn B. Sova,2006 Literature Suppressed on Social Grounds Revised Edition discusses writings that have been banned over the centuries because they offended or merely ignored official truths challenged widely held assumptions or contained ideas or language unacceptable to a state religious institution or private moral watchdog The entries new to this edition include the Captain Underpants series We All Fall Down by Robert Cormier and Jake and Honeybunch Go to Heaven by Margaret Zemach Also included are updates to the censorship histories of such books as To Kill a Mockingbird and Of Mice and Men The Contemporary Novel and the City S. Khanna,2015-12-04 This book examines the deeply divided terrain of the twentieth century city and its formative impact on narrative fiction It focuses on two major world authors at the two ends of the twentieth century who write systematically about the colonial and postcolonial cities they were born in James Joyce and Dublin and Salman Rushdie and Bombay
