Mars The Living Planet:

Mars Barry E. DiGregorio, Gilbert V. Levin, Patricia Ann Straat, 1997 Mars Barry DiGregorio, Gilbert V. Levin, Patricia Ann Straat, 1997 Claims of Martian life continue to spur scientific debate this partisan account summarizes the arguments to date When several experiments conducted by the 1976 Viking Mars Landers returned positive results regarding signs of life NASA scientists dismissed them as false positives According to DiGregorio this was based on nothing more than a refusal to accept the possibility of life beyond Earth To bolster this argument he surveys the history of the idea that life might exist on other planets invoking such names as Giordano Bruno and Galileo As our understanding of both biology and astronomy grew the notion that life is not unique to Earth took hold in the minds of many scientists The recent rise of the new science of exobiology opened doors to an understanding of how life might have arisen on any planet with the right conditions Dr Levin and Dr Straat who designed and built one of the Viking experiments contribute two chapters summarizing the current status of this fascinating debate The author's detailed research as well as extensive interviews with Dr Levin and others highlights the intriguing evidence pointing to life on the Red Planet Earth, Our Living Planet Philippe Bertrand, Louis

Legendre, 2021-04-21 Earth is to our knowledge the only life bearing body in the Solar System This extraordinary characteristic dates back almost 4 billion years How to explain that Earth is teeming with organisms and that this has lasted for so long What makes Earth different from its sister planets Mars and Venus The habitability of a planet is its capacity to allow the emergence of organisms What astronomical and geological conditions concurred to make Earth habitable 4 billion years ago and how has it remained habitable since What have been the respective roles of non biological and biological characteristics in maintaining the habitability of Earth This unique book answers the above questions by considering the roles of organisms and ecosystems in the Earth System which is made of the non living and living components of the planet Organisms have progressively occupied all the habitats of the planet diversifying into countless life forms and developing enormous biomasses over the past 3.6 billion years In this way organisms and ecosystems took over the Earth System and thus became major agents in its regulation and global evolution There was co evolution of the different components of the Earth System leading to a number of feedback mechanisms that regulated long term Earth conditions For millennia and especially since the Industrial Revolution nearly 300 years ago humans have gradually transformed the Earth System Technological developments combined with the large increase in human population have led in recent decades to major changes in the Earth's climate soils biodiversity and quality of air and water After some successes in the 20th century at preventing internationally environmental disasters human societies are now facing major challenges arising from climate change Some of these challenges are short term and others concern the thousand year evolution of the Earth's climate Humans should become the stewards of Earth The Origins of Living Planets Alexander J. Endress, 2019-12-05 I try to convince my reader that Earth is so special and unique that it's worth saving I do this by starting out with space travel distance to other planets the very low likelihood of aliens visiting us The book comes in two sections first section is about the unlikelihood and difficulties of space travel the second section is about environmental damage and species endangerment We can't just pick up and move to another planet

The Existence Theodore Ihejieta, 2018-12-21 The Existence By Theodore Ihejieta The Existence is a book of love and life that talks about the world as the existence of human beings and tells human beings to understand that the world is the love and the life It is a book of Planet Earth which the Planet Earth gave to the author because the author asked the Planet Earth for the book of the world The author is a human being who lost faith in God and called on Planet Earth to do work and save human beings from evil and death in the world This is a book of a human being who was challenged by evil and death in the world and the human being called on his existence for help and protection The author did not like to die in the world and told his existence that he did not want to die because the author believed that Planet Earth has the power to save human beings in the world The Existence is the faith the hope and the charity that God challenged human beings to find and tell the mountain of evil and death to move away from human beings
