Chinese Marxist Historiography and the Question of the Asiatic Mode of Production Lijian Hong, 1991 Marx, Marxism and the Question of Eurocentrism Kolja Lindner, 2022-04-13 This book mediates between postcolonial positions that criticize Marxist approaches and Marx's writings for their Eurocentrism and defenders of Marx who claim that this accusation is a myth. In different contributions to this volume, Kolja Lindner pleads for a differentiated assessment of the whole of Marx's work, including less known manuscripts and a theoretical reconstruction of various elements that have come into the focus of postcolonial critique: ethnocentrism, Orientalism, false universalism and the oblivion of modernity's global entanglement. Against this background, two opportunities simultaneously arise: Marx's Eurocentrism can be deconstructed and his growing awareness of global developments and cosmopolitan struggles established.

Marxism and the Crisis of Development in Prewar Japan Germaine A. Hoston, 2014-07-14. This study is a comprehensive analysis of the Marxist debate in Japan over how capitalism developed in that country. Originally published in 1987, The Princeton Legacy Library uses the latest print-on-demand technology to again make available previously out-of-print books from the distinguished backlist of Princeton University Press. These editions preserve the original texts of these important books while presenting them in durable paperback and hardcover editions. The goal of the Princeton Legacy Library is to vastly increase access to the rich scholarly heritage found in the thousands of books published by Princeton University Press since its founding in 1905.

The State, Identity, and the National Question in China and Japan Germaine A. Hoston, 2021-02-09. The first decades of the twentieth century witnessed an explosion of nationalist sentiment in East Asia, as in Europe. This comprehensive work explores how radical Chinese and Japanese thinkers committed to social change in this turbulent era addressed issues concerning national identity, social revolution, and the role of the national state in achieving socio-economic development. Focusing on the adaptation of anarchism and then Marxism-Leninism to non-European contexts, Germaine Hoston shows how Chinese and Japanese theorists attempted to reconcile a relatively new appreciation for the nation-state with their allegiance to a vision of internationalist socialist revolution culminating in stateless socialism. Given the influence of Western experience on Marxism, Chinese and Japanese theorists found the Marxian national question to be not merely one of whether the working man has no country but rather the much more fundamental issue of the relative value of Eastern and Western cultures. Marxism argues Hoston thus placed native Marxists in tension with their own heritage and national identity. The author traces efforts to resolve this tension throughout the first half of the twentieth century and concludes by examining how the tension persists as Chinese and Japanese dissidents seek identity affirming modernity in accordance with the Western democratic model.

Marxism and Social Movements, 2013-06-20. Marxism and Social Movements is the first sustained engagement between social movement theory and Marxist approaches to collective action. The chapters collected here by leading figures in both fields discuss the potential for a Marxist theory of social movements, explore the developmental processes and political tensions within movements, set the question in a long historical perspective, and analyse contemporary movements against neo-liberalism and austerity. Exploring struggles on six continents over 150 years, this collection shows the power of Marxist analysis in relation not only to class politics, labour movements and revolutions but also anti colonial and anti racist struggles community activism and environmental justice indigenous struggles and anti austerity protest It sets a new agenda both for Marxist theory and for movement research Contributors include Paul Blackledge Marc Blecher Patrick Bond Chik Collins Ralph Darlington Neil Davidson Ashwin Desai Jeff Goodwin Chris Hesketh Gabriel Hetland Elizabeth Humphrys Christian H gsbjerg David McNally Trevor Ngwane Heike Schaumberg and Hira Singh
