Nationality And Planning In Scotland And Wales:

Nationality and Planning in Scotland and Wales Roderick Macdonald, Huw Thomas, 1997 This study looks at the ways in which the planning problems and approaches of Scotland and Wales are sometimes similar to and sometimes very different from each other and evaluates some central elements of planning and economic development urban and rural in the two countries

Devolution, Regionalism and Regional Development Jonathan Bradbury, 2007-12-18 Devolution Regionalism and Regional Development provides an overview and critical perspective on the impact of devolution on regionalism in the UK since 1999 taking a research based look at issues central to the development of regionalism politics governance and planning This multidisciplinary book is written by academics from the fields of geography economics town planning public policy management public administration politics and sociology with a final chapter by Patrick Le Gales putting the research findings into a theoretical context This will be an important book for those researching and studying economic and political geography and planning as well as those involved in regional development

Metropolitan Planning in Britain Peter Roberts, Kevin Thomas, Gwyndaf Williams, 2014-02-04 Metropolitan Planning in Britain is the first comparative analysis and assessment of metropolitan areas and their strategic planning for almost two decades Changes in population distribution styles of local government business practices and attitudes to the environment have all had an impact on cities in recent years which planners and other policy makers must take into consideration Based on a series of research projects and the activities of a study group supported by the Regional Studies Association the book examines in detail nine major urban areas their specific characters and requirements and how metropolitan planning is adapting to fulfil those requirements It also discusses the possible future evolution of metropolitan planning especially in the light of new regional arrangements and devolution

Territory, Identity and Spatial Planning Mark Tewdwr-Jones, Philip Allmendinger, 2006-09-27 This book provides a multi disciplinary study of territory identity and space in a devolved UK through the lens of spatial planning It draws together leading internationally renowned researchers from a variety of disciplines to address the implications of devolution upon spatial planning and the rescaling of UK politics Each contributor offers a different perspective on the core issues in planning today in the context of New Labour's regional project particularly the government's concern with business competitiveness and key themes are illustrated with important case studies throughout

The European Dimension of British Planning Mark Tewdwr-Jones, Richard H. Williams, 2005-07-08 The UK government of Tony Blair is committed to fostering a European dimension of planning practice Significant developments in relation to planning within Europe are occurring The creation of the European Spatial Development Perspective the reform of the Structural Funds and the implementation of programmes to foster trans national co operation between governments will all impact on UK government and on planning system in particular Even within the UK devolution and regionalisation will bring new pressures for overall co ordination on the issue of European spatial planning Issues concerning the revisions of the Structural Funds in 2000 and 2006 and funding opportunities for local authorities are closely connected with the theme of this book. More importantly, it is expected that the link between funding and spatial policy within British planning will become more clearly defined during this period. The European dimension of British planning as a consequence may grow significantly over the next few years. The authors tackle four key issues in their discussion of this topic: British political attitudes to Europeanisation issues; The changing relationships between different arms of the state; The often complex interdependencies between tiers of governance; The rapidly changing definition of British urban and regional planning.

Regional Development and Spatial Planning in an Enlarged European Union Neil Adams, 2016-04-01

The expansion of the European Union in 2004 has had significant consequences for both existing and new members of the Union. New member states are assimilating into a new institutional and policy framework while the changing geography of Europe provides a different context for policy development in pre-2004 member states. One of the more important fields in which these changes are impacting is regional development. The admission of the new countries changes patterns of economic and social disparities across the territory of the European Union which in turn demands that existing approaches to regional development are reconsidered. An approach which has proved to be one of the most innovative is spatial planning. This book brings together a team of academics and policy makers from across the new Europe involved in regional development and spatial planning. Providing insights into different approaches, it offers a valuable opportunity to compare experiences across European borders.

Urban Planning and the British New Right Philip Allmendinger, Huw Thomas, 2002-01-22. Did the 1980s and 1990s see the death of planning? Exposing the myth that has grown up around Thatcherism, leading experts from a wide range of land use policy areas examine the changes that were brought about in planning and the environment during the 1980s and 1990s and argue that much less was achieved than expected. Urban Planning and the British New Right questions common assumptions about planning practices under Thatcherism, concluding that the complex relationship of power between central, local and national government requires a sensitivity to change that is inclusive rather than doctrinal. This is a book that says as much about the administration, institutions and processes of planning as it does about Mrs Thatcher's attempts to change it.

Designing Sustainable Cities in the Developing World Georgia Butina Watson, 2016-04-22. Can conservation of the built heritage be reconciled with the speed of urban change in cities of the developing world? What are the tools of sustainable design and how can communities participate in the design of the environments in which they live and work? These are some of the questions explored within this innovative and richly illustrated book. A wealth of examples drawn from Mexico, Brazil, Indonesia, Egypt, Saudi Arabia, India and Myanmar demonstrate how rapid physical and social change has swept away historic urban quarters and the cultural heritage they represent. Written in an accessible style, the rich mix of concepts, research methods, analysis and practice-based tools is designed for academics and professionals alike. Leading academics Zetter and Watson have produced a fascinating book that is amongst the first to explore the concept of urban sustainability within the context of urban design in the developing world Rural Second Homes in Europe Nick Gallent, Mark Tewdwr-Jones, 2020-07-26 This title was first published in 2000 Improved communication links between urban and rural areas and an increase in property prices in urban regions have made commuting an attractive option for European town and city dwellers eager to escape urban living This has led to a proliferation of second homes in certain remote or deep rural areas and this trend is compounding problems that are already affecting the indigenous populations in these areas such as socio economic decline agricultural depression a lack of services and unaffordable house prices Consequently many politicians in European Member States are calling for the introduction of housing and planning laws to control the proliferation of second home ownership This book addresses the origins of second home growth the nature of ownership and demand the economic costs and benefits and the environmental and social impacts of second homes It also considers policy and practical responses at European UK and local levels The book will be invaluable reading for students and policy analysts in the fields of rural geography planning politics housing studies and cultural studies Second Homes Nick Gallent, Alan Mace, Mark Tewdwr-Jones, 2017-03-02 Second homes are once again a source of political and social contention in rural areas The British government's decision to reduce Council Tax discounts on second homes in England in April 2004 has caused wide debate in local communities local authorities and the media The debate has not only focused on the vexed Council Tax issue but on wider rural housing concerns Questions have been raised as to whether second homes are a major cause of housing affordability problems in rural areas and whether they lead to the displacement of local people in rural communities In the face of anecdotal evidence being presented to answer these questions Second Homes European Perspectives and UK Policies offers a more comprehensive analysis of the second homes question as it now exists This up to date and authoritative analysis of second homes draws on the latest research and offers a critical insight into current housing problems in rural communities Those interested in rural and housing studies will find the book valuable Edinburgh - The Making of a Capital City Brian Edwards, 2019-07-29 Introduction Brian Edwards and Paul Jenkins The evolution of the medieval and Renaissance city Ian Campbell and Margaret Stewart Twinning cities modernisation versus improvement in the two towns of Edinburgh Charles McKean Landscape topography and hydrology John Stuart Murray Landscapes of capital industry and the built environment in Edinburgh 1750 1920 Richard Rodger Edinburgh a tenement city Peter Robinson Conservative surgery in Old Edinburgh 1880 1940 Lou Rosenburg and Jim Johnson Housing and suburbanisation in the early and mid 20th century Miles Glendinning The changing role of the planner before and after the Second World War and the effect on urban form Cliff Hague Creation and conservation of the built environment in the later 20th century Paul Jenkins and Julian Holder Preparing for the 21st century the city in a global environment Derek Kerr The changing image and identity of the city in the 21st century Athens of the North or North of Athens Cliff Hague and Paul Jenkins Conclusion Learning from history Brian Edwards and Paul Jenkins Language, Identity and Conflict Diarmait Mac Giolla Chríost, 2004-03 This book comprises a

Cullingworth, Vincent Nadin, 2002 Town and Country Planning in the UK has become the bible of British planning It provides an explanation of the nature of planning the institutions and organisations involved the plans and other tools used by planners planning policies and more Language, Power and Identity Politics Máiréad Nic Craith, 2007-10-23 Dominance identity and resistance are key themes in this examination of language in global virtual and local settings It focuses on world languages linguistic rights and minority protection Case studies explore the social strategies employed by migrants speaking non indigenous tongues and the effect of religion in sensitive political contexts Town and Country Planning in the UK Barry Cullingworth, Vincent Nadin, 2003-09-02 Town and Country Planning in the UK has become the Bible of British planning In this new edition detailed consideration is given to the nature of planning and its historical evolution central and local government the EU and other agencies the framework of plans and other instruments development control land policy and planning gain environmental and countryside planning sustainable development waste and pollution heritage and transport planning urban policies and regeneration This twelfth edition has been completely revised and expanded to cover the whole of the UK The new edition explains more fully the planning policies and actions of the European Union and takes into account the implications of local government reorganization the plan led system and the growing interest in promoting sustainable development

Multiculturalism and the Foundations of Meaningful Life Andrew M. Robinson, 2011-01-01 Theories of liberal multiculturalism seek to reconcile cultural rights with universal liberal principles Some focus on individual autonomy others emphasize communal identity Andrew Robinson argues that liberal multiculturalism can be justified without privileging either By appealing to the deeper value of meaningful life he shows how autonomy and community are actually interdependent He concludes by illustrating with reference to national and ethnic minorities indigenous peoples and traditional communities the policy principles that can be derived from this position An innovative account of the theory and practice of liberal multiculturalism Multiculturalism and the Foundations of Meaningful Life will interest students scholars activists and policy makers working in areas of political theory multiculturalism indigenous peoples and ethnic and religious minorities Philosophy and Geography III Andrew Light, Jonathan M. Smith, 1998 Places are today subject to contrary tendencies They lose some functions which may scale up to fewer more centralized places or down to numerous more dispersed places and they gain other functions which are scaling up and down from other places This prompts premature prophecies of the abolition of space and the obsolescence of place At the same time a growing literature testifies to the persistence of place as an incorrigible aspect of human experience identity and morality Place is a common ground for thought and action a community of experienced particulars that avoids solipsism and universalism It draws us into the philosophy of the ordinary into familiarity as a form of knowledge into the wisdom of proximity Each of these essays offers a philosophy of place and reminds us that such philosophies ultimately decide how we make use and understand places whether as accidents instruments or fields of care

The Planning Polity Mark Tewdwr-Jones, 2005-06-27 Planning is not a technical and value free activity Planning is an overt political system that creates both winners and losers The Planning Polity is a book that considers the politics of development and decision making and political conflicts between agencies and institutions within British town and country planning The focus of assessment is how British planning has been formulated since the early 1990s and provides an in depth and revealing assessment of both the Major and Blair governments terms of office The book will prove to be an invaluable guide to the British planning system today and the political demands on it Students and activists within urban and regional studies planning political science and government environmental studies urban and rural geography development surveying and planning will all find the book to be an essential companion to their work

Language, Policy and Territory Wilson McLeod, Rob Dunbar, Kathryn Jones, John Walsh, 2022-07-07 This volume celebrates the contribution of Professor Colin Williams an immensely important and influential scholar in the field of language policy for more than forty years Eighteen chapters by former students colleagues and collaborators address a range of topics involving different aspects of language legislation and language rights governance economics territoriality land use planning and onomastics Six chapters address policy issues in Professor Williams s native Wales while others focus on Canada Catalonia Ireland and Scotland The volume concludes with an Afterword by Professor Williams himself The book will be suitable for postgraduates and researchers not only in the field of language policy and planning but also sociolinguistics geography law and political science

Planning and Urban Change Stephen Victor Ward, 2004-03-08 Fully revised and thoroughly updated the Second Edition of Planning and Urban Change provides an accessible yet richly detailed account of British urban planning Stephen Ward demonstrates how urban planning can be understood through three categories ideas urban planning history as the development of theoretical approaches from radical and utopian beginnings to the new right thinking of the 1980s and recent interest in green thought and sustainability policies urban planning history as an intensely political process the text explains the complicated relation between planning theory and political practice and impacts urban planning history as the divergence of expectation and outcome each chapter shows how intended impacts have been modified by economic and social forces This Second Edition features an entirely new chapter on the key policy changes that have occurred under the Major and Blair governments together with a critical review of current policy trends
