Power Postcolonialism And International Relations Reading Race Gender And Class:

Power, Postcolonialism and International Relations Chowdhry Geeta, Sheila Nair, 2003-09-02 Chowdhry and Nair along with the authors of this volume make a timely vital and deeply necessary intervention in international relations one that informs theoretically enriches our knowledge of the world through its narratives and forces us to confront the differentiated wholeness of our humanity Readers will want to emulate the skills and sensibilities they offer Naeem Inayatullah Ithaca College This work uses postcolonial theory to examine the implications of race class and gender relations for the structuring of world politics It addresses further themes central to postcolonial theory such as the impact of representation on power relations the relationship between global capital and power and the space for resistance and agency in the context of global power asymmetries

Decolonizing International Relations Branwen Gruffydd Jones, 2006-09-20 The discipline of International Relations IR is concerned with the powerful states and actors in the global political economy and dominated by North American and European scholars This book exposes the ways in which IR has consistently ignored questions of colonialism imperialism race slavery and dispossession in the non European world

Race, Gender, and Culture in International Relations Randolph B. Persaud, Alina Sajed, 2018-03-05 International relations theory has broadened out considerably since the end of the Cold War Topics and issues once deemed irrelevant to the discipline have been systematically drawn into the debate and great strides have been made in the areas of culture identity race and gender in the discipline However despite these major developments over the last two decades currently there are no comprehensive textbooks that deal with race gender and culture in IR from a postcolonial perspective This textbook fills this important gap Persaud and Sajed have drawn together an outstanding lineup of scholars with each chapter illustrating the ways these specific lenses race gender culture condition or alter our assumptions about world politics This book covers a wide range of topics including war global inequality postcolonialism nation nationalism indigeneity sexuality celebrity humanitarianism and religion follows a clear structure with each chapter situating the topic within IR reviewing the main approaches and debates surrounding the topic and illustrating the subject matter through case studies features pedagogical tools and resources in every chapter boxes to highlight major points illustrative narratives and a list of suggested readings Drawing together prominent scholars in critical International Relations this work shows why and how race gender and culture matter and will be essential reading for all students of global politics and International Relations theory

Men, Militarism, and UN Peacekeeping Sandra Whitworth, 2004 In this important controversial and at times troubling book Sandra Whitworth looks behind the rhetoric to investigate from a feminist perspective some of the realities of military intervention under the UN flag Whitworth contends that there is a fundamental contradiction between portrayals of peacekeeping as altruistic and benign and the militarized masculinity that underpins the group identity of soldiers Examining evidence from Cambodia and Somalia she argues that sexual and other crimes can be seen as expressions of a violent hypermasculinity that is congruent with militarized identities but entirely incongruent with missions aimed at maintaining peace She also asserts that recent efforts within the UN to address gender issues in peacekeeping operations have failed because they fail to challenge traditional understandings of military conflict and women This unsettling critique of UN operations which also investigates the interplay between gender and racial stereotyping in peacekeeping has the power to change conventional perceptions with considerable policy implications Transnational Feminist Politics, Education, and Social Justice Silvia Edling, Sheila Macrine, 2021-11-18 Written by an international group of feminist scholars and activists the book explores how the rise in right wing politics fundamentalist religion and radical nationalism is constructed and results in gendered and racial violence The chapters cover a broad range of international contexts and offer new ways of combating assaults and oppression to understand the dangers inherent within the current global political and social climate The book includes a foreword by the distinguished critical activist Antonia Darder as well as a chapter by renowned feminist scholar Chandra Talpade Mohanty

The Changing Global Order Madeleine O. Hosli, Joren Selleslaghs, 2019-11-22 This volume offers a comprehensive evaluation of the concept of global order with a particular emphasis on the role of regional organisations within global governance institutions such as the United Nations Building from a solid theoretical base it draws upon the expertise of numerous leading international scholars offering a broad array of timely and relevant case studies These all take into consideration the historical setting before analysing the contemporary situation and offering suggestions for potential realignments and readjustments that may be witnessed in the future The volume adopts an interdisciplinary approach when addressing some of the most pressing issues of global governance which our global community must tackle This presents the readers an opportunity to understand related topics such as political economy international law institutions of global governance in conjunction with the academic field of International Relations IR It further helps students and interested readers understand the theoretical and practical foundations to the changing nature of global affairs The Ashgate Research Companion to Ethics and International Relations Patrick Hayden, 2016-04-01 While skepticism about the role of moral considerations in international politics has been influential within the discipline of international relations IR those writing on topics such as war peace rights and trade up until the twentieth century took seriously the importance of ethical values and moral debates The 1990s and 2000s have seen a substantial growth of attention to the ways in which IR conceives and analyzes themes of an ethical nature and how issues problems and policies involving ethics are addressed by a variety of actors within the international system This indispensable research companion widens the perspective from ethics and international relations to ethics in international relations redressing the mis perception that ethical concepts principles norms and rules are not in part constitutive of the international system and the agents acting within that system Necessarily cross disciplinary expertise is drawn from IR and also philosophy political theory religious studies history and law making this an ideal volume for any library reference collection Cosmopolitan Elites Kira Huju, 2023-11-13 Cosmopolitan Elites

narrates the birth everyday life and fracturing of a Western dominated global order from its margins It offers a critical sociological examination of the elite Indian Foreign Service and its members many of whom were present at the founding of this order Kira Huju explores how these diplomats set out to remake the service in the name of a radically anti colonial global subaltern but often ended up seeking status within its hierarchies through social mimicry of its most powerful actors This is a book about the struggles of belonging it revisits what it takes to be a recognized member of international society and asks what the experience of historically marginalized actors inside the diplomatic club can tell us about the evident woes of global order today In interrogating how Indian diplomats learned to live under a Westernized world order it also offers a sociologically grounded reading of what might happen in spaces like India as the world transitions past Western domination An awkward balancing act animates the order making of India s cosmopolitan diplomats despite a genuine desire to strive toward a postcolonial world founded on diversity difference and the symbolic representation of a global subaltern there is a strong sense of a lingering caricature like notion of a white European dominated homogenous club to which Indian diplomats feel a deep rooted and colonially embedded desire to belong Cosmopolitanism operates inside this balancing act not as an international ethic upholding an equal tolerant or liberal global order but rather as an elite aesthetic which presumes cultural compliance diplomatic accommodation and social assimilation into Western mores Based on 85 interviews with Indian diplomats politicians and foreign policy experts as well as archival work in New Delhi the book asks what the experience of historically marginalized actors inside the diplomatic club tells us about the social hierarchies of race class religion gender and caste under global order

Child Domestic Work in Nigeria Gankam Tambo, Ina, 2014-10-30 For the last two decades child domestic work carried out in Nigeria as well as in other countries in Africa Latin America and Asia has been given increasing attention by international policy makers and scientists Yet the research mainly focuses on the living and working conditions of these children which also forms part of this book However in addition political and pedagogical measures of intervention employed on international national and local levels on child domestic work are also at the centre of analysis Against the background of post colonial theory the author studies the effects of social modernisation in Nigeria as a rapidly growing national economy on child domestic work and historically retraces the origins of this form of child work back to indigenous modes of socialisation and social security within the pre colonial Nigerian extended family network The research is based on field work in Nigeria including interviews and documentary analysis

Weak States, Vulnerable Governments, and Regional Cooperation Atena Ștefania Feraru, 2021-10-31 War famine poverty organized crime environmental catastrophes refugees epidemics and pandemics modern slavery all these affect people in the non Western world to an increasingly disproportionate extent It is also where wealthy governments wield economic leverage and military force to renegotiate existing norms of international relations Under these circumstances it is difficult to overestimate the importance and urgency of comprehending the mechanisms and motivations driving these phenomena This book is the outcome of a decade long effort to advance both theoretical and empirical understanding of what motivates non Western governments decisions to cooperate not cooperate regionally It starts by acknowledging the Western centrism of prevailing international relations theories abandoning deeply entrenched assumptions regarding the nature and roles of states and redefining state weakness The inquiry continues by elaborating this new concept and applying it to Southeast Asian polities while positing that it creates governments vulnerable to internal and external threats in line with Joel S Migdal s well known findings on the topic A set of regional cooperation strategies is then inferred based on the survival needs of insecure governing elites and its empirical validity is tested against the experience of regional organizations in Africa Asia and the Americas The second part of the book provides an in depth examination of how Southeast Asian governments shared security needs and interests shaped the emergence of the identified regional cooperation pattern and its evolution over 50 years of cooperation within the Association of Southeast Asian Nations ASEAN Overall this book is a call to international relations scholars to do our part in understanding non Western experiences and making a substantive contribution to addressing humanity s most intractable security threats
