Radiant Future:

Solovyovo Margaret Paxson, 2005-12-13 In a small village beside a reed lined lake in the Russian north a cluster of farmers has lived for centuries in the time of tsars and feudal landlords Bolsheviks and civil wars collectivization and socialism perestroika and open markets Solovyovo is about the place and power of social memory Based on extensive anthropological fieldwork in that single village it shows how villagers configure transmit and enact social memory through narrative genres religious practice social organization commemoration and the symbolism of space Margaret Paxson relates present day beliefs rituals and practices to the remembered traditions articulated by her informants She brings to life the everyday social and agricultural routines of the villagers as well as holiday observances religious practices cosmology beliefs and practices surrounding health and illness the melding of Orthodox and communist traditions and their post Soviet evolution and the role of the yearly calendar in regulating village lives The result is a compelling ethnography of a Russian village the first of its kind in modern North American anthropology

The Future Marc Augé, 2015-02-03 For Marc Augé best selling author of Non Places the prevailing idea of the Future rests on our present fears of the contemporary world It is to the future that we look for redemption and progress but it is also where we project our personal and apocalyptic anxieties By questioning notions of certainty truth and totality Augé finds ways to separate the future from our eternal terrified present and liberates the mind to allow it to conceptualize our possible futures afresh

Everyday Stalinism Sheila Fitzpatrick, 1999-03-04 Focusing on urban areas in the 1930s this college professor illuminates the ways that Soviet city dwellers coped with this world examining such diverse activities as shopping landing a job and other acts

Unvarnishing Reality Derek C. Maus, 2012-10-15 Unvarnishing Reality draws original insight to the literature politics history and culture of the cold war by closely examining the themes and goals of American and Russian satirical fiction As Derek C Maus illustrates the paranoia of nuclear standoff provided a subversive storytelling mode for authors from both nations including Thomas Pynchon Robert Coover John Barth Walker Percy Don DeLillo Kurt Vonnegut Jr Vasily Aksyonov Yuz Aleshkovsky Alexander Zinoviev Vladimir Voinovich Fazil Iskander and Sasha Sokolov Maus surveys the background of each nation's culture language sociology politics and philosophy to map the foundation on which cold war satire was built By highlighting common themes of utopianism technology and propaganda Maus effectively shows the ultimate motive of satirists on both sides was to question the various forces contributing to the cold war and to expose the absurdity of the continuous tension that pulsed between the United States and the Soviet Union for nearly half a century Although cold war literature has been studied extensively few critics have focused so keenly on comparisons of satirical fictions by Russian and American writers that condemn and subvert the polarizing ideologies inherent in superpower rivalry Such a comparison reveals thematic and structural similarities that transcend specific national and cultural origins In considering these works together Maus locates a thoroughgoing humanistic refutation of the cold war and its operative doctrines as well as a range of proposed alternatives

Just as the cold war combatants ultimately reconciled in 1991 with the fall of the Soviet Union Maus seeks to bring these two literary canons together now Their thematic scope transcends cultural differences and as Maus demonstrates these writers saw that there was not only the atomic bomb to fear but also the dangers of complete national militarization and the constant polarizing threat of emergency Thus their cold war critiques still resonate today and invite further comparative studies such as this one Futures of the Study of Culture Doris Bachmann-Medick, Jens Kugele, Ansgar Nünning, 2020-08-10 How can we approach possible but unknown futures of the study of culture This volume explores this question in the context of a changing global world The contributions in this volume discuss the necessity of significant shifts in our conceptual and epistemological frameworks Taking into account changing institutional research settings the authors develop pathways to future cultural research addressing the crucial concerns of the cultural and social worlds themselves The contributions thereby utilize contact zones within a wide range of disciplines such as cultural anthropology sociology cultural history literary studies the history of science and bioethics as well as the environmental and medical humanities Examining emerging inter and transdisciplinary points of reference the volume invites scholars in the humanities and social sciences to take part in a conversation about theories methods and practices for the future study of culture Dystopian Fiction East and West Erika Gottlieb, 2001 Erika Gottlieb explores a selection of about thirty works in the dystopian genre from East and Central Europe between 1920 and 1991 in the USSR and between 1948 and 1989 in Poland Hungary and Czechoslovakia

Lenin Robert Service, 2000 Lenin's politics still reverberate around the world even after the death of the USSR His name elicits revulsion and reverence Yet Lenin the man remains largely a mystery This biography reveals Lenin in his full complexity as a revolutionary political leader thinker and private person 50 halftones 3 maps After the Apocalypse Srećko Horvat, 2021-02-11 In this post apocalyptic rollercoaster ride philosopher Srećko Horvat invites us to explore the Apocalypse in terms of revelation rather than as the end itself He argues that the only way to prevent the end i.e. extinction is to engage in a close reading of various interconnected threats such as climate crisis the nuclear age and the ongoing pandemic Drawing on the work of neglected philosopher Günther Anders this book outlines a philosophical approach to deal with what Horvat borrowing a term from climate science and giving it a theological twist calls eschatological tipping points These are no longer just the nuclear age or climate crisis but their collision conjoined with various other major threats not only pandemics but also the viruses of capitalism and fascism In his investigation of the future of places such as Chernobyl the Mediterranean and the Marshall Islands as well as many others affected by COVID 19 Horvat contends that the revelation appears simple and unprecedented the alternatives are no longer socialism or barbarism our only alternatives today are a radical reinvention of the world or mass extinction After the Apocalypse is an urgent call not only to mourn tomorrow's dead today but to struggle for our future while we can Dying Unneeded Michelle A. Parsons, 2021-04-30 In the early 1990s Russia experienced one of the most extreme increases in mortality in modern history Men's life expectancy dropped by six years women's life expectancy dropped by three Middle aged men living in Moscow were particularly at risk of dying early deaths While the early 1990s represent the apex of mortality the crisis continues Drawing on fieldwork in the capital city during 2006 and 2007 this account brings ethnography to bear on a topic that has until recently been the province of epidemiology and demography Middle aged Muscovites talk about being unneeded ne nuzhny or having little to give others Considering this concept of being unneeded reveals how political economic transformation undermined the logic of social relations whereby individuals used their position within the Soviet state to give things to other people Being unneeded is also gendered while women are still needed by their families men are often unneeded by state or family Western literature on the mortality crisis focuses on a lack of social capital often assuming that what individuals receive is most important but being needed is more about what individuals give Social connections and their influence on health are culturally specific In Soviet times needed people helped friends and acquaintances push against the limits of the state crafting a sense of space and freedom When the state collapsed this sense of bounded freedom was compromised and another freedom became deadly This book is a recipient of the annual Norman L and Roselea J Goldberg Prize for the best project in the area of medicine

The History of Development Gilbert Rist, 2002-10 With all its hopes of a more just and materially prosperous world development has fascinated societies in both North and South Looking at this collective fancy in retrospect Gilbert Rist shows the underlying similarities of its various theories and strategies and their shared inability to transform the world He argues persuasively that development has always been a kind of collective delusion which in reality has simply promoted a widening of market relations despite the good intentions of its advocates

The Digitally Divided Self Ivo Quartiroli, 2011 It isn't easy to find an informed and critical look at the impact of digital media practices on human lives and minds Ivo Quartiroli offers an informed critique based in both an understanding of technology and of human consciousness Howard Rheingold author of The Virtual Community and Smart Mobs Aware of the profound and rapid psychological and social metamorphosis we are going through as we go digital without paying attention Ivo Quartiroli is telling us very

Red Britain

Matthew Taunton, 2019-04-04 Red Britain sets out a provocative rethinking of the cultural politics of mid century Britain by drawing attention to the extent diversity and longevity of the cultural effects of the Russian Revolution Drawing on new archival research and historical scholarship this book explores the conceptual discursive and formal reverberations of the Bolshevik Revolution in British literature and culture It provides new insight into canonical writers including Doris Lessing

George Orwell Dorothy Richardson H G Wells and Raymond Williams as well bringing to attention a cast of less studied writers intellectuals journalists and visitors to the Soviet Union Red Britain shows that the cultural resonances of the Russian Revolution are more far reaching and various than has previously been acknowledged Each of the five chapters takes as its subject one particular problem or debate and investigates the ways in which it was politicised as a result of the Russian Revolution and the subsequent development of the Soviet state The chapters focus on the idea of the future numbers and arithmetic law and justice debates around agriculture and landowning and finally orality literacy and religion In all of these spheres Red Britain shows how the medievalist romantic oral pastoral anarchic and ethical emphases of English socialism clashed with and were sometimes overwritten by futurist utilitarian literate urban statist and economic ideas associated with the Bolshevik Revolution

Contemporary Fiction in French Anna-Louise Milne, Russell Williams, 2021-03-25 Demonstrates how contemporary fiction in French has become a polycentric and transnational field of vibrant and varied experimentation

Regimes of Historicity François Hartog, 2015-01-13 François Hartog explores crucial moments of change in society's regimes of historicity or its way of relating to the past present and future Inspired by Arendt Koselleck and Ricoeur Hartog analyzes a broad range of texts positioning the The Odyssey as a work on the threshold of a historical consciousness and then contrasting it against an investigation of the anthropologist Marshall Sahlins's concept of heroic history He tracks changing perspectives on time in Chateaubriand's Historical Essay and Travels in America and sets them alongside other writings from the French Revolution He revisits the insight of the French Annals School and situates Pierre Nora's Realms of Memory within a history of heritage and our contemporary presentism Our presentist present is by no means uniform or clear cut and it is experienced very differently depending on one's position in society There are flows and acceleration but also what the sociologist Robert Castel calls the status of casual workers whose present is languishing before their very eyes and who have no past except in a complicated way especially in the case of immigrants exiles and migrants and no real future since the temporality of plans and projects is denied them Presentism is therefore experienced as either emancipation or enclosure in some cases with ever greater speed and mobility and in others by living from hand to mouth in a stagnating present Hartog also accounts for the fact that the future is perceived as a threat and not a promise We live in a time of catastrophe one he feels we have brought upon ourselves

Beyond the People Zoran Oklopcic, 2018
Beyond the People develops a provocative interdisciplinary and meta theoretical critique of the idea of popular sovereignty. It asks simple but far reaching questions: Can imagined communities or invented peoples ever be theorized without at the same time being re imagined and re invented anew? Can polemical concepts such as popular sovereignty or constituent power be theorized objectively? If as this book argues the answer to these questions is no, theorists who approach the figure of a sovereign people must acknowledge that their activity is inseparable from the practice of constituent imagination. Though widely accepted as important even vital for the development of political concepts, the social practice of imagination is almost always presumed to operate either historically or impersonally but seldom individually. Those who theorize the figures of popular sovereignty do not see that they are in effect conjurors of peoplehood. This book invites constitutional international normative and other political and legal theorists of sovereign peoplehood to embrace the conjuring side of their professional identities as a way of exploring the possibility of moving beyond eternally recurring insolvable and increasingly irrelevant questions. Instead of asking: Who is the people? What is the function of constituent power? Where may the people exercise its right to self determination? Beyond the People asks the reader to consider the prospect of a riskier and more adventurous theoretical road that opens with the question: What do I as a theorist, imaginer or conjuror of peoplehood assume, anticipate and aspire to as I theorize the vehicles that mediate the assumptions, anticipations and aspirations of others? This question is examined throughout the book as it interrogates the idea of peoplehood beyond disciplinary boundaries, showing how polemical, visual, affective, conceptual and allegorical language critically shapes our idea of peoplehood. It offers a nuanced account of the contested relationship between the social imaginary of peoplehood on the ground and the imaginative practices of the professional conjurors of peoplehood in the academy.

Storying the Ecocatastrophe Helena Duffy, Katarina Leppänen, 2024-05-31 How do writers and artists represent the climate catastrophe so that their works stir audiences to political action or at least raise their environmental awareness without however appearing didactic Storying the Ecocatastrophe attempts to answer this question while interrogating the potential of narrative to become a viable political force The collection of essays achieves this by examining the representational strategies and ideological goals of contemporary cultural productions about climate change These productions have been created across different genres such as the traditional novel dance performance solarpunk economic report collage and space opera as well as across different languages and cultures The volume's twelve chapters demonstrate that rising temperatures erratic weather extinction of species depletion of resources and coastal erosion and flooding are an effect of our abusive relationship with nature They also show that our use of nuclear power extraction of natural resources and extensive farming including heavy reliance on pesticides intersect with intrahuman violence as fleshed out by heteropatriarchy racism neo colonialism and capitalism They finally argue that human activity has indirectly contributed to other contemporary crises namely the migrant crisis and the spread of contagious diseases such as Covid 19 Chapter 8 of this book is freely available as a downloadable Open Access PDF at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives CC BY NC ND 4.0 license
