A Decision Framework for Integrated Wetland-River Basin Management in a Tropical and Data Scarce Environment Mijail Eduardo Arias Hidalgo, 2013-01-15 Traditionally wetlands were considered separately from river basin systems However nowadays it is becoming common practice to follow an integrated approach in wetland riverine watershed analysis and management Such approach requires not only adequate representations of all relevant bio physical parameters but also of socio political and economic indicators Data scarcity an endemic problem in developing countries hampers this global process In this study both conventional methods and state of the art techniques and data sources are explored A modelling framework is developed which includes rainfall runoff processes river hydrodynamics and water allocation models seeking a balance between sophistication and simplicity in view of data availability conditions The framework was used to evaluate a number of scenarios including potential effects of climatic variations and of the major hydraulic works that are planned by the national water authority Several management options were assessed through this tool In addition special indicators were developed to remedy the lack of sufficient quantitative information by using a qualitative approach based on expert elicitation and stakeholder involvement A decision support framework was applied to achieve a final ranking of the various management solutions that are in compliance with the national policies facilitating the further development of management guidelines for wetlands across the Ecuadorian lowlands The book will be of interest to water managers hydro informaticians water modellers people working at river basin authorities and Ministries of the environment Symposium proceeding unified river basin management - stage ii David J. | Dworsky Allee (L.B. | North, R.M.), 1981

Desalination Mohammad Hossein Davood Abadi Farahani, Vahid Vatanpour, Amir Taheri, 2020-07-15 Undoubtedly drinking water of an acceptable quality has become a scarce commodity Water shortage is becoming a major concern all around the world due to limited freshwater resources as well as the high cost of freshwater transportation from freshwater rich areas to arid areas As a result solutions such as water recycling and desalination of saline or brackish water are being introduced and emerging worldwide as alternative ways of supplying water Desalination of seawater is known to be one of mankind's earliest forms of water treatment and it has become one of the most sustainable alternative solutions to provide freshwater for many communities and industrial sectors This book aims to cover the challenges and opportunities in desalination processes

Integrated River Basin Management through Decentralization Karin Kemper, William Blomquist, Ariel Dinar, 2007-02-17 Drawing upon a worldwide survey of river basin organizations and in depth studies of eight river basins in a variety of locations around the globe this book examines how institutional arrangements for managing water resources at the river basin level have been designed and implemented what the impetus for these arrangements has been and what institutional features appear to be associated with greater or lesser success in river basin management Strategies for River Basin Management Jan Lundqvist, Ulrik Lohm, Malin Falkenmark, 2012-12-06 Statutory Instruments Great Britain, 1992 Institutional and Policy Analysis of River Basin Management, 2005 The authors describe and analyze river basin management in the Guadalquivir River Basin in Spain The Guadalquivir river flows westerly across southern Spain with nearly all of its 57 017 km² drainage area within the region of Andalusia Water management issues in this semi arid heavily agricultural but rapidly urbanizing region include drought exposure water allocation water quality and in some areas groundwater overdraft A river basin agency Confederacion Hidrografica del Guadalquivir or CH Guadalquivir has existed within the basin since 1927 but its responsibilities have changed substantially over its history For much of its life CH Guadalquivir s mission was water supply augmentation through construction and operation of reservoirs primarily to support irrigation under central government direction with little provision for water user participation Following the Spanish political system s transformation and Spain s accession to the European Union water law and policy changes greatly expanded CH Guadalquivir s responsibilities and restructured it to incorporate representation of some basin stakeholders Although the basin agency s accomplishments in reservoir construction have been prodigious its record of performance with respect to its newer responsibilities has been mixed as have perceptions of its openness and responsiveness to basin interests other than irrigators This paper a product of the Agriculture and Rural Development Department is part of a larger effort in the department to approach water policy issues in an integrated way The study was funded by the Bank s Research Support Budget under the research project Integrated River Basin Management and the Principle of Managing Water Resources at the Lowest Appropriate Level When and Why Does It Not Work in Practice World Bank web site Workshop Proceedings of the 11th International Conference on Intelligent Environments D. Preuveneers, 2015-07-06 With emerging trends such as the Internet of Things sensors and actuators are now deployed and connected everywhere to gather information and solve problems and such systems are expected to be trustworthy dependable and reliable under all circumstances But developing intelligent environments which have a degree of common sense is proving to be exceedingly complicated and we are probably still more than a decade away from sophisticated networked systems which exhibit human like thought and intelligent behavior This book presents the proceedings of four workshops and symposia the 4th International Workshop on Smart Offices and Other Workplaces SOOW 15 the 4th International Workshop on the Reliability of Intelligent Environments WoRIE 15 the Symposium on Future Intelligent Educational Environments and Learning 2015 SOFIEEe 15 and the 1st immersive Learning Research Network Conference iLRN 15 These formed part of the 11th International Conference on Intelligent Environments held in Prague Czech Republic in July 2015 which focused on the development of advanced reliable intelligent environments as well as newly emerging and rapidly evolving topics This overview of and insight into the latest developments of active researchers in the field will be of interest to all those who follow developments in the world of intelligent environments Selected Water Resources Abstracts ,1991 Wetlands and Water Framework Directive Stefan Ignar,Mateusz Grygoruk,2015-01-14 This book compares the lessons learned from a wetland perspective approach to the changing climate and the requirements of the Water Framework Directive WFD with regard to environmental conservation Examples from Germany and Poland are discussed due to the efficiency of their respective implementations of water conservation policies Although the general scientific interest in specific issues such as wetlands climate change nature conservation and the WFD enjoy a well established position in international environmental research these four elements are rarely considered together due to the complexity of the processes biased scenarios of global change and subjective policy background Major challenges involved in carrying out environmental conservation actions that assess the potential impacts of climate change and management plans on water bodies are identified The results of this approach are addressed to practitioners in the field of adaptive management in a wetlands context The United Nations World Water Development Report - N° 3 - 2009 - Institutional Capacity Development in Transboundary Waters Vollmer, Ruth,Ardakanian, Reza,Hare, Matt,Leentvaar, Jan,Schaaf, Charlotte van der,Wirkus, Lars, Environmental Law in Bosnia and Herzegovina

 Dragoljub Todić,Mladenka Ignjatić,Vid Vukasović†,2022-11-20 Derived from the renowned multi volume International Encyclopaedia of Laws this book provides ready access to legislation and practice concerning the environment in Bosnia Herzegovina A general introduction covers geographic considerations political social and cultural aspects of environmental study the sources and principles of environmental law environmental legislation and the role of public authorities The main body of the book deals first with laws aimed directly at protecting the environment from pollution in specific areas such as air water waste soil noise and radiation Then a section on nature and conservation management covers protection of natural and cultural resources such as monuments landscapes parks and reserves wildlife agriculture forests fish subsoil and minerals Further treatment includes the application of zoning and land use planning rules on liability and administrative and judicial remedies to environmental issues There is also an analysis of the impact of international and regional legislation and treaties on environmental regulation Its succinct yet scholarly nature as well as the practical quality of the information it provides make this book a valuable resource for environmental lawyers handling cases affecting Bosnia Herzegovina Academics and researchers as well as business investors and the various international organizations in the field will welcome this very useful guide and will appreciate its value in the study of comparative environmental law and policy Managing Urban Rivers
