Construction Risk in River and Estuary Engineering Mark Morris, Jonathan Simm, 2000 Contractors involved in construction in or adjacent to rivers and estuaries are open to a range of construction risks from working in this environment Not only the primary risk of flooding but significant risk also stems from scour poor ground conditions site drainage plant operation site access and tidal impact The construction works themselves may also have an impact on the river including impact on flood water levels changes to the local river regime scour or siltation and effects on navigation and environmental impacts such as pollution This Manual assists in identifying and managing risks in works design and construction Guidance is offered on risk assessment and management techniques along with the identification of typical risk issues likely to be encountered in the river and estuary environment It is essential reading for clients project funders contractors consulting engineers both in design and supervision role insurers and those interested with the risks associated with river and estuary engineering BOOK JACKET

River Basin Management John Lawson, 2021-05-30 River Basin Management is a collection of papers presented at a conference on implementation of the EU Water Framework Directive held in Budapest in May 2005 The Water Framework Directive requires progressive protection and enhancement to rivers lakes estuaries coastal waters and wetlands by the year 2015 At the heart of this major new piece of legislation is the requirement for all EU member states to prepare river basin management plans for all river basin catchments providing the basis for coordinated improvements to water management leading to better water quality and sustainable aquatic environments in lakes and rivers The papers cover a wide range of topics including pilot studies for the development of river basin management plans public participation in the planning process water quality monitoring modeling and analysis identifying and addressing pollution and meeting environmental objectives The book presents an array of experience from eighteen European countries in the implementation of the EU's most far reaching environmental legislation It is an invaluable source of information and ideas for the widespread preparation of river basin management plans now starting throughout Europe

River Restoration Stephen Darby, David Sear, 2008-02-28 River restoration projects are designed to recreate functional characteristics within a context of physical stability They tend to focus on the development and application of geomorphic principles for river restoration design Due to different models obtaining different results on the same problem incomplete or absent data and climatic social cultural changes the designers and managers of such projects frequently face high levels of uncertainty This book will provide a systematic overview of the issues involved in minimizing and coping with uncertainty in river restoration projects A series of thematic sections will be used to define the various sources of uncertainty in restoration projects and how these show at different points in the life cycle design construction and post construction phases of restoration projects The structure of the book will offer a rational theoretical analysis of the problem while providing practical guidance in managing the different sources of uncertainty A wide range of case studies will be included from Europe North America and Australasia Red River Valley Water Supply Project ,2007 Federal Register ,1997-06-11 Regional Scale Ecological Risk Assessment Wayne G. Landis,2004-11-15 As debates over how relative risk can be used to shape landscape scale environmental management intensify Regional Scale Risk Assessment demonstrates the capabilities of RRM using nine case studies in the Pacific Northwest Pennsylvania Brazil and Tasmania The authors use a process of ranking and filters to interrelate different kinds of risks Environmental Health Perspectives ,2004 Chesterfield Valley, Flood Control Study, St. Louis County ,2000 Anglo-American Telegraphic Code to Cheapen Telegraphy and to Furnish a Complete Cypher Anglo-American code and cypher Co,1891 EPA National Publications Catalog United States. Puertas,2018-08-21 Developing an improved understanding of emerging flood risk management and urban water management was the goal set for research presented at the 6th International Conference on Flood and Urban Water Management held in A Coruña Spain The published papers look to solve various challenges in this field by drawing on the expertise of numerous disciplines and considering a range of responses Flooding is a global phenomenon that claims numerous lives worldwide each year When flooding occurs in urban areas it can cause substantial damage to property as well as threaten human life In addition many more people must endure the homelessness upset and disruption that are left in the wake of floods The increased frequency of flooding in the last few years coupled with climate change predictions and urban development suggest that these impacts are set to worsen in the future How we respond and importantly adapt to these challenges is key to developing our long term resilience at the property community and city scale Apart from the physical damage to buildings contents and loss of life which are the most obvious impacts of floods upon households other more indirect losses are often overlooked These indirect and intangible impacts are generally associated with disruption to normal life as well as long term health issues including community displacements and stress related illnesses Flooding represents a major barrier to the alleviation of poverty in many parts of the developing world where vulnerable communities are often exposed to sudden and life threatening events As our cities continue to expand their urban infrastructures need to be re evaluated and adapted to new requirements related to the increase in population and the growing areas under urbanization The papers contained in this book consider these problems and deals with two main urban water topics water supply systems and urban drainage Federal Energy Regulatory Commission Reports United States.
