Eating Identities Wenying Xu, 2018-03-31 The

French epicure and gastronome Brillat Savarin declared Tell me what you eat and I will tell you who you are Wenying Xu infuses this notion with cultural political energy by extending it to an ethnic group known for its cuisines Asian Americans She begins with the general argument that eating is a means of becoming not simply in the sense of nourishment but more importantly of what we choose to eat what we can afford to eat what we secretly crave but are ashamed to eat in front of others and how we eat Food as the most significant medium of traffic between the inside and outside of our bodies organizes signifies and legitimates our sense of self and distinguishes us from others who practice different foodways Narrowing her scope Xu reveals how cooking eating and food fashion Asian American identities in terms of race ethnicity gender class diaspora and sexuality She provides lucid and informed interpretations of seven Asian American writers John Okada Joy Kogawa Frank Chin Li Young Lee David Wong Louie Mei Ng and Monique Truong and places these identity issues in the fascinating spaces of food hunger consumption appetite desire and orality Asian American literature abounds in culinary metaphors and references but few scholars have made sense of them in a meaningful way Most literary critics perceive alimentary references as narrative strategies or part of the background Xu takes food as the central site of cultural and political struggles waged in the seemingly private domain of desire in the lives of Asian Americans Eating Identities is the first book to link food to a wide range of Asian American concerns such as race and sexuality Unlike most sociological studies which center on empirical analyses of the relationship between food and society it focuses on how food practices influence psychological and ontological formations and thus contributes significantly to the growing field of food studies For students of literature this tantalizing work offers an illuminating lesson on how to read the multivalent meanings of food and eating in literary texts

Environmental Health Perspectives, 1993 The Spice Merchant's Daughter Christina

Arokiasamy, 2008 It was the aroma The exotic scent of spices rich alluring and almost magical A scent that would sometimes overpower the freshness in the air and sometimes subtly mingle with it to create a tantalizing bouquet A scent that would always bring me back to my childhood Growing up enveloped in the aromas of her mother's spice stall in Kuala Lumpur Christina Arokiasamy developed an artist's sense of how to combine and use spices in traditional and innovative ways In The Spice Merchant's Daughter she shares her family's spice secrets expertly guiding and enticing home cooks to enliven their repertoires Christina weaves evocative stories of cooking at her mother's side with real world practical advice gleaned not only from working in professional kitchens but also from tackling the nightly task of getting a home cooked dinner on the table for her family of four using American ingredients She shows how easy it is to build layers of complex flavor to create 100 tempting Southeast Asian inspired recipes including Lemon Pepper Wings Spicy Beef Salad Steamed Snapper with Tamarind Ginger Sauce Cardamom Butter Rice with Sultanas and Coconut Flan Infused with Star Anise She unlocks the transformative power of homemade spice rubs curry pastes and sauces as well as chutneys and pickles enabling home cooks to bring new depth and dimension to their favorite dishes With lush photography and a chapter identifying and defining key
