The Bathroom Chronicles Friederike Schilbach,2018-10-16 One hundred creative intelligent and interesting women some well known some not reveal their inner selves through candid tender and often humorous snapshots both visual and textual of a single object or corner of their bathroom For many women the bathroom is the most intimate of spaces It is the place where we encounter ourselves in the mirror each morning and every night brushing our teeth applying make up fixing our hair getting ready to face the day or recede from it The Bathroom Chronicles is a beautiful chic touching and deeply feminine collection of photos and accompanying short stories sometimes no more than a sentence or two by women about their private spaces and most cherished possessions Lena Dunham reveals the corner by the sink where she keeps her favorite pieces of jewelry as well as her birth control Erica Jong snaps her poodles and insists that they love her powder room and to fluff up their hair in front of the mirrors Roz Chast reflects on a shelf in the corner that she purchased from a second hand store It s decorated with birds because she loves birds and a tiny emu that was given to her by a friend when she was in Australia Like the bathrooms themselves each of these stories and images is unique open private minimalistic messy and beautiful Mr. Collier's Letter Racks Dror Wahrman, 2012-08-29 Three hundred years ago an unprecedented explosion in inexpensive disposable print newspapers pamphlets informational publications artistic prints ushered in a media revolution that forever changed our relationship to information One unusually perceptive man an obscure Dutch British still life painter named Edward Collier understood the full significance of these momentous changes and embedded in his work secret warnings about the inescapable slippages between author and print meaning and text viewer and canvas perception and reality Working around 1700 Collier has been neglected even forgotten precisely because his secret messages have never been noticed let alone understood Until now In Mr Collier s Letter Racks Dror Wahrman recovers the tale of an extraordinary illusionist artist who engaged in a wholly original way with a major transformation of his generation Wahrman shows how Collier developed a hidden language within his illusionist paintings replete with minutely coded messages witty games intricate allusions and private jokes to draw attention to the potential and the pitfalls of this new information age A remarkably shrewd and prescient commentator on the changes unfolding around him not least the advent of a new kind of politics following the Glorious Revolution Collier performed a post modernist critique of modernity long before the modern age His trompe l oeil paintings are filled with seemingly disconnected enigmatic objects letters seals texts of speeches magnifying glasses title pages and with teasingly significant details that require the viewer to lean in and peer closely Wahrman does just that taking on the role of detective cultural historian to unravel the layers of deceptions contained within Collier s extraordinary paintings Written with passionate enthusiasm and including more than 70 color illustrations Mr Collier s Letter Racks is a spell binding feat of cultural history illuminating not only the work of an eccentric genius but the media revolution of his period the birth of modern politics and the nature of art itself German Paintings in the Metropolitan Museum of Art, 1350-1600 Maryan W. Ainsworth, Joshua P. Waterman, Dorothy Mahon, Metropolitan Museum of Art (New York, N.Y.), 2013 Paintings by Renaissance masters Lucas Cranach the Elder Albrecht Durer and Hans Holbein the Younger are among the works featured in this lavish volume the first to comprehensively study the largest collection of early German paintings in America These works created in the 14th through 16th centuries in the region that comprises present day Germany Austria and Switzerland include religious images such as Virgin and Child with Saint Anne by Durer and the double sided altarpiece The Dormition of the Virgin by Hans Schaufelein as well as remarkable portraits by Holbein and the

Ebert-Schifferer, National Gallery of Art (U.S.), 2002 Catalogue of an exhibition held at the National Gallery of Art Washington D C Oct 13 2002 Mar 2 2003 Nothing If Not Critical Robert Hughes, 2012-02-22 From Holbein to Hockney from Norman Rockwell to Pablo Picasso from sixteenth century Rome to 1980s SoHo Robert Hughes looks with love loathing warmth wit and authority at a wide range of art and artists good bad past and present As art critic for Time magazine internationally acclaimed for his study of modern art The Shock of the New he is perhaps America's most widely read and admired writer on art In this book nearly a hundred of his finest essays on the subject For the realism of Thomas Eakins to the Soviet satirists Komar and Melamid from Watteau to Willem de Kooning to Susan Rothenberg here is Hughes astute vivid and uninhibited on dozens of famous and not so famous artists He observes that Caravaggio was one of the hinges of art history there was art before him and art after him and they were not the same he remarks that Julian Schnabel's work is to painting what Stallone's is to acting he calls John Constable's Wivenhoe Park almost the last word on Eden as Property he notes how distorted traces of Jackson Pollock lie like genes in art world careers that one might have thought had nothing to do with his He knows how Norman Rockwell made a chicken stand still long enough to be painted and what Degas said about success some kinds are indistinguishable from panic Phrasemaker par excellence Hughes is at the same time an incisive and profound critic not only of particular artists but also of the social context in which art exists and is traded His fresh perceptions of such figures as Andy Warhol and the French writer Jean Baudrillard are matched in brilliance by his pungent discussions of the art market its inflated prices and reputations its damage to the public domain of culture There is a superb essay on Bernard Berenson and another on the strange tangled case of the Mark Rothko estate And as a finale Hughes gives us The SoHoiad the mock epic satire that so amused and annoyed the art world in the mid 1980s A meteor of a book that enlightens startles stimulates and entertains Le Musée de L'Œuvre Notre-Dame, Medieval and Renaissance Art, Strasbourg Cécile Dupeux, 1995

The Contingent Object of Contemporary Art Martha Buskirk, 2005-02-18 An exploration of transformations in the nature of the art object and artistic authorship in the last four decades In this book Martha Buskirk addresses the interesting fact that since the early 1960s almost anything can and has been called art Among other practices contemporary artists have employed mass produced elements impermanent materials and appropriated imagery have incorporated performance and video and have created works through instructions carried out by others Furthermore works of art that lack traditional signs of authenticity or permanence have been embraced by institutions long devoted to the original and the permanent Buskirk begins with questions of authorship raised by minimalists use of industrial materials and methods including competing claims of ownership and artistic authorship evident in conflicts over the right to fabricate artists works Examining recent examples of appropriation she finds precedents in pop art and the early twentieth century readymade and explores the intersection of contemporary artistic copying and the system of copyrights trademarks and brand names characteristic of other forms of commodity production She also investigates the ways that connections between work and context have transformed art and institutional conventions the impact of new materials on definitions of medium the role of the document as both primary and secondary object and the significance of conceptually oriented performance work for the intersection of photography and the human body in contemporary art Buskirk explores how artists active in the 1980s and 1990s have recombined strategies of the art of the 1960s and 1970s She also shows how the mechanisms through which art is presented shape not only readings of the work but the work itself She uses her discussion of the readymade and conceptual art to explore broader issues of authorship reproduction context and temporality
