The Gentrification of Nightlife and the Right to the City Laam Hae, 2012-05-31 In The Gentrification of Nightlife and the Right to the City Hae explores how nightlife in New York City long associated with various subcultures of social dancing has been recently transformed as the city has undergone the gentrification of its space and the post industrialization of its economy and society This book offers a detailed analysis of the conflicts emerging between newly transplanted middle class populations and different sectors of nightlife actors and how these conflicts have led the NYC government to enforce Quality of Life policing over nightlife businesses In particular it provides a deep investigation of the zoning regulations that the municipal government has employed to control where certain types of nightlife can or cannot be located Hae demonstrates the ways in which these struggles over nightlife have led to the gentrification of nightlife while infringing on urban inhabitants rights of access to spaces of diverse urban subcultures their right to the city The author also connects these struggles to the widely documented phenomenon of the increasing militarization of social life and space in contemporary cities and the right to the city movements that have emerged in response The story presented here involves dynamic and often contradictory interactions between different anti pro nightlife actors illustrating what actually existing gentrification and post industrialization looks like and providing an urgent example for experts in related fields to consider as part of a re theorization of gentrification and post industrialization

Urban Nightlife Reuben A. Buford May, 2014-09-02 Sociologists have long been curious about the ways in which city dwellers negotiate urban public space How do they manage myriad interactions in the shared spaces of the city In Urban Nightlife sociologist Reuben May undertakes a nuanced examination of urban nightlife drawing on ethnographic data gathered in a Deep South college town to explore the question of how nighttime revelers negotiate urban public spaces as they go about meeting socializing and entertaining themselves May's work reveals how diverse partiers define these spaces in particular the ongoing social conflict on the streets in bars and nightclubs and in the various public spaces of downtown To explore this conflict May develops the concept of integrated segregation the idea that diverse groups are physically close to one another yet rarely have meaningful interactions rather they are socially bound to those of similar race class and cultural backgrounds May's in depth research leads him to conclude that social tension is stubbornly persistent in part because many participants fail to make the connection between contemporary relations among different groups and the historical and institutional forces that perpetuate those very tensions structural racism remains obscured by a superficial appearance of racial harmony Through May s observations Urban Nightlife clarifies the complexities of race class and culture in contemporary America illustrating the direct influence of local government and nightclub management decision making on interpersonal interaction among groups Watch a video with Reuben A Buford May Watch video now <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=VCs1xExStPw>
