Reengineering to Compete David W. Conklin,1994

Canada and the Global Economy John N. H. Britton,1996 A collection of essays by twenty three of Canada s leading economic geographers Canada and the Global Economy is a comprehensive study of the evolving economic and geographic patterns of Canadian development It provides a benchmark for research on the spatial development of the Canadian economy The contributors explore four central themes the locational impacts of the openness of the Canadian economy Canada s relatively simple economic geography in terms of regional variations in resources and urban development the problems of keeping pace with rapid advances in technology and the role of government in maintaining a national market and assisting economic development They outline the essential elements of Canada s contemporary economic geography and highlight the origins and spatial imprint of change in the Canadian economy in particular they provide an assessment of Canada s participation in significant international patterns of economic change Canada and the Global Economy is concerned not only with the economic size and location of consumption and production but also with institutional changes and shifts in employment the sectoral composition of economic activity and the organizational structure and locational behaviour of particular industries and firms Special attention is given to the technological development of both established industries and new service and manufacturing activities A timely addition to the field it provides a geographic perspective on significant changes in jobs and types of work that result from the transformation of economic activities

Multinationals as Flagship Firms Alan Rugman, Joseph R. D'Cruz, 2003-03-06 The international dimension of business networks has remained relatively unexplored mainly because international business writers focus upon multinational enterprises and network writers ignore international issues In this book Professors Alan Rugman and Joseph D Cruz bridge the literature on networks and multinationals by introducing the new concept of the flagship firm In each business network strategic leadership is provided by the flagship firm which is defined as a multinational enterprise It has other partners key suppliers key customers key competitors and key partners in the non business infrastructure These business networks are usually located in the triad regions of the European Union North America and Japan There are strong cross border network linkages within these regions but less globalization than regional economic integration The theory of the flagship firm five partners model is applied to the telecommunications chemicals automotive and electronics sectors amongst others and the book reports on both empirical studies and field research of the international competitiveness of these sectors The book will be of interest to academics students and professionals in the areas of international business strategic management political science law and sociology
