Reform Through Community:

Building Commitment to Reform through Strategic Communication Cecilia Caba ero-Verzosa, Helen R. Garcia, 2009-10-06 Strategic communication is a powerful tool for creating broad based support for reform and change initiatives Much has been written about why communication matters in reform efforts but there is scant material available to help those who manage reforms apply communication concepts and approaches to their own programs and policy reform initiatives Building Commitment to Reform through Strategic Communication attempts to bridge that gap The authors present a pragmatic and systematic approach for reformers ready to use communication strategically to achieve their reform goals The Five Communication Management Decision Tool helps reformers and their teams develop a framework for their communication strategies This decision tool helps managers see change initiatives through the eyes of those who will be affected by the reforms When the decision tool is used in the early stages of the development of change programs reformers gain an even deeper understanding of the stakeholders perspectives on the reforms which influence stakeholder opposition or support for them Such understanding will not only be instructive but possibly transformative for both change agents and those stakeholders whose support is critical to the success of reform Reform agents may recognize the source of stakeholder resistance and be able to revise reform goals and redesign change interventions Stakeholders who have a shared understanding of why the status quo is not acceptable and change is necessary are more likely to create coalitions of committed allies and supporters who will work together to achieve reform goals This workbook illustrates how the decision tool can be used for various types of change and reform initiatives from policy reform to country and donor partnership agreements to sectoral reforms Tested and used in learning interventions across cultures regions and sectors the tool has been used successfully by teams in government nongovernmental organizations the business sector and donor agencies The book will be of great interest to readers working in all of these areas

Learning through Community Kathryn Church, Nina Bascia, Eric Shragge, 2008-02-01 The Turbulence of Learning to Publish As researchers we learned about working together and collaborating across multiple dimensions of space time and our own identities We learned and we are still learning We are learning as we write and revise this book We learn as we begin to see this book through the eyes of others who have not lived through the process of discovery with us in the field We learn as we go back to work to try to figure out how our learnings can make a difference Jackson 2004 p 289 It took 10 years to create this book Of course none of us intended to take so long Like a lot of things that appear to be individual pathology our tardiness was socially produced The first defining relation was the collegial way in which Nina Bascia Eric Shragge and I selected contributors for this volume As co editors we sought contributions from academics who had produced case studies for the Toronto based 1 research network called NALL Network for New Approaches to Lifelong Learning

Countering Extremism: Building Social Resilience Through Community Engagement Rohan Gunaratna, Jolene Anne R Jerard, Salim Mohamed Nasir, 2013-03-25 This unique work is the first to address the subject of community engagement strategies in countering extremism and explores the development and research of these strategies In so doing it demystifies the process of community engagement while simultaneously extolling the virtues of the ground breaking strategies to have been effectively employed in Asia the Middle East and the West The book then proceeds to examine the efforts of community engagement made by several countries against their unique operational and geopolitical environments Finally detailed reference is made to the role and work of the media and non government organizations to have conducted effective community engagement efforts With contributions from authors of diverse backgrounds including media the social services security and academia this book will be of interest to both the general public and to researchers

Non-Territorial Autonomy and Decentralization Tove H. Malloy, Levente Salat, 2020-10-15 This volume describes and analyzes alternative and emerging models of non territorial autonomy NTA particularly in relation to decentralization The authors push the NTA debate in new directions by offering a re conceptualization based on ethno cultural bottom up decentralized action that redefines autonomy into its true sense of autonomous action Through description critical analysis and evaluation of several case studies this book assesses the potential for new paradigms within decentralized systems The authors explore two approaches to political decentralization which add to the theoretical debate on NTA network governance which focuses on new dynamics in policy processes and normative pluralism which focuses on accommodating the distinctness of the groups through the subsidiarity principle with regard to their own affairs The book explores the potential ramifications of ethno cultural NTA institutions acting within the wider framework of state institutions and assesses the functions of these institutions as another dimension of decentralization and thus another layer of democracy With contemporary examples from Europe the Middle East Asia and South Africa as well as theoretical aspects of the conceptualization of autonomy this book offers a truly global perspective It will be of great interest to policy makers in countries experiencing adverse developments due to the pressure on public management as well as advanced students and scholars questioning the ability of the Westphalian system to address cultural diversity House of Commons - Communities and Local Government Committee: Community Budgets - HC 163

Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Communities and Local Government Committee,2013-10-23 Community Budgets are demonstrating their potential to deliver cheaper more integrated and more effective public services They are at risk however of being replaced after a few years if key issues are not resolved If this opportunity is missed the Committee warns that local services could come under unsustainable pressure in the face of increased demand and reduced budgets This in turn may result in more spending later on judicial and emergency health and welfare interventions The Government should send a clear message that it will assist every local authority wishing to introduce Community Budgets and to set out the specific assistance it will provide them with Furthermore the programme of pilots must not be allowed to slow progress towards wider implementation If they are to succeed public service providers and local authorities must realise investment in Community Budgets will bring them benefits Local authorities their partners and central government should therefore develop a framework for agreements on how the benefits of investment are to be shared On the Troubled Families Programme the Committee is supportive of the work being done but highlights the need for greater focus on how work with these families will continue after the programme ends in 2016 Noting that the resources available have not increased in proportion to the number of families added to the programme in June DCLG needs to monitor carefully progress and provide more resources to local authorities if necessary Cultivating Community Amanda Shankland,2024-09-01 In the face of escalating water scarcity effective water management has become a central concern globally The Murray Darling Basin spanning over a million square kilometres across four states and one territory is a lifeline for Australian agriculture and rural communities Cultivating Community How discourse shapes the philosophy practice and policy of water management in the Murray Darling Basin dissects the prevailing environmental discourses shaping water policy in the Murray Darling Basin and assesses their implications for both the environment and for farming communities Drawing on five months of extensive field research among farmers and Murray Darling Basin Authority officials Dr Amanda Shankland presents a nuanced understanding of farmer perspectives within the broader policy discourse By examining the interplay between environmental discourses and farmer knowledge Shankland sheds light on how different ideologies shape policy decisions and subsequently impact water management practices Central to the book s contribution is the identification and analysis of four key environmental discourses prevalent in the Murray Darling Basin administrative rationalism economic rationalism democratic pragmatism and green environmentalism Against the backdrop of looming water scarcity and the declining health of the Murray Darling Basin Cultivating Community challenges these dominant discourses by highlighting a new perspective community centrism which emphasises community based cooperation and engagement in water management By amplifying farmer voices and advocating for a more inclusive approach to policy deliberations Cultivating Community paves the way for alternative futures in water management that prioritise social values alongside economic and environmental considerations

Cultivating Community is a timely and indispensable resource for charting a path towards a more resilient and equitable water future in the Murray Darling Basin and beyond
