Reframing Women's Health Alice Dan, 1994-06-07 Offering a unique combination of pragmatic and philosophical perspectives Reframing Women's Health presents an insightful exploration of the theoretical and practical advances in women's health care. The assembled works of this distinguished group of contributors addresses issues as diverse as the concept of biological primacy the role of reproduction and the possible repercussions of accepting the male experience as normative. Other subjects discussed include the physical emotional and legal elements of abuse advances and methodology in clinical and behavioral research as well as a variety of practice concerns. This comprehensive survey of critical women's health topics will be indispensable to researchers educators clinicians and students in this and such related fields as gender studies health sciences psychology and social work. In Reframing Women's Health the editor has assembled some of the finest authors in the field to create a broad based multidisciplinary source of the latest thinking on women's health. For a discipline this young the book represents an extremely comprehensive collection of works. The authors go beyond the stereotyped view of obstetric and gynecologic care and force the reader to consider women in relation to self and in relation to the world in which they live. The thread that weaves through the book is one of challenging the old paradigm of women's health care as care of reproductive issues alone. It is a must read for clinicians or teachers who wish to broaden their own thinking in a way that will promote optimal health care for women. Family Medicine Especially recommended for college level students of women's health and health science Diane C Donovan The Midwest Book Review     Reframing Women's Health Alice Dan, 1994 Offering a unique combination of pragmatic and philosophical perspectives Reframing Women's Health presents an insightful exploration of the theoretical and practical advances in women's health care. French,Wanda Teays,Laura M. Purdy,2018-10-18 This is the first anthology to take a theoretical look at violence against women Each essay shows how philosophy provides a powerful tool for examining a difficult and deep rooted social problem Stanley G French Wanda Teays and Laura M Purdy all philosophers present a familiar phenomenon in a new and striking fashion The editors employ a two tiered approach to this vital issue Contributors consider both interpersonal violence such as rape and battering and also systemic violence such as sexual harassment pornography prostitution and violence in a medical context The editors have further broadened the discussion to include such cross cultural issues as rape in war dowry deaths female genital mutilation and international policies on violence against women Against this wide range of topics which integrate personal perspectives with the philosophical the contributors offer powerful analyses of the causes and effects of violence against women as well as potential policies for effecting change

Representing the Other Sue Wilkinson,Celia Kitzinger,1996-07-16 This innovative collection addresses a challenging issue in contemporary feminist theory and practice whether and how we should represent members of groups to which we do not ourselves belong The discussions identify key concerns related to representation and difference Contributors draw on personal experiences of speaking for and about Others in their research professional practice writing or political activism Problems of representing Others with ethnic or cultural backgrounds different from one s own are highlighted and the discussions extend to representations of children prostitutes infertile women fat women gay men with HIV AIDS and people with disabilities      The Impact of Women in Congress Debra L. Dodson,2006-05-18 While existing literature provides compelling evidence that women in public office make a difference the relationship between descriptive and substantive representation of women in political institutions long the domain of men is neither simple nor certain Embracing New Institutionalists warnings of the dangers of studying behaviour in an institutional vacuum this book uses two strikingly different yet consecutive congresses the Democratically controlled 103rd Congress elected during the Year of the Woman and the Republican controlled 104th Congress elected during the Year of the Angry White Male as laboratories to explore the complexity of the relationship between women s presence and impact In depth interviews with hundreds of staff lobbyists and women members of Congress along with other quantitative and archival data are the foundation for case studies of three highly visible policy areas reproductive rights women s health and health care policy important to women but with strikingly different outcomes across the two Congresses The inquiry is quickly moved beyond the simple question Do women make a difference Dodson confronts the contested issues surrounding difference which often lurk beneath the surface the probabilistic rather than deterministic relationship between descriptive and substantive representation of women the contested legitimacy of women representing women and the disagreement about what it means to represent women The analysis moves the literature toward a better integrated understanding of how gendered forces at the individual institutional and societal levels combine to reinforce and redefine gendered relationships to power in the public sphere The results can be generalized over time and across settings are meaningful even in periods when the answer to the question of whether women make a difference seems to be more frequently no than yes and point to strategies that may bolster the impact of women s presence for substantive representation of women has profoundly destabilized the imaginary unity and conceptual demarcation of the category Kang traces how Asian women have been alternately distinguished and effaced as subjects of the traffic in women sexual slavery and violence against women She also explores how specific modes of redress and justice were determined by several overlapping geopolitical and economic changes ranging from U S guided movements of capital across Asia and the end of the Cold War to the emergence of new media technologies that facilitated the global circulation of comfort women stories   Minding the Body Ellyn Kaschak,2014-01-27 Support and empower women who are coping with the pain fear and stigma of serious disease Being diagnosed with cancer chronic fatigue syndrome or fibromyalgia is a traumatic event that takes place at a time when the patient is already feeling physically and often emotionally drained Minding the Body combines feminist and social constructionist approaches to offer an intimate look into the ways a therapist can help clients cope with the pain fear and stigma of serious disease Minding the Body offers an alternative to the reductive view of the mind body connection and also examines the potential for growth that such experiences often allow The essays gathered here show how an effective therapist can help the client deal with the painful and difficult emotions that exacerbate illness while learning the emotional and spiritual lessons illness can teach Minding the Body presents both theoretical views and personal accounts of illness including scholarly discussions of the issues involved in autoimmune disorders a therapist s personal experience of chronic fatigue syndrome a personal and professional exposition of a woman s struggles with injury illness and managed care co written by client and therapist suggestions for understanding the social construction of illness and treating disease from a social constructivist point of view narratives reflecting on the change and growth of therapists diagnosed with cancer and other serious illnesses By looking at illness in the context of mind body society and medical establishment Minding the Body will help therapists doctors nurses counselors and clients deal with the grief disappointment and frustration of chronic and life threatening illness
