The Beach of Falesa Robert Louis Stevenson, 2005-04-01 White men die very suddenly in Fales Originally censored by its British publisher The Beach at Fales is a scathing critique of colonialism and economic imperialism that bravely takes on many of the 19th Century's strongest taboos miscegenation imperialism and economic exploitation It does so with a story that features a surprising and beguiling romance between an adventurous British trader and a young island girl against a background of increasing and mysterious hostility Are the native islanders plotting against the couple or is it the other white traders The result is a denouement that is astonishing in its violence Told in the unadorned voice of the trader it is a story that deftly combines the form of the exotic adventure yarn with the moral and psychological questing of great fiction The Art of The Novella Series Too short to be a novel too long to be a short story the novella is generally unrecognized by academics and publishers Nonetheless it is a form beloved and practiced by literature's greatest writers In the Art Of The Novella series Melville House celebrates this renegade art form and its practitioners with titles that are in many instances presented in book form for the first time The Beach of Falesá. Based on a Story by Robert Louis Stevenson Dylan Thomas, 1964

Folklore and the Fantastic in Nineteenth-Century British Fiction Dr Jason Marc Harris, 2013-04-28 Jason Marc Harris's ambitious book argues that the tensions between folk metaphysics and Enlightenment values produce the literary fantastic Demonstrating that a negotiation with folklore was central to the canon of British literature he explicates the complicated rhetoric associated with folkloric fiction His analysis includes a wide range of writers including James Barrie William Carleton Charles Dickens George Eliot Sheridan Le Fanu Neil Gunn George MacDonald William Sharp Robert Louis Stevenson and James Hogg These authors Harris suggests used folklore to articulate profound cultural ambivalence towards issues of class domesticity education gender imperialism nationalism race politics religion and metaphysics Harris's analysis of the function of folk metaphysics in nineteenth and early twentieth century narratives reveals the ideological agendas of the appropriation of folklore and the artistic potential of superstition in both folkloric and literary contexts of the supernatural
