Sedimentation And Tectonics Of The Welsh Basin:

Sedimentation and Tectonics of the Welsh Basin W. R. Fitches, N. H. Woodcock, 1987 There has been a recent upsurge in research into structural geology and sedimentology of Wales The breadth and the quantity of the activity particularly in previously under researched areas is reflected Chapters are arranged in approximate time order of the events described and new field data are set in their local tectonic context Speculation on models for the plate tectonic setting of Early Palaeozoic Wales is included with an examination of the necessary components Cambrian of SW Wales A.J. Rees, A.T. Thomas, M. Lewis, H.E. Hughes, P. Turner, 2014-11-25 This Memoir reviews revises and interprets the biostratigraphy lithostratigraphy process sedimentology palaeoenvironments and sequence stratigraphy of the classic Cambrian succession of SW Wales This 1250m thick clastic sedimentary succession of Terreneuvian to Furongian age was deposited in environments ranging from alluvial fan to mid outer shelf Two lithostratigraphical groups are distinguished each comprising six formations where possible and appropriate original and well known names are retained in harmony with current usage High resolution sequence stratigraphical techniques constrained by biostratigraphical data whenever possible allow the revised lithostratigraphy to be integrated with the western Avalonian chronostratigraphy developed in maritime Canada A twofold subdivision is recognized Megasequence 1 sequences 3 7 spans the Terreneuvian C2 and much of C3 with deposition occurring in an extensional rift like regime on an epeirogenically active platform Sequence 8 lies at the base of Megasequence 2 which extends from late C3 into the early Ordovician and represents passive margin sedimentation The Geology of England and Wales P. J. Brenchley, Peter Franklin Rawson, 2006 This second edition of The Geology of England and Wales is considerably expanded from its predecessor reflecting the increase in our knowledge of the region and particularly of the offshore areas Forty specialists have contributed to 18 chapters which cover a time range from 700 million years ago to 200 million years into the future A new format places all the chapters in approximately temporal order Both offshore and economic geology now form an integral part of appropriate chapters Caledonian Structures in Britain J.E. Treagus, 2012-12-06 This volume deals with those sites selected as part of the Geological Conservation Review GCR within the southern British part of the Caledonides that is the paratectonic Caledonides a Caledonian terrane without strong and pervasive deformation and metamorphism such as occurred further north This orogenic belt formed by long and complex processes of earth movements between 500 and 380 million years before the present late Cambrian to mid Devonian times and has been classic ground for geologists for two hundred years It is perhaps no accident that James Hutton in 1795 chose to illustrate his geostrophic cycle and unconformity with three visually explicit examples of the deformation wrought on Lower Palaeozoic rocks by Caledonian events The former Caledonian mountain chain which can be seen today in fragmented pieces in Scandinavia Britain and Ireland and North America was ultimately the result of the collision of two continental plates and the closure of a former ocean Iapetus Some of these fragments including those in Scandinavia southern Britain and the Republic of Ireland and the Maritime Provinces of Canada are thought to have lain on the south side of the ocean before collision the rest of North America northern Ireland and Scotland are thought to have lain north of the former Iapetus

Hinze,1982-01-01 Tectonic Controls and Signatures in Sedimentary Successions Lynne E. Frostick,2009-04-13 Stratigraphers and sedimentologists who are presently describing and interpreting the infill of sedimentary basins are generally agreed that it is difficult to disentangle the signatures of tectonic processes from those of climate and eustatic sea level change in the resultant rock succession Until better criteria are developed to distinguish between the roles played by the major variables it is still most useful to document and interpret basin fill architectures where we know from independent evidence that one of the main controls is likely to have been a major contributor This book contains a collection of papers describing situations where the tectonic setting is fairly well established and it can be assumed that at least the tectonic factor has contributed to the resultant signatures New Perspectives on the Old Red Sandstone Geological Society of London,2000 Petroleum Abstracts ,1991
