Contexts in Memory of John R McRae is dedicated to the memory of the eminent Chinese scholar John McRae and investigates the spread of early Chinese in a historical multilingual and interreligious context. Combining the expertise of scholars of Chinese, Tibetan, Uighur and Tangut Buddhism, the edited volume is based on a thorough study of manuscripts from Dunhuang, Turfan and Karakhoto, tracing the particular features of Chinese in the Northwestern and Northern regions of late medieval China.

Dao Companion to Chinese Buddhist Philosophy Youguo Wang, Sandra A. Wawrytko, 2019-01-31 Too often Buddhism has been subjected to the Procrustean box of western thought whereby it is stretched to fit fixed categories or had essential aspects lopped off to accommodate vastly different cultural norms and aims. After several generations of scholarly discussion in English speaking communities it is time to move to the next hermeneutical stage. Buddhist philosophy must be liberated from the confines of a quasi religious stereotype and judged on its own merits. Hence this work will approach Chinese Buddhism as a philosophical tradition in its own right, not as an historical afterthought nor as an occasion for comparative discussions that assume the west alone sets the standards for or is the origin of philosophy and its methodologies. Viewed within their own context, Chinese Buddhist philosophers have much to contribute to a wide range of philosophical concerns including metaphysics, epistemology, ethics, philosophy of language, philosophy of mind and philosophy of religion, even though Western divisions of philosophy may not exhaust the rich contents of Chinese Buddhist philosophy. Zen Buddhist

Rhetoric in China, Korea, and Japan Christoph Anderl, 2011-11-25 Through a diachronic and comparative approach, this book offers a comprehensive study of Zen Buddhist linguistic and rhetoric devices in China, Korea and Japan. It draws a vivid picture of the complexity of Zen Buddhist literary production in interaction with doctrinal and ritual issues as well as in response to the sociopolitical contexts. Buddhist Historiography in China John Kieschnick, 2022-07-29 Winner 2023

Toshihide Numata Book Award. Numata Center for Buddhist Studies at the University of California, Berkeley. Since the early days of Buddhism in China, monastics and laity alike have expressed a profound concern with the past. In voluminous historical works they attempted to determine as precisely as possible the dates of events in the Buddha's life, seeking to iron out discrepancies in varying accounts and pinpoint when he delivered which sermons. Buddhist writers chronicled the history of the Dharma in China as well as compiling biographies of eminent monks and nuns and detailing the rise and decline in the religion's fortunes under various rulers. They searched for evidence of karma in the historical record and drew on prophecy to explain the past. John Kieschnick provides an innovative, expansive account of how Chinese Buddhists have sought to understand their history through a Buddhist lens. Exploring a series of themes in mainstream Buddhist historiographical works from the fifth to the twentieth century, he looks not so much for what they reveal about the people and events they describe as for what they tell us about their compilers' understanding of history. Kieschnick examines how Buddhist doctrines influenced the search for the underlying principles driving history, the significance of genealogy in Buddhist writing and the transformation of Buddhist historiography in the twentieth century. This book casts new light on the intellectual history of
