During summer, a temperature of 25°C is maintained by the addition of the appropriate amount of ice water. The solution is stirred constantly to keep homogeneous. At the end of the reaction, 10 mL of concentrated hydrochloric acid is added to the solution and the mixture is stirred.

Hay que tener en el cumplimiento de las normas de higiene, fundamentalmente el lavado de manos, por parte de los trabajadores, veterinarios y personal sanitario.

Background: The literature shows that the prevalence of mental health problems is higher in people with chronic physical conditions than in the general population. However, the prevalence of mental health problems in people with chronic physical conditions is often underestimated. This is due to the fact that many people with chronic physical conditions do not report their mental health problems to their general practitioner (GP). The aim of this study was to investigate the prevalence of mental health problems in people with chronic physical conditions, taking into account both reported and unreported mental health problems.
