Lost in Familiar Places Edward R. Shapiro, A. Wesley Carr, 2011 Lost in Familiar Places Edward R. Shapiro, A. Wesley Carr, 1993-07-01 We live in a world of accelerating change marked by the decline of traditional forms of family community and professional life Both within families and in work places individuals feel increasingly lost unsure of the roles required of them In this book a psychoanalyst and an Anglican priest using a combination of psychoanalysis and social systems theory offer tools that allow people to create meaningful connections with one another and with the institutions within which they work and live The authors begin by discussing how life in a family prefigures and prepares the individual to participate in groups offering detailed case studies of families in therapy as illustrations They then turn to organizations describing how their consultations with an academic conference a mental hospital a law firm and a church parish helped members of these institutions to relate to one another by becoming aware of wider contexts for their experiences All the people within a group have their own subjectively felt perceptions of the environment According to Shapiro and Carr when individuals can negotiate a shared interpretation of the experience and of the purposes for which the group exists they can further their own development and that of their organizations The authors suggest how this can be accomplished They conclude with some broad speculations about the continuing importance of institutions for connecting the individual and society first novel Netochka Nezvanova written in 1849 remains the least studied and understood of the writer s long fiction but it was a seedbed for many topics and themes that became hallmarks of his major works Specifically Netochka Nezvanova was the first in Dostoevsky s corpus to focus on the psychology of children and the first to feature a woman in a leading and narrative role It was also the first work in Russian literature to deal with problems of the family In Heroine Abuse Thomas Marullo contends that Netochka Nezvanova also provides a striking example of what psychologists today call codependency the ways often deviant and destructive in which individuals bond with people places and things as well as with images and ideas to cope with the vicissitudes of life Marullo shows how at age twenty eight Dostoevsky intuited and illustrated the workings of relationship addiction almost a century and a half before it became the scholarly focus of practitioners of mental health The moral monsters infernal women children adults and adult children who populate Netochka Nezvanova seek codependence in people places and things and in images ideas and ideals to satiate cravings for love dominance and control as well as to indulge in narcissism sexual perversion and other aberrant or alternative behaviors Indeed in no other work would Dostoevsky examine such phenomena as pedophilia and lesbianism with such abandon Racing from tie to tie bond to bond and caught in a debilitating loop that they claim to detest but sadomasochistically enjoy the characters in Netochka Nezvanova wreak havoc on themselves and the world They do so moreover with impunity their addictions moving them from momentary exultation as self styled extraordinary men and women through prolonged darkness and despair and once again to old and new addictions for physical and emotional release Readers of Heroine Abuse will see Netochka Nezvanova as a timeless model in depicting codependency in the world of the twenty first century as it did in St Petersburg in 1849 Marullo s original work will appeal to scholars and students of Russian and comparative fiction to doctors psychologists and therapists to laymen and women interested in relationship addiction and finally to codependents and relationship addicts of all types

A Theology for Pastoral Psychotherapy Brian Grant, Richard L Dayringer, 2014-01-02 The role of the pastoral psychotherapist requires balance between the individual the community and God Are you ready to take on this challenge This unique book examines the role of pastoral psychotherapy as it relates to the individual the community and God and describes the process of pastoral psychotherapy in detail It identifies healing as a mark of God s activity and then shows how God through healing creates communities that ultimately shape the selves and personalities within them Pastoral psychotherapy is a sanctified act taking place in a sanctified space It occurs in sacred space as defined created hallowed by God the community the therapist and the client The delineating of this sanctified holy space separates what goes on in therapy from the secular ordinary processes of life A Theology for Pastoral Psychotherapy God s Play in Sacred Spaces finds God in the creation of each sacred space Pastoral psychotherapy has developed as a means of enabling individuals and communities to cope with the ills of the modern age It addresses sin and evil in today s world changing the way that clients relate to people ideas and events in their communities families and individual psyches A Theology for Pastoral Psychotherapy God s Play in Sacred Spaces describes the process of psychotherapy from a theological point of view It shows how God hallows sacred spaces and explores the power of God to stimulate the search for healing A Theology for Pastoral Psychotherapy God s Play in Sacred Spaces explores the sharing of selves as presented by theorists on intersubjectivity identifies the creation of the therapy dyad in the work of the Holy Spirit drawing on new trinitarian theology explores ways in which therapy both is and is not an extension of the work of Christ shows how God lures us toward spiritual growth links psychoanalysis to the mystical disciplines interweaving mystical Christianity object relations view of psychoanalysis and process theology Based on the theories of Bion Klein Winicott Bollas and Whitehead A Theology for Pastoral Psychotherapy God s Play in Sacred Spaces is an in depth examination of the intricate interplay of God community the individual and the therapist in pastoral psychotherapy at www.HaworthPress.com Psychodynamic Psychopharmacology David Mintz, M.D., 2022-02-10 The troubling increase in treatment resistance in psychiatry has many culprits the rise of biomedical psychiatry and corresponding sidelining of psychodynamic and psychosocial factors the increased emphasis on treating the symptoms rather than the person and a greater focus on the electronic medical record rather than the patient all of which point to a breakdown in the person centered prescriber patient relationship Psychodynamic Psychopharmacology illuminates a new path forward It examines the psychological and interpersonal mechanisms of pharmacological treatment resistance integrating research on evidence based prescribing processes with psychodynamic insights and skills to enhance treatment outcomes for patients who are difficult to treat The first part of the book explores the evidence base that guides how rather than simply what to prescribe It describes precisely what psychodynamic psychopharmacology is and why its emphasis on combining the often neglected psychosocial aspects of medication with biomedical considerations provides a more optimized approach to addressing treatment resistance Part II delves into the psychodynamics that contribute to pharmacological treatment resistance both when patients ambivalence about their illness the medication itself or their prescriber manifests in nonadherence and when medications support a negative identity or are used as replacements for healthy capacities Readers will gain basic skills for addressing the psychological and interpersonal dynamics that underpin both scenarios and will be better positioned to ameliorate interferences with the healthy use of medications The final section of the book offers detailed technical recommendations for addressing pharmacological treatment resistance It tackles issues that include countertransference driven irrational prescribing primitive dynamics such as splitting and projective identification and the overlap between psychopharmacological treatment resistance and the dynamics of treatment nonadherence and nonresponse in integrated and collaborative medical care settings By putting the individual patient back at the center of the therapeutic equation psychodynamic psychopharmacology as outlined in this book offers a model that moves beyond compliance and emphasizes instead the alliance between patient and prescriber In doing so it empowers patients to become more active contributors in their own recovery

Ford, In this startling new way to read the parables Ford unlocks seven of the longer parables attributed to Jesus He focuses on the two major characters in each parable who are separated by social inequality and he entirely bypasses the common approach that assumes that the superior character represents God and the subordinate character the Christian believer Drawing on his own therapeutic training Ford offers unique insight into the psychodynamics at work in the parables He proposes that the two characters are equally balanced in their multiple misperceptions of each other and shows how Jesus stories invite listeners to advert to issues of conflict and power and to struggle toward reconciliation
