Madwoman Chelsea Bieker, 2024-09-03 The rare kind of book that lives in your bones Ashley Audrain this novel tells a gripping story of motherhood and motherloss and the brutal mighty things women do to keep themselves and each other alive marking Chelsea Bieker as a major fiction talent Clove has gone to extremes to keep her past a secret Thanks to her lies she's landed the life of her dreams complete with a safe husband and two adoring children who will never know the terror that was routine in her own childhood If her buried anxiety threatens to breach the surface Clove if that is really her name focuses on finding the right supplement the right gratitude meditation But when she receives a letter from a woman's prison in California her past comes screeching into the present entangling her in a dangerous game with memory and the people she thought she had outrun As we race between her precarious present day life in Portland Oregon and her childhood in a Waikiki high rise with her mother and father Clove is forced to finally unravel the defining day of her life How did she survive that day and what will it take to end the cycle of violence Will the truth undo her or could it ultimately save her Bieker's writing is raw breathlessly confessional brilliant in its depiction of the long shadows cast by domestic violence the constant tension carried by survivors The New York Times Book Review This book made me laugh and cry It reads like a thriller and a love song It's about being crushed and rising strong Cheryl Strayed
