Redress For Victims Of Crimes Under International Law:

Redress for Victims of Crimes Under International Law Ilaria Bottigliero, 2013-11-11 Paradoxically victims of ordinary crimes such as fraud theft or assault can obtain redress through regular domestic channels whereas victims of such major atrocities as genocide war crimes or crimes against humanity have been left mostly uncompensated Until recently a pervasive climate of impunity for international crimes relegated victims to the political and legal periphery Over the last few years however the international community has begun to recognize that just as crimes under international law cannot be considered ordinary crimes victims of these crimes cannot be considered ordinary victims In this book Dr Bottigliero explores the origins evolution and practice relating to victims redress in domestic law regional and universal human rights regimes humanitarian law the law of State responsibility United Nations practice and international criminal law including the International Criminal Court She argues that the international community must now move beyond incomplete and fragmented approaches towards a much more comprehensive redress regime for victims of crimes under international law and she recommends means by which to enhance the coherence effectiveness and fairness of victims redress Reparations and Victim Support in the International Criminal Court Conor McCarthy, 2012-04-12 Explores the ICC's regime of victim redress including both its reparations regime and the work of the ICC Trust Fund International Law of Victims Carlos Fernández de Casadevante Romani, 2012-07-11 After having ignored victims only recently both domestic and international law have begun to pay attention to them As a consequence different international norms related to victims have progressively been introduced These are norms generally characterized by a certain concept from the perspective of victims as well as by the enumeration of a list of rights to which they are entitled to rights upon which the international statute of victims is built In reverse these catalogues of rights are the states obligations Most of these rights are already existent in the international law of human rights Consequently they are not new but consolidated rights Others are strictly linked to victims concerning the following categories victims of crime victims of abuse of power victims of gross violations of international human rights law victims of serious violations of international humanitarian law victims of enforced disappearance victims of violations of international criminal law and victims of terrorism International Prosecution of Human Rights Crimes Wolfgang Kaleck, Michael Ratner, Tobias Singelstein, Peter Weiss, 2006-11-22 1 In his separate opinion in the Nuclear Weapons case Judge Mohammed Bedoui then the President of the International Court of Justice called nuclear weapons the absolute evil There are a few other things which merit being called absolutely evil They are the predicates of the International Criminal Court and of various domestic laws patterned on the Rome Statute war crimes crimes against humanity genocide and aggression A conference organized by the Berlin based Republikanischer Anwaltinnen und Anwälteverein Republican Lawyers Association and the New York based Center for Constitutional Rights was held in Berlin in June 2005 under the title Globalverfassung versus Realpolitik Global Constitution versus Realpolitik It dealt with the tension between these universally accepted norms and the actual practice of governments in an age characterized by the ill defined concept of the war on terror This book is the outcome of that conference It is intended for a wide variety of readers academics all kinds of jurists as well as human rights activists who sometimes know more about the applicable law than the legal experts It owes its existence to a paradox On the one hand new structures for dealing with the most serious international crimes are being put into place

The Reparation System of the International Criminal Court Eva Dwertmann, 2010-03-02 When the Rome Statute for the International Criminal Court was adopted in 1998 one of its great innovations was that victims were granted an active role in the proceedings In its early jurisprudence on victims rights the International Criminal Court stated that the success of the Court is to some extent linked to the success of its reparation system This book is among the first to focus on the International Criminal Court's power to order reparations to victims It provides a comprehensive analysis of the legal framework of the reparation system taking into account relevant Court decisions Possibilities for its implementation are drawn up providing potential solutions for its multiple challenges including the distinct asymmetry between the individualized responsibility to provide reparations and the collective nature of the crimes and its consequences With its practical approach this book is particularly valuable for practitioners but also for students and researchers The Elgar Companion to the International Criminal Tribunal for Rwanda Anne-Marie de Brouwer, Alette Smeulders, 2016-12-30 The Elgar Companion to the International Criminal Tribunal for Rwanda is a one stop reference resource on this complex tribunal established in the aftermath of the 1994 genocide in Rwanda which closed its doors on 31 December 2015 This Companion provides an insightful account of the workings and legacy of the ICTR in the field of international criminal justice Practices of Reparations in International Criminal Justice Christoph Sperfeldt, 2022-07-07 Combining interdisciplinary techniques with original ethnographic fieldwork Christoph Sperfeldt examines the first attempts of international criminal courts to provide reparations to victims of mass atrocities The observations focus on two case studies the Extraordinary Chambers in the Courts of Cambodia where Sperfeldt spent over ten years working at and around and the International Criminal Court's interventions in the Democratic Republic of Congo Enriched with first hand observations and an awareness of contextual dynamics this book directs attention to the social life of reparations that too often get lost in formal accounts of law and its institutions Sperfeldt shows that reparations are constituted and contested through a range of practices that produce change and give meaning to reparations Appreciating the nature and effects of these practices provides us with a deeper understanding of the discrepancies that exist between the reparations ideal and how it functions imperfectly in different contexts
