Ground Motion Simulation

Based on Fault Rupture Modelling for Seismic Hazard Assessment in Site Evaluation for Nuclear Installations

International Atomic Energy Agency, 2015 Explaining the principles that underlie strong ground motion simulation this publication describes various methods for simulating strong ground motions and presents some examples of strong ground motion simulations using fault rupture modelling The detailed guidelines and practical tools presented in this Safety Report will be of value to researchers operating organizations regulatory bodies vendors and technical support organizations in the areas of seismic hazard evaluation of nuclear installations The information provided will also be of great importance for seismic hazard assessments following the Fukushima Daiichi nuclear power plant accident

Seismic Hazard Assessment in Site Evaluation for Nuclear Installations, 2016 The objective of this publication is to provide the state of the art practice and detailed technical elements related to ground motion evaluation by ground motion prediction equations GMPEs and site response in the context of seismic hazard assessments as recommended in IAEA Safety Standards Series No SSG 9 Seismic Hazards in Site Evaluation for Nuclear Installations The publication includes the basics of GMPEs ground motion simulation selection and adjustment of GMPEs site characterization and modelling of site response in order to improve seismic hazard assessment The text aims at delineating the most important aspects of these topics including current practices criticalities and open problems within a coherent framework In particular attention has been devoted to filling conceptual gaps It is written as a reference text for trained users who are responsible for planning preparatory seismic hazard analyses for siting of all nuclear installations and or providing constraints for anti seismic design and retrofitting of existing structures

Pister, 1980 Procedures for Evaluation of Vibratory Ground Motions of Soil Deposits at Nuclear Power Plant Sites U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission, 1975 Seismic Safety Margins Research Program, Phase I. Project II, 1980 A catalog has been prepared which contains information for 1 world wide ground motion accelerograms 2 the accelerograph sites where these records were obtained and 3 the seismological parameters of the causative earthquakes The catalog is limited to data for those accelerograms which have been digitized and published In addition the quality and completeness of these data are assessed This catalog is unique because it is the only publication which contains comprehensive information on the recording conditions of all known digitized accelerograms However information for many accelerograms is missing Although some literature may have been overlooked most of the missing data has not been published Nevertheless the catalog provides a convenient reference and useful tool for earthquake engineering research and applications Strong Ground Motion Seismology Mustafa Erdik, M.
