Liberalism versus Postliberalism John Allan Knight, 2012-11-16 The divide between liberal and postliberal theology is one of the most important and far reaching methodological disputes in twentieth century theology Their divergence in method brought related differences in their approaches to hermeneutics and religious language This split in the understanding of religious language is widely acknowledged but rigorous philosophical analysis and assessment of it is seldom seen Liberalism versus Postliberalism provides such analyses using the developments in analytic philosophy of language over the past forty years The book provides an original reading of the theology and falsification debates of the 1950s and 60s and Knight's interpretation of the debates supplies a philosophical lens that brings into focus the centrality of religious language in the methodological dispute between liberal and postliberal theologians Knight suggests that recent philosophical developments reveal problems with both positions and argues for a more inclusive method that takes seriously the aspirations of the debaters His book makes an important contribution to contemporary theological method to the understanding of liberal and postliberal theologies and to our understanding of the role of analytic philosophy in contemporary theology and religious studies Elementary

Calderhead, Peter Gates, 2003-09-02 Reflection has become widely recognised as a crucial element in the professional growth of teachers. Terms such as reflective teaching, enquiry orientated teacher education, teachers as researchers and reflective practitioner have become quite prolific in discussions of classroom practice and professional development. It is frequently presumed that reflection is an intrinsically good and desirable aspect of teaching and teacher education and that teachers in becoming more reflective will in some sense be better teachers, though such claims have been rarely subject to detailed scrutiny. Each of the chapters in this book is concerned with exploring the concept of reflection and considering its contributions to teacher education. The papers range across different stages of professional development, some focusing in particular on pre-service education, others on in-service or professional development generally. Some of the papers are concerned with particular strategies for promoting reflection and how they might operate in a teacher education context, others dwell more upon a theoretical appreciation of how reflection facilitates the processes of professional development and how it relates to issues of quality in teacher education. ABOUT VOLUME ONE Friendship is an outcome of as well as a condition for advancing interfaith relations. However, for friendship to advance, there must be legitimation from within and a theory of how interreligious relations can be justified from the resources of different faith traditions. Friendship Across Religions explores these very issues, seeking to develop a robust theory of interreligious friendship from the resources of each of the participating traditions. It also features individual cases as models and precedents for such relations, in particular the friendship of Gandhi and Charlie Andrews, his closest personal friend. Contributors: Balwant Singh Dhillon, Timothy J. Gianotti, Alon Goshen-Gottstein, Maria Reis Habito, Ruben L. F. Habito, Ryan McAnnally, Linz, Stephen Butler, Murray, Eleanor Nesbitt, Anantanand Rambachan, Meir Sender, Johann M. Vento, and Miroslav Volf. ABOUT VOLUME TWO This book tackles the core problem of how painful historical memories between diverse religious communities continue to impact even present-day relations. Its operative notion is the healing of memory, developed by John Paul II. Chapters explore how painful memories of yesteryear can be healed and so address some of the root causes. Strategies from six different faith traditions are brought together in what is in some ways a cross religious brainstorming session that identifies tools to improve present day relations At the other pole of the conceptual axis of this book is the notion of hope If memory informs our past hope sets the horizon for our future How does the healing of memory open new horizons for the future And what is the notion of hope in each of our traditions that could lead to a common vision of good Between memory and hope this book seeks to offer a vision of healing that can serve as a resource in contemporary interfaith relations Contributors Rahuldeep Singh Gill Alon Goshen Gottstein Maria Reis Habito Flora A Keshgegian Anantanand Rambachan Meir Sendor Muhammad Suheyl Umar and Michael von Br ck ABOUT VOLUME THREE The essays collected here prepared by a think tank of the Elijah Interfaith Academy explore the challenges associated with sharing wisdom learning teachings messages for good living How should religions go about sharing their wisdom These chapters representing six faith tradition Jewish Christian Muslim Hindu Sikh and Buddhist explore what wisdom means in each of these traditions why and how it should be shared internally and externally and the role of love and forgiveness in sharing This book offers a theory that can enrich ongoing encounters between members of faith traditions by suggesting a tradition based practice of sharing wisdom while preserving the integrity of the teaching and respecting the identity of anyone with whom wisdom is shared Contributors Pal Ahluwalia Timothy Gianotti Alon Goshen Gottstein Sallie B King Anantanand Rambachan Meir Sendor Miroslav Volf ABOUT VOLUME FOUR All the world s religions are experiencing rapid change due to a confluence of social and economic global forces Factors such as the pervasive intrusion of globalizing political and economic developments polarized and morally equivalent presentations seen in the media and the sense of surety demanded in and promised by a culture dominated by science are some of the factors that have placed extreme pressure on all religious traditions This has stimulated unprecedented responses by religious groups ranging from fundamentalism to the syncretistic search for meaning As religion takes on new forms the balance between individual and community is disrupted and reconfigured Religions often lose the capacity to recall their ultimate purpose or lead their adherents toward it This is the situation we call the crisis of the holy It is a confluence of threats challenges and opportunities for all religions This volume explores the contours of pressures changes and transformations and reflects on how all our religions are changing By identifying commonalities across religions as they respond to these pressures The Crisis of the Holy recommends ways religious traditions might cope with these changes and how they might join forces in doing so Contributors Vincent J Cornell Alon Goshen Gottstein Sidney H Griffith Maria Reis Habito B Barry Levy Deepak Sarma Michael von Br ck ABOUT VOLUME FIVE The chapters collected in this book prepared by a think tank of the Elijah Interfaith Academy address the subject of religious leadership The subject is of broad relevance in the training of religious leaders and in the practice of religious leadership As such it is also germane to religious thought where reflections on religious leadership occupy an important place What does it mean to be a religious leader in today s world To what degree are the challenges that confront religious leadership today the same perennial challenges that have arrested the attention of the faithful and their leaders for generations and to what degree do we encounter challenges today that are unique to our day and age One dimension is surely unique and that is the very ability to explore these issues from an interreligious perspective and to consider challenges opportunities and strategies across religious traditions Studying the theme across six faith traditions Christianity Islam Judaism Sikhism Hinduism and Buddhism The Future of Religious Leadership World Religions in Conversation recognizes the common challenges to present day religious leadership Contributors Awet Andemicael Timothy J Gianotti Alon Goshen Gottstein Anantanand Rambachan Maria Reis Habito Meir Sendor Balwant Singh Dhillon Miroslav Volf VOLUME SIX One of the biggest challenges for relations between religions is the view of the religious Other The question touches the roots of our theological views The Religious Other Hostility Hospitality and the Hope of Human Flourishing explores the views of multiple religious traditions on how to regard otherness How does one move from hostility to hospitality How can hospitality be understood not simply as social hospitality but as theological hospitality making room for the religious Other on theological grounds What is our vision for the flourishing of the Other while respecting his otherness This volume is an exercise in constructive interreligious theology By including Abrahamic and non Abrahamic traditions it approaches these challenges from multiple perspectives highlighting commonalities in approach and ways in which one tradition might inspire another Contributors Vincent J Cornell Alon Goshen Gottstein Richard P Hayes Lord Rabbi Jonathan Sacks Deepak Sarma Stephen W Sykes Dharma Master Hsin Tao Ashok Vohra Engage Matthew Floding, 2017-01-05 Theological field education in which a ministry student steps out of the classroom and begins practicing with the supervision of a mentor is a critical part of accredited ministry programs Engage equips both students and their supervisor mentors to engage in this important opportunity with energy and imagination and it prepares students for the challenging work of integrating theory into real world practice Engage provides coaching from recognized experts in the arts of ministry preaching administration evangelism pastoral care public ministry leadership faith formation liturgical arts and more Other chapters address themes such as race gender and ministry across faith traditions or no faith tradition The book addresses field education in a range of contexts from churches to non profits Engage offers a valuable resource for students making the most of their transition from the classroom into real world ministry with all its joys and many challenges

Researching Pedagogy and Practice with Canadian Mathematics Teachers David A Reid, Christine Suurtamm, Annie Savard, Elaine Simmt, Dominic Manuel, Lisa Lunney Borden, Richard Barwell, 2020-06-01 The past two decades have seen an increased interest in education especially in core areas such as mathematics language and science This is in part a consequence of the increase in the number of international comparisons of educational outcomes such as PISA and TIMSS Much research has focused on the contributions that curricula financial resources parental support and so on might have on educational outcomes A factor that seems likely to have a very significant effect on student achievement teachers practices and beliefs has received little attention This book reports results from a research program that sought to develop and employ research methods to compare teachers practices and beliefs across Canada It provides insight into the challenge of such research and describes teachers contexts beliefs and practices and how they differ in four regions and across two languages Using a multivocal ethnography approach Tobin 1999 teachers were involved in the preparation and discussion of videos of their own teaching and that of others This approach resulted in not only insights into the teachers pedagogies and practices but also opportunities for the teachers to reflect on their own teaching in new ways and for researchers to reflect on research practices and orientations The work is innovative in several ways In a field crowded with research on teachers practices beliefs and knowledge this research helps to unearth the implicit values that underlie the way teachers see teaching itself Through the process of observation of each other s practice the teachers became aware of their own pedagogies giving them new insights into their values and practices Researchers also engaged in a parallel process of reflection on their own practices as observers of teachers with similar insights into the values guiding their work This book will be of interest to government policy makers teachers and teacher educators as well as researchers in Mathematics Education Members of the AERA SIG in Research in Mathematics Education the Canadian Mathematics Education Study Group the NCTM and provincial Mathematics teacher associations are potential readers Praise for Researching Pedagogy and Practice with Canadian Mathematics Teachers What a treasure This book is an important resource for anyone interested in high quality mathematics teaching It fills a gap in our understanding of how mathematics is taught across Canada where students are among the highest performing on international mathematics assessments The studies reported are conceptually grounded methodologically rigorous and filled with nuanced observations of the similarity and variation in classroom teaching across many of the Canadian provinces Edward A Silver Senior Associate Dean for Research Graduate Studies William A Brownell Collegiate Professor of Education Professor of Mathematics University of Michigan
