Kazakhstan, Kyrgyz Republic, Tajikistan, Turkmenistan, and Uzbekistan International Monetary Fund, 1999-08-31 This occasional paper provides an overview of the economic reform experiences of the Central Asian states of the former Soviet Union since their independence at the turn of the decade The choice of countries reflects not only a geographical grouping but also similarities in the types of transition challenges faced by these countries notwithstanding considerable variations in their sizes ethnic composition resource endowments and economic structures The paper attempts to identify a number of key macroeconomic and structural areas where the slower reformers in the group might benefit from the experience of the faster reformers Reforming the Ruble Josef C. Graham Nina Oding and Paul J J Welfens Eastern Europe and the former Soviet Union have achieved sustained economic growth in first half of the new decade in the 21st century EU accession countries which have joined the EU have benefited mainly from high capital inflows a reduced risk premium with shadow effects of this already occurring in the years before explicit membership and growing trade While system transformation has undermined trade between Eastern Europe and Russia for several years there are medium prospects for growing trade in the whole of Europe Russia's case however is different from the EU accession countries as a major driving force of economic dynamics is the oil and gas sector which has considerable backward and forward linkages At the same time this sector apparently is politically quite sensitive The Transatlantic Transformation and Economic Development Research Group has organized several workshops within a major international research project The project is devoted to analyzing the internationalization of the Russian economy and the associated changes in major policy fields This book contains the revised analytical papers from the St Petersburg conference in 2003 when the city celebrated its 300 year anniversary We are very grateful to the Leontief Center for excellent organization of the conference The paper by Paul J J Fueling Reform, 1994
