Yebra, 2020-01-28 This is the first book on Naomi Alderman's literary production and highlights the writer's transcultural recasting of British and Jewish traditions The four novels analysed here prove to be relevant not only from a literary viewpoint but also from the fields of ethics spirituality and politics The analysis thus focuses on issues such as alterity and respect towards the other in a globalized context As such the book will be of interest to literary critics researchers and students in the fields of literature ethics and social and cultural studies The reader will find in the text a comprehensive approach to a young writer who undoubtedly deserves attention given her interrogation of varied and socially relevant topics including gender and sexual orientation in the early twenty first century the rewriting of the Sacred Scriptures and the discourse of feminist posthuman dystopias New Literatures of Old Dídac Llorens-Cubedo, José Ramón Prado-Pérez, 2009-05-27 Artistic creativity is fuelled by the permanent interaction among artistic forms cultures societies and eventually different individuals in the form of an all inclusive intertextuality. The dialogues between the past and the present help the artist examine his own art making him conscious of his position in the field whether through self evaluation renewal or experiment with new textualities This book explores how the strategies reflecting the exchanges between past and present modes of artistic production become active agents of intervention in creating the various spaces of dialogue and confrontation when establishing the identities and cultural specificity of a certain society or community Edinburgh Companion to the Arab Novel in English Nouri Gana, 2015-04-17 Opening up the field of diasporic Anglo Arab literature to critical debate this companion spans from the first Arab novel in 1911 to the resurgence of the Anglo Arabic novel in the last 20 years There are chapters on authors such as Ameen Rihani Ahdaf Neo-Victorianism and Sensation Fiction Jessica Cox, 2019-11-11 This book represents the first full length study of the relationship between neo Victorianism and nineteenth century sensation fiction It examines the diverse and multiple legacies of Victorian popular fiction by authors such as Wilkie Collins and Mary Elizabeth Braddon tracing their influence on a range of genres and works including detective fiction YA writing Gothic literature and stage and screen adaptations In doing so it forces a reappraisal of critical understandings of neo Victorianism in terms of its origins and meanings as well as offering an important critical intervention in popular fiction studies. The work traces the afterlife of Victorian sensation fiction taking in the neo Gothic writing of Daphne du Maurier and Victoria Holt contemporary popular historical detective and YA fiction by authors including Elizabeth Peters and Philip Pullman and the literary fiction of writers such as Joanne Harris and Charles Palliser The work will appeal to scholars and students of Victorian fiction neo Victorianism and popular culture alike Under Postcolonial Eyes Efraim Sicher, Linda Weinhouse, 2013-01-01 In the Western literary tradition the jew has long been a figure of ethnic exclusion and social isolation the wanderer the scapegoat the alien But it is no longer clear where a perennial outsider belongs This provocative study of contemporary British writing points to the figure of the jew as the litmus test of multicultural society Efraim Sicher and Linda Weinhouse examine the jew as a cultural construction distinct from the Jewishness of literary characters in novels by among others Salman Rushdie Anita Desai Doris Lessing Monica Ali Caryl Philips and Zadie Smith as well as contemporary art and film Here the image of the jew emerges in all its ambivalence from postcolonial migrant and modern everyman to more traditional representations of the conspirator and malefactor The multicultural discourses of ethnic and racial hybridity reflect dissolution of national and personal identities yet the search for transnational cultural forms conceals both the acceptance of marginal South Asian Caribbean and Jewish voices as well as the danger of resurgent antisemitic tropes Innovative in its contextualization of the jew in the multiculturalism debate in contemporary Britain Under Postcolonial Eyes Figuring the jew in Contemporary British Writing analyzes the narrative of identities in a globalized culture and offers new interpretations of postmodern classics

Rewriting/Reprising in Literature Claude Maisonnat, Josiane Paccaud-Huguet, Annie Ramel, 2009-10-02 This volumes includes a series of 17 selected essays preceded by a methodological introduction whose purpose is to offer a fresh outlook on the question of rewriting reprising The argument taking for granted the phenomenon of intertextuality develops along three main axes the first one reconsiders the already debated issue of authority on post structuralist premises arguing that the origin of a text is untraceable The second looks at a phenomenon often associated with reprising especially in a post colonial context trauma whether individual or historical in relation to creative repetition The third axis offers a re reading of the question of voice introducing the notion of the textual voice understood as that part of the enunciative act over which the author has no control When writers make of reprising a deliberate practise we are tempted to believe that their position between homage and pillage presupposes the existence of a traceable source of the literary Word We must however face the problematic nature of enunciation the void on which is is founded Which leads us to the proposition that the act of reprising is a creation ex nihilo a certain mode of organisation around that void Besides in a century of major man made traumas whose effect was the tearing up of social fabrics reprising will assume a more complex significance the symptomatic repetitive stitching of what is being constantly ripped up "Like some damned Juggernaut" Johannes Notional Identities Thomas Christie, 2014-07-18 Notional Identities takes up the challenge of Weber, 2015-10-06 engaging with the popular genres of speculative fiction and crime fiction by Scottish authors from the mid 1970s until the beginning of the twenty first century examining a variety of significant novels from across the decades in the light of wider considerations of ideology genre and national identity. The book investigates the extent to which the national political and cultural climate of this tumultuous era informed the narrative form and social commentary of such works and considers the manner in which and the extent to which a specific and identifiably Scottish response to these ideological matters can be identified in popular prose fiction during the period under discussion Although Scottish literary fiction of recent decades has been studied in considerable depth Scottish popular genre literature has received markedly less critical scrutiny in comparison Notional Identities aims to help in redressing this balance examining popular Scottish texts of the stated period in order to reflect upon whether a significant relationship can be discerned between genre fiction and the mainstream of Scottish literary writing and to consider the characteristics of the literary connections which exist between these different modes of writing My Words Echo Thus Barry Lewis, 2007 A reading of Ackroyd that maps the influence of his historical The Nineteenth Century Revis(it)ed Ina Bergmann, 2020-12-29 The Nineteenth and fiction writings on one another Century Revis it ed The New Historical Fiction explores the renaissance of the American historical novel at the turn of the twenty first century The study examines the revision of nineteenth century historical events in cultural products against the background of recent theoretical trends in American studies It combines insights of literary studies with scholarship on popular culture The focus of representation is the long nineteenth century a period from the early republic to World War I as a key epoch of the nation building project of the United States The study explores the constructedness of historical tradition and the cultural resonance of historical events within the discourse on the contemporary novel and the theory formation surrounding it At the center of the discussion are the unprecedented literary output and critical as well as popular success of historical fiction in the USA since 1995 An additional postcolonial and transatlantic perspective is provided by the incorporation of texts by British and Australian authors and especially by the inclusion of insights from neo Victorian studies The book provides a critical comment on current and topical developments in American literature culture and historiography
