through life Economies of Death Patricia J. Lopez, Kathryn A. Gillespie, 2015-04-24 Economies of Death Economic Logics of Killable Life and Grievable Death examines the economic logic involved in determining whose lives and deaths come to matter and why Drawing from eight distinct case studies focused on the killability and grievability of certain humans animals and environmental systems this book advances an intersectional theory of economies of death A key feature of late modern capitalism is its tendency to economically order certain human and nonhuman lives and environments while appropriating and commodifying certain bodies and spaces in the process Spanning the social sciences and humanities in its contributions and scope each chapter shows how living beings and places are stripped down to the calculus of their end with profound ethical and political implications for these entities and the world around them From the genocide in Cambodia to the way some animals are considered pets and others food from September 11 2001 and Afghanistan to the politics of redemption for prisoners and ex racehorses in Kentucky these case studies draw from and develop an enriched understanding of bio and necropolitics posthumanism killability and grievability In drawing together the objectification of humans animals and environments and the power laden hierarchies that maintain this objectification this volume highlights how death across these subjects informs and responds to broader geo economic processes This book aims to examine the reach of economies of death across such diverse subjects challenging readers to consider the every day calculus they make in determining whose lives mean more and why Rabies Symptoms, Diagnosis, Prophylaxis and Treatment Charles Rupprecht, 2018-02-21 This book is a printed edition of the Special Issue Rabies Symptoms Diagnosis Prophylaxis and Treatment that was published in TropicalMed Savanna Woody Plants and Large Herbivores Peter Frank Scogings, Mahesh Sankaran, 2019-09-30 Insights on current research and recent developments in understanding global savanna systems Increasingly recognized as synonymous with tropical grassy biomes savannas are found in tropical and sub tropical climates as well as warm temperate regions of North America Savanna Woody Plants and Large Herbivores examines the interactions between woody plants and browsing mammals in global savannas focusing primarily on the C4 grassy ecosystems with woody components that constitute the majority of global savannas and discusses contemporary savanna management models and applications This much needed addition to current research examines topics including the varying behavior of browsing mammals the response to browsing by woody species and the factors that inhibit forage intake Contributions from an international team of active researchers and experts compare and contrast different savanna ecosystems offering a global perspective on savanna functioning the roles of soil and climate in resource availability and organism interaction and the possible impacts of climate change across global savannas Fills a gap in literature on savanna management issues including biodiversity conservation and animal production Applies concepts developed in other biomes to future savanna research Complements contemporary books on savanna or large herbivore ecology Focuses on the woody component of savanna ecosystems and large herbivore interactions in savannas Compares tree mammal systems of savannas and other eco systems of temperate and boreal regions

Provides numerous case studies of plant mammal interactions from various savanna ecosystems Savanna Woody Plants and Large Herbivores is a valuable addition to those in fields such as ecology wildlife and conservation biology natural resource management and environmental science Amphibian and Reptile Road Ecology Cheryl S. Brehme,Robert Nathan Fisher,Silviu O. Petrovan,Viorel Dan Popescu,Thomas Edward S. Langton,Kimberly M. Andrews,2024-05-21 Roads may threaten the persistence of wildlife populations by acting as barriers to movement and or sources of increased mortality across the landscape Amphibians and reptiles have been identified as being particularly susceptible to negative road impacts Many species migrate annually among habitats to support basic life history requirements such as breeding development foraging and overwintering For these species individuals may need to successfully cross roads multiple times each year for the population to persist Many are slow moving and freeze in the presence of danger making it almost impossible for them to avoid oncoming vehicles Although there are a plethora of road mortality location and count data the effects of road mortality on the long term viability of amphibian and reptile populations and metapopulations are mostly unknown due to a lack of information on their abundance vital rates behavior and spatial and temporal dynamics The Drosophila Model in Cancer Wu-Min Deng,2019-09-13 This volume provides a series of review articles that capture the advances in using the fruit fly Drosophila melanogaster model system to address a wide range of cancer related topics Articles in this book provide case studies that shed light on the intricate cellular and molecular mechanisms underlying tumor formation and progression Readers will discover the beauty of the fly model s genetic simplicity and the vast arsenal of powerful genetic tools enabling its efficient and adaptable use This model organism has provided a unique opportunity to address questions regarding cancer initiation and development that would be extremely challenging in other model systems This book provides a useful resource for a researcher who wishes to learn about and apply the Drosophila model to tackle fundamental questions in cancer biology and to find new ways to fight against this devastating disease Deer-vehicle Crash Countermeasure Toolbox Keith K.
