Robert Irwin Getty Garden:

Robert Irwin Getty Garden Lawrence Weschler, 2020-06-18 A beautifully illustrated accessible volume about one of the Getty Center's best loved sites Among the most beloved sites at the Getty Center the Central Garden has aroused intense interest from the moment artist Robert Irwin was awarded the commission First published in 2002 Robert Irwin Getty Garden is comprised of a series of discussions between noted author Lawrence Weschler and Irwin providing a lively account of what Irwin has playfully termed a sculpture in the form of a garden aspiring to be art The text revolves around four garden walks extended conversations in which the artist explains the critical choices he made from plant materials to steel in the creation of a living work of art that has helped to redefine what a modern garden can and should be This updated edition features new photography of the Central Garden in a smaller more accessible format The Art Experience in Robert Irwin's Getty Garden Erika Leon, 2012 Robert Irwin's Central Garden at the Getty Museum, 2016 Robert Irwin was born in Long Beach California in 1928 As a young man he worked as a lifeguard and professional swing dancer while creating his early paintings In the 1950s he became a pioneer of the Light and Space movement popular with a handful of now very influential southern California artists Later in the 1960s and 1970s he moved away from painting and developed what he called conditional art or art that was created in direct response to various physical experiential and situation conditions In the early 1990s he was brought in by the Getty Trust to design the new Getty Museum's garden Although the museum's architect Richard Meier was not a fan of Irwin's imaginative creation the Getty Central Garden has proved to be extremely popular with visitors and is now regarded as a masterpiece of landscape art In this interview Irwin discusses his approach to conditional art and how it influenced the process of creating the Central Garden and he considers how the garden might continue to evolve in the years and decades to come In the second session of this interview Irwin is joined by Jim Duggan the master gardener who helped Irwin achieve his vision by providing Irwin with access the necessary raw materials and on occasion reining him in when his ideas exceeded the climatic and physical realities of the site The Art of Perception Jennifer Kay Zell, 2007 The California Garden Tour Donald Olson, 2017-08-09 A fantastic garden journey that only California can provide In The California Garden Tour veteran travel writer Donald Olson highlights 50 outstanding public gardens and provides all the information you need to make the most of your visit From San Francisco and the East Bay to Palm Springs and San Diego Olson includes iconic gardens like the Getty Center new favorites like Alcatraz and uniquely Californian destinations like Lotusland and Sunnylands The easy to use format includes visitor information an evocative description and full color photography for each garden Seeing the Getty Gardens Jeffrey Hirsch, J. Paul Getty Museum, 1998 A World of Gardens John Dixon Hunt, 2014-05-14 A Japanese garden is immediately distinct to the eye from the traditional gardens of an English manor house just as the manicured topiaries of Versailles contrast with the sharp cacti of the American Southwest Though gardening is beloved the world over the style of gardens themselves varies from region to region determined as much by culture as climate In this series of illustrated essays John Dixon Hunt takes us on a world tour of different periods in the making of gardens Hunt shows here how cultural assumptions and local geography have shaped gardens and their meaning He explores our continuing responses to land and reworkings of the natural world encompassing a broad range of gardens from ancient Roman times to early Islamic and Mughal gardens from Chinese and Japanese gardens to the invention of the public park and modern landscape architecture A World of Gardens looks at key chapters in garden history reviewing their significance past and present and tracing the recurrence of different themes and motifs in the design and reception of gardens throughout the world A World of Gardens celebrates the idea that similar experiences of gardens can be found in many different times and places including sacred landscapes scientific gardens urban gardens secluded gardens and symbolic gardens Featuring two hundred images this book is a treasure trove of ideas and inspiration whether your garden is a window box a secluded backyard or a daydream Gardens for the Future Guy Cooper, Gordon I. Taylor, 2000 The importance of the site whether ecological geological or historical is a significant influence on landscape architecture And three twentieth century garden designers Luis Barragan Isamu Noguchi and Roberto Burle Marx continue to inspire the evolution of contemporary landscape design Twenty case studies illustrating these themes accompanied by color photographs plans sketches and models comprise the second half of the book BOOK JACKET The Big Fish Anna J. Bonshek, Corrina Bonshek, Lee C. Fergusson, 2007 While debate continues in the fields of the sciences and humanities as to the nature of consciousness and the location of consciousness in the brain or as a field phenomenon in the Vedic tradition consciousness has been understood and continues to be articulated as an infinite field of intelligence at the basis of all forms of existence This infinite field of intelligence is accessible to human awareness being the very nature of the mind and the structuring dynamics of the physiology from the DNA to the cell tissues organs and to the whole body and its sophisticated functioning This two part volume The Big Fish Consciousness as Structure Body and Space considers in Part One the Vedic approach to consciousness specifically referencing Maharishi Vedic Science and discusses themes pertinent to the arts including perception and cognition memory as awareness history and culture artistic performance and social responsibility observatory instruments as spaces and structures to enhance consciousness and beyond metaphor architectural sites as multi layered enclosures of the brain detailed in the Shrimad Devi Bhagavatam and as cosmic habitat or Vastu aligned to the celestial bodies Presenting some more general consciousness based readings Part Two includes essays by various authors on Agnes Martin and her views on art perfection and the Classic unified field based education and freedom of expression versus censorship in art prints from the Renaissance to the contemporary era as allegories of consciousness the work of Australian artist Michael Kane Taylor as beyond a modern postmodern dichotomy the photographic series The Ocean of Beauty by Mark Paul Petrick referencing the Vedic text the Saundarya Lahari a Deleuzian analysis of the dual screen multi arts work Reverie I and an account of the making of Reverie II a single screen video

Seeing Is Forgetting the Name of the Thing One Sees Lawrence Weschler, 2008 Robert Irwin perhaps the most influential of the California artists moved from his beginnings in abstract expressionism through successive shifts in style and sensibility into a new aesthetic territory altogether one where philosophical concepts of perception and the world interact Weschler has charted the journey with exceptional clarity and cogency He has also in the process provided what seems to me the best running history of postwar West Coast art that I have yet seen Calvin Tomkins literary analysis he addresses the problem of how to discuss understand and appreciate places that are experienced through all the senses over time and through space Hunt questions our intellectual and aesthetic understanding of gardens and designed landscapes and asks how these sites affect us emotionally Do gardens have meaning When we visit a fine garden or designed landscape we experience a unique work of great complexity in purpose which has been executed over a number of years a work that occasionally achieves beauty While direct experience is fundamental Hunt demonstrates how the ways in which gardens and landscapes are communicated in word and image can be equally important He returns frequently to a cluster of key sites and writings on which he has based much of his thinking about garden making and its role in landscape architecture the gardens of Rousham in Oxfordshire Thomas Whately s Observations on Modern Gardening 1770 William Gilpin s dialogues on Stowe 1747 Alexander Pope s meditation on genius loci the D sert de Retz Paolo Burgi s Cardada and the designs by Bernard Lassus and Ian Hamilton Finlay ,
