concerned by America's moral vision admitted I've come to believe that we are integrating into a burning house In A Burning House Brandon Washington contends that American Evangelicalism is a house ablaze burning in the destructive fires of discrimination and injustice The stain of segregation remains prevalent not only in our national institutions but also in our churches and this has long tarnished the witness of Christianity and hampered our progress toward a Christ-like vision of Shalom peace justice and wholeness in the world Common doctrine may unite black and white evangelicals but rifts such as social ethics and cultural influences still separate us Throughout this challenging but reconciliatory book Washington gives a historical and theological appraisal of American evangelicalism to understand how we came to be where we are and what our response should be Instead of calling the movement to become something new he challenges it to live into what it has always been in Christ and strive for deliberate and sacrificial integration the unity of believers of all ethnicities A Burning House is a rallying call to a waning movement whose most public leaders have often turned a blind eye to or even justified the sin of racism a movement whose theology is sometimes compromised by a secular anthropology This is a call to both white and black evangelicals to better understand our past so that we can better embrace the unifying and comprehensive message of the gospel we preach The Oxford Handbook of Presbyterianism Gary Scott Smith, P.C. Presbyterianism emerged during the sixteenth century Protestant Reformation It spread from the British Isles to North America in the early eighteenth century During the nineteenth and twentieth centuries Presbyterian denominations grew throughout the world Today there are an estimated 35 million Presbyterians in dozens of countries The Oxford Handbook of Presbyterianism provides a state-of-the-art reference tool written by leading scholars in the fields of religious studies and history These thirty-five articles cover major facets of Presbyterian history theological beliefs worship practices ecclesiastical forms and structures as well as important ethical political and educational issues Eschewing parochial and sectarian triumphalism prominent scholars address their particular topics objectively and judiciously Fatal Self-Deception Eugene D. Genovese, Elizabeth Fox-Genovese, 2011-10-24 Slaveholders were preoccupied with presenting slavery as a benign paternalistic institution in which the planter took care of his family and slaves were content with their fate In this book Eugene D. Genovese and Elizabeth Fox-Genovese discuss how slaveholders perpetuated and rationalized this romanticized version of life on the plantation Slaveholders' paternalism had little to do with ostensible benevolence kindness and good cheer It grew out of the necessity to discipline and morally justify a system of exploitation At the same time this book also advocates the examination of masters' relations with white plantation laborers and servants a largely unstudied subject Southerners drew on the work of British and European socialists to conclude that all labor white and black suffered de facto slavery and they championed the South's Christian slavery as the most humane and compassionate of social systems ancient and modern J.
