Creative Listening and the Psychoanalytic Process Fred Griffin, 2016-08-25 Contemporary psychoanalytic thinking about the interdependence of subjectivity and intersubjectivity has reenvisioned the analytic process and with it the very nature of creative and engaged psychoanalytic listening Yet few systematic writings on psychoanalytic listening or technique provide comprehensive instruction that would prepare the analyst for the kind of analytic listening needed to participate imaginatively in this sort of intersubjective experience Offering a short course in analytic listening Creative Listening and the Psychoanalytic Process provides a guide for the clinical uses of imaginative literature Outside the psychoanalytic literature extraordinary pieces of imaginative literature exist that provide the kind of experience in analytic listening that can guide clinicians in their work with patients Certain works of fiction create textured sensory worlds in which complex characters possessing shifting states of consciousness live within fluid emotional atmospheres In this book Fred Griffin demonstrates that by entering the worlds that original writers create in their texts the psychoanalytic therapist will learn to attend more closely to varying emotional states that generate nuanced multidimensional views of the analysand's internal and relational worlds He illustrates how these works capture more fully the sensory experience encountered by psychoanalysts when taking in what the patient communicates within the analytic space Creative Listening and the Psychoanalytic Process presents case material alongside selected passages from works of fiction written by a range of creative writers each of which stimulates analytic sensibility about this clinical experience A conceptual framework is provided that makes these and other original works of fiction more accessible for these purposes This book will be essential reading for psychoanalysts and psychoanalytic psychotherapists as well as professors and graduate students studying psychoanalysis and literature It will also appeal to literary scholars and those teaching and practicing in the field of narrative medicine

The Ethics of Psychoanalysis Thomas Szasz, 1988-12-01 In the Ethics of Psychoanalysis Thomas Szasz describes psychotherapy as a social action not as healing Conceived in this way psychoanalytic treatment is characterized by its aim to increase the patient's knowledge of themselves and others and hence freedom of choice in the conduct of their life by its method the analysis of communications rules and games and lastly by its social context a contractual rather than a therapeutic relationship between analyst and the one being analyzed The Ethics of Psychoanalysis remains one of the most concise precise and lucid expositions of the nature possibilities and limitation of psychoanalytic treatment to be found anywhere

Contingency, Immanence, and the Subject of Rhetoric Timothy Richardson, 2013-08-14 Contingency Immanence and the Subject of Rhetoric considers rhetoric as the historical counterpoint of philosophical and religious discourses via its correspondences with antique rabbinic exegetical practices and contemporary psychoanalytic insights into causation Timothy Richardson takes up the rabbinic position to demonstrate how traditional Greco Christian rhetoric might be insufficient to account for what we now mean by rhetoric as a discipline

Explorations in Psychoanalytic Ethnography Jadran Mimica, 2007-05-01 Whereas most anthropological research is grounded in social cultural and biological analysis of the human condition this volume opens up a different approach its concerns are the psychic depths of human cultural life worlds as explored through psychoanalytic practice and or the psychoanalytically framed ethnographic project In fact some contributors here argue that the anthropological interpretation of human existence is not sustainable without psychoanalysis others take a less extreme radical stance but still maintain that the unconscious matrix of the human psyche and of the intersubjective social reality of any given cultural life world is a vital domain of anthropological and sociological inquiry and understanding
