Segregation And Apartheid In Twentieth Century South Africa:

Segregation and Apartheid in Twentieth-century South Africa William Beinart, 1995 This work introduces students to a range of interpretations of one of South Africa's central social characteristics racial segregation It brings together eleven articles which span the whole history of segregation from its origins to its final collapse

Twentieth-Century South Africa William Beinart, 2001-10-04 An innovative examination of the forces both destructive and dynamic which have shaped twentieth century South Africa This book provides a stimulating introduction to the history of South Africa in the twentieth century It draws on the rich and lively tradition of radical history writing on that country and to a greater extent than previous accounts weaves economic and cultural history into the political narrative Apartheid and industrialization especially mining are central theme as is the rise of nationalism in the Afrikaner and African communities But the author also emphasizes the neglected significance of rural experiences and local identities in shaping political consciousness The roles played by such key figure as Smuts Verwoerd de Klerk Plaatje and Mandela are explored while recent historiographical trends are reflected in analyses of rural protest white cultural politics the vitality of black urban life and environmental decay The book assesses the analysis of black reactions to apartheid the rise of the ANC The concluding chapter brings this seminal history up to date tackling the issues and events from 1994 1999 in particular the success of Mandela and the ANC in seeing through the end of apartheid rule It also looks at the chances of a stable future for the new found democracy in South Africa

Settlers at the end of empire Jean P. Smith, 2022-07-12 Settlers at the end of empire traces the development of racialised migration regimes in South Africa Rhodesia present day Zimbabwe and the United Kingdom from the Second World War to the end of apartheid in 1994 While South Africa and Rhodesia like other settler colonies had a long history of restricting the entry of migrants of colour in the 1960s under existential threat and after abandoning formal ties with the Commonwealth they began to actively recruit white migrants the majority of whom were British At the same time with the 1962 Commonwealth Immigrants Act the British government began to implement restrictions aimed at slowing the migration of British subjects of colour In all three nations these policies were aimed at the preservation of nations imagined as white revealing the persistence of the racial ideologies of empire across the era of decolonisation

The Politics of Race, Class and Nationalism in Twentieth Century South Africa S. Mark, Stanley Trapido, S. Marks, 2014-09-25 The standard of contribution is high the reader gets a good sense of the cutting edge of historical research African Affairs

Traditional Leadership and Democratisation in Southern Africa Sandra Düsing, 2002 What are the impacts of ethnically based traditional political institutions on democratic state and nation building in Southern Africa and how do heterogeneous

sources of legitimacy affect the prospects of long term democratic regime consolidation What are the impacts of traditionalism employed for purposes of party political mobilization An indicator for the political influence of traditional leadership in Southern Africa is the fact that a considerable number of democratically elected politicians in high office originate from aristocratic families representing hereditary traditional leadership structures for centuries This is evident for the charismatic founding president of the new South Africa Nelson Mandela as well as for his adversary the prime minister in office Mangosuthu Buthelezi The careful reconsideration of this state behind the state has been identified as crucial in this study to make any realistic assessments of the prospects for sustainable democratization in Southern African countries in the near future

Historical Controversies and Historians William Lamont, 2005-06-20 Using a range of historical problems as case studies and the work of particular historians this collection of essays introduces students to the nature of historical method and the realities of doing history

Popular Politics in the History of South Africa, 1400-1948 Paul S. Landau, 2010-09-20 Popular Politics in the History of South Africa 1400 1948 offers an inclusive vision of South Africa's past Drawing largely from original sources Paul Landau presents a history of the politics of the country's people from the time of their early settlements in the elevated heartlands through the colonial era to the dawn of Apartheid A practical tradition of mobilization alliance and amalgamation persisted mutated and occasionally vanished from view it survived against the odds in several forms in tribalisms Christian assemblies and other seemingly hybrid movements and it continues today Landau treats southern Africa broadly concentrating increasingly on the southern Highveld and ultimately focusing on a transnational movement called the Samuelites He shows how people's politics in South Africa were suppressed and transformed but never entirely eliminated

Imperialism, Race and Resistance Barbara Bush, 2002-01-04 Imperialism Race and Resistance marks an important new development in the study of British and imperial interwar history Focusing on Britain West Africa and South Africa Imperialism Race and Resistance charts the growth of anti colonial resistance and opposition to racism in the prelude to the post colonial era The complex nature of imperial power is explored as well as its impact on the lives and struggles of black men and women in Africa and the African diaspora Barbara Bush argues that tensions between white dreams of power and black dreams of freedom were seminal in transforming Britain's relationship with Africa in an era bounded by global war and shaped by ideological conflict
