subject of Language and Linguistics Complexity Perspectives on Language, Communication and Society Àngels Massip-Bonet, Albert Bastardas-Boada, 2012-10-13 The language communication society triangle defies traditional scientific approaches. Rather, it is a phenomenon that calls for an integration of complex transdisciplinary perspectives if we are to make any progress in understanding how it works. The highly diverse agents in play are not merely cognitive and/or cultural but also emotional and behavioural in their specificity. Indeed, the effort may require building a theoretical and methodological body of knowledge that can effectively convey the characteristic properties of phenomena in human terms. New complexity approaches allow us to rethink our limited and mechanistic images of human societies and create more appropriate emotional, cognitive, dynamic and holistic models. We have to enter into dialogue with the complexity views coming out of other more material sciences but we also need to take steps in the linguistic and psycho-sociological fields towards creating perspectives and concepts better fitted to human characteristics. Our understanding of complexity is different but not opposed to the one that is more commonly found in texts written by people working in physics or computer science for example. The goal of this book is to extend the knowledge of these other more human or socially oriented perspectives on complexity taking account of the language and communication singularities of human agents in society. Wittgenstein on Language and Thought Tim Thornton, 2019-08-08 This book defends and outlines the key issues surrounding the philosophy of content as demonstrated in Wittgenstein's Philosophical Investigations. The text shows how Wittgenstein's critical arguments concerning mind and meaning are destructive of much recent work in the philosophy of thought and language including the representationalist orthodoxy. These issues are related to the work of Davidson, Rorty and McDowell among others.

Ten Lectures on Language, Cognition, and Language Acquisition Melissa Bowerman, 2018-07-17 In her Beijing lectures, Melissa Bowerman presents a lucid introduction and account of her research on a range of topics: how children acquire the semantics of spatial terms; how they construct categories and acquire the semantics of nouns; and how they master the semantics of verbs in early language acquisition. Bowerman also covers the learning of argument structure and expressions of end state with special attention to the adult speech that guides children and hence also the role of typology in acquisition. How cross-linguistic variation affects, for example, how speakers represent cutting and breaking in different languages and the relation of the Whorfian Hypothesis to cross-linguistic variations in the semantics of languages. Bowerman's overriding concern throughout is with how children come to master the first language being spoken to them by their parents and caregivers.
