Thunderbolt Ernest R. McDowell, Don Greer, 1999 Republic P-47 Thunderbolt Maciej Noszczak, 2019-04-19 Before the P 47 Thunderbolt gained a bubble top fairing these fighters had slightly different some claim to be more racial figure In the first versions the plane had a typical canopy built into the fuselage which resulted in a slightly hunched line The first copies of the P 47B underwent a series of tests at the turn of 1941 and 1942 Initially they were not very promising One of the planes was lost because of the tail tearing off during the dive In addition at heights above 9144 m the flaps froze it was impossible to open the cabin hood and the forces on the rudders were very big At high speeds the paint covering the elevators fell off and the aerodynamic pressure inflated their sheath they were covered with canvas causing dangerous tail vibrations To remedy these problems metal sheathing was introduced elevators shape was changed and weight flaps were added The propulsion of the P 47B version was a 2000 HP R 2800 21 engine The time to reach the ceiling of 4572 m was 6.7 minutes The aircraft developed a speed of 690 km/h at an altitude of 8230 m in horizontal flight which was a great result

P-47 Thunderbolt Units of the Twelfth Air Force Jonathan Bernstein, 2012-08-20 The P 47 Thunderbolt originally designed as a high altitude interceptor became the principal US fighter bomber of World War II First adapted to the ground attack role by units of the Twelfth Air Force in early 1944 the strength and durability of the P 47 airframe along with its massive size earned it the nickname Juggernaut which was quickly shortened to Jug throughout the MTO and ETO By October 1943 with the creation of the Fifteenth Air Force nearly half of the Twelfth's fighter groups would be retasked with strategic escort missions leaving six groups to perform close air support and interdiction missions throughout the entire Mediterranean theatre The groups inflicted incredible damage on the enemy's transport routes in particular using rockets bombs napalm and machine gun rounds to down bridges blow up tunnels and strafe trains Myriad first hand accounts and period photography reveal the spectacular success enjoyed by the Thunderbolt in the MTO in the final year of the war
