Asia Pacific and Human Rights Paul Close, David Askew, 2017-03-02 Human rights are acquiring an increasingly prominent role on the world stage Interest in concern about and action on human rights are widespread and rising albeit in a far from globally even uniform and untroubled fashion Human rights have generated a booming global industry while having become not unconnectedly highly controversial and deeply contested Human rights matters have emerged as a major source of disagreement dispute and discord at and between the local regional and global levels of social cultural political and economic life These developments are addressed in the book by an examination of the links between the evolving global human rights regime GHRR and the character and course of human rights in the world s most dynamic complex and problematic region that of the Asia Pacific The authors argue that although the Asia Pacific and human rights nexus is influenced by cultural clashes it is largely shaped by power distributions and struggles rooted in the global political economy GPE The prevailing GHRR reflects the way in which globalization processes have been Western led but its future is far from certain given the current shift in the balance of GPE power towards the Asia Pacific and especially East Asia

Peace and Security in Indo-Pacific Asia Sorpong Peou,2021-11-21 Peace and Security in Indo Pacific Asia is for the informed the interested and the engaged Sorpong Peou brings together the skills of the pedagogue with the knowledge of the scholar Dr David Dewitt University Professor Emeritus Senior Scholar York University Toronto Canada Peou s excellent book provides both the lay reader and the specialist with six important theoretical frameworks which should provide the basis for better appreciation of what a security community in Indo Pacific Asia means in our world today There are very few scholars who understand the region like Peou Dr W Andy Knight Professor of Political Science the University of Alberta Canada Sorpong Peou s extraordinary breadth of knowledge of both International Relations theory and the key trends in Indo Pacific Asia shines through in this authoritative analysis Dr Richard Stubbs Professor of Political Science McMaster University Canada A pedagogical approach of the textbook that is appreciated is how the author respectfully engages with the theories of IR and is not pushing an agenda of denouncing some theories and trying to persuade the reader of others We live in such polarizing times that it is truly refreshing to read scholarly work that avoids sensationalistic attacks on theories that have been debated for decades Each theory in this manuscript is explored on its own terms and the reader is encouraged to figure out where they stand on these enduring debates in the context of Indo Pacific security The approach will lead to compelling classroom discussions of the theories and the politics of the region This book is a must read for any student or observer of security trends in the region Dr Mark Williams Chair and Professor of Political Studies Vancouver Island University B C Canada

Networking the International System Madeleine Herren, 2014-06-13 The book critically investigates the local impact of international organizations beyond a Western rationale and aims to overcome Eurocentric patterns of analysis Considering Asian and Western examples the contributions originate from different disciplines and study areas and discuss a global approach which has been a blind spot in scholarly research on international organizations until now Using the 1930s as a historical reference the contributions question role of international organizations during conflicts war and crises gaining insights into their function as peacekeeping forces in the 21st century While chapter one discusses the historicity of international organizations and the availability of sources the second chapter deliberates on Eurocentrism and science policy considering the converging of newly created epistemic communities and old diplomatic elites Chapter 3 sheds light on international organizations as platforms expanding the field of research from the diversity of organizations to the patterns of global governance The final chapter turns to the question of how international organizations invented and introduced new fields of action pointing to the antithetic role of standardization the preservation of cultural heritage and the difficulties in reaching a non Western approach

The Oxford Handbook of International Law in Asia and the Pacific Simon Chesterman, Hisashi Owada, Ben Saul, 2019-09-12 The growing economic and political significance of Asia has exposed a tension in the modern international order Despite expanding power and influence Asian states have played a minimal role in creating the norms and institutions of international law today they are the least likely to be parties to international agreements or to be represented in international organizations That is changing There is widespread scholarly and practitioner interest in international law at present in the Asia Pacific region as well as developments in the practice of states The change has been driven by threats as well as opportunities Transnational issues such as climate change and occasional flashpoints like the territorial disputes of the South China and the East China Seas pose challenges while economic integration and the proliferation of specialized branches of law and dispute settlement mechanisms have also encouraged greater domestic implementation of international norms across Asia These evolutions join the long standing interest in parts of Asia notably South Asia in post colonial theory and the history of international law The Oxford Handbook of International Law in Asia and the Pacific brings together pre eminent and emerging specialists to analyse the approach to and influence of key states of the region as well as whether truly Asian trends can be identified and what this might mean for international order The New Global Politics of the Asia Pacific Michael K.
