Abstract Painting in Canada Roald Nasgaard, Art Gallery of Nova Scotia, 2008 In the tradition of the distinguished Douglas McIntyre art program this lavishly illustrated and superbly printed book is a rich readable history of abstract painting in Canada The story begins in the 1920s with the sometimes eccentric but remarkable work rooted in symbolism and theosophy of pioneers such as Kathleen Munn Bertram Brooker and Lawren Harris Two decades later the Automatistes Canada's first truly independent avant garde art movement burst onto the scene in Montreal After the Second World War the urge to abstraction spread across Canada manifesting itself in significant regional movements Vancouver painters retained a British flavour while in Toronto the Painters Eleven looked south to New York Montreal's Plasticiens launched their own razor edged interpretation of the European tradition of geometric abstraction In the sixties and seventies the Prairies were influenced by Clement Greenberg's post painterly abstraction while Halifax became a hub of conceptual art and concrete painting The book continues through the eighties and nineties during which critics largely denounced painting and concludes in the twenty first century with abstract painting alive and well again in the studios of Canada's young artists A monumental tome containing 200 color reproductions it mines a rich vein of art history ripe for international discovery

The main section presents photographs of 134 key works in the Gallery's collection along with essays about the art artists. The works are arranged under the following categories: Canadian historical painting, contemporary art, First Nations, Inuit art, folk art, ceramics, historical prints, drawings, and international painting, sculpture. Includes index of artists. A to Z of Canadian Art Blake McKendry, 1997. The Artists' Halifax Mora Dianne O'Neill, 2003-11-03. For the past 250 years Halifax and its residents have been a favourite subject of visiting and local artists. This book presents a collection of more than 100 works of art which show the city at every stage in its history. This selection of images is drawn from hundreds of paintings, drawings, etchings, lithographs, and sketches in the rich collection of the Art Gallery of Nova Scotia. Many early paintings by military artists show the growth of the town and surrounding area. Later works by distinguished visiting artists and well-known residents include portraits and landscapes influenced by European high art. There are also fine examples of lithographs created for the popular nineteenth-century illustrated magazines. The works are organized by period so that the underlying story of the transformation of Halifax from a small fortified town into a sophisticated urban centre is clearly told. The establishment of the Victoria School of Art and Design, now the Nova Scotia College of Art and Design, had a profound impact on the artistic life of Halifax. This is reflected in the variety and strength of twentieth-century representations of the city with examples of Impressionism, cubism, and realism along with explorations in abstraction. Each work is accompanied by a descriptive caption by historian Mora Dianne O'Neill that describes the context, the art, and the artist. Also included are brief biographies of the artists represented in the book. Mapping Impressionist Painting in Transnational Contexts Emily C. Burns, Alice M. Rudy Price, 2021-05-03. This book offers microhistories related to the transnational circulations of Impressionism in the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries. The contributors rethink the role of French Impressionism in shaping these iterations by placing France within its global and imperialist context and arguing that Impressionisms might be framed through the mobility studies concept of constellations of mobility. Artists engaging with Impressionism in France as in other global contexts relied on, responded to, appropriated, and resisted elements of form and content based on fluid and interconnected political realities and market structures. Written by scholars and curators, the chapters demand reconsideration of Impressionism as a historical construct and the meanings assigned to that term. This project frames future discussion in art history, cultural studies, and global studies on the politics of appropriating Impressionism.
