Raw Guide To Birmingham And The Black Country:

Raw Guide to Birmingham and the Black Country Mike Parker, 1991 Greening Post-Industrial Cities Corina McKendry, 2017-09-22 City greening has been heralded for contributing to environmental governance and critiqued for exacerbating displacement and inequality Bringing these two disparate analyses into conversation this book offers a comparative understanding of how tensions between growth environmental protection and social equity are playing out in practice Examining Chicago USA Birmingham UK and Vancouver Canada McKendry argues that city greening efforts were closely connected to processes of post industrial branding in the neoliberal economy While this brought some benefits concerns about the unequal distribution of these benefits and greening s limited environmental impact challenged its legitimacy In response city leaders have moved toward initiatives that strive to better address environmental effectiveness and social equity while still spurring growth Through an analysis that highlights how different varieties of liberal environmentalism are manifested in each case this book illustrates that cities though constrained by inconsistent political will and broader political and economic contexts are making contributions to more effective socially just environmental governance Both critical and hopeful McKendry s work will interest scholars of city greening environmental governance and comparative urban politics

Public Policy and Political Institutions Frank Hendriks, 1999-01-01 With this important collection Hardy Hanappi and Wolfram Elsner have brought together an outstanding volume that is likely to have its impact on the development of evolutionary economics Expansive in its scope the innovative contributions range from evolutionary and institutional mechanisms dynamic market complexity as well as ontological groundwork of the rapidly emerging new evolutionary economics science The book will be of great interest to academics students and researchers of evolutionary and institutional economics Kurt Dopfer University of St Gallen Switzerland Tracing Your Black Country Ancestors Michael Pearson, 2012-10-30 The Black Country in the West Midlands is an important site for family historians Many researchers seeking to trace their ancestry back through the generations will find their trail leads through it And yet despite the burgeoning interest in genealogy and the importance of the region in so many life stories no previous book has provided a guide to the Black Country s history and to the documents and records that family historians can use in their research In this accessible and informative introduction to the subject Michael Pearson looks at the history and heritage of the region and gives a graphic insight into the world in which our ancestors lived He concentrates on the role the Black Country played during the industrial revolution when the development of mining industry and transport transformed the economic and social life of the area This was a period when living and working conditions were poor families were large children worked from an early age often in the mines and life expectancy was less than 20 And it was the era in which the Black Country took on the distinctive identity by which it is known today As well as retelling the fascinating story of the development of the Black Country the author introduces the reader to the variety of records that are available for genealogical research from legal and

British Literature in Transition, 1920-1940: Futility and Anarchy Charles Ferrall, Dougal McNeill, 2018-12-20

Literature from the political 1930s has often been read in contrast to the aesthetic 1920s. This collection suggests a different approach. Drawing on recent work expanding our sense of the political and aesthetic energies of interwar modernisms, these chapters track transitions in British literature. The strains of national break-up, class dissension and political instability provoked a new literary order and reading across the two decades between the wars exposes the continuing pressure of these transitions. Instead of following familiar markers, 1922, the Crash, the Spanish Civil War or isolating particular themes from literary study, this collection takes key problems and dilemmas from literature in transition and reads them across familiar and unfamiliar cultural works and productions in their rich and contradictory context of publication. Themes such as gender, sexuality, nation and class are thus present throughout these essays. Major writers such as Woolf are read alongside forgotten and marginalised voices.
