Re Evaluating Residential Care:

Re-evaluating Residential Care Sheila M. Peace, Leonie A. Kellaher, Dianne M. Willcocks, 1997 The authors of this timely book set out to answer this pressing question and offer an explanation as to what makes older people give up their homes Residential care homes provide accommodation for over 300 000 older people in the UK the majority of whom are in their mid eighties More than a quarter of the population over eighty five live in institutional settings most of them in residential care homes

Handbook of the Clinical Psychology of Ageing Robert T. Woods, Linda Clare, 2015-04-13 The first authoritative reference on clinical psychology and aging the Handbook of the Clinical Psychology of Ageing was universally regarded as a landmark publication when it was first published in 1996 Fully revised and updated the Second Edition retains the breadth of coverage of the original providing a complete and balanced picture of all areas of clinical research and practice with older people Contributions from the UK North America Scandinavia and Australia provide a broad overview of the psychology of aging psychological problems including depression anxiety psychosis and dementia the current social service context and assessment and intervention techniques

The Environments of Ageing Sheila Peace, 2022-02-24 Providing the first UK assessment of environmental gerontology this book enriches current understanding of the spatiality of ageing Sheila Peace considers how places and spaces contextualise personal experience in varied environments from urban and rural to general and specialised housing Situating extensive research within multidisciplinary thinking and incorporating policy and practice this book assesses how personal health and wellbeing affect different experiences of environment It also considers the value of intergenerational and age related living the meaning of home and global to local concerns for population ageing Drawing on international comparisons this book offers a valuable resource for new research and important lessons for the future

Caring and Coping Anthony Douglas, Terry Philpot, 2002-03-11 Caring and Coping provides a clear and accessible explanation of the history politics management funding and day to day work of the social services in Britain Social Care now encompasses a wide range of increasingly specialised professions Caring and Coping aims to improve the practitioner s and the general public s understanding not only of what these various professions do but also what the legal political ethical and financial constraints are upon them It succinctly addresses issues such as the terms and effects of the Children Act and the Community Care Act the role of charities in the modern welfare state the role of management relationships with other agencies and the place of social work within the community Social services are so often portrayed in the media in a sensationalist way and this book counterbalances the hype by providing solid research and a more down to earth picture It is an ideal introductory text for those training to be social workers

Inclusive housing in an ageing society Peace, Sheila, Holland, Caroline, 2001-10-24 The housing problems of older people in our society are highly topical because of the growing number of retired people in the population and especially the yet to come increasing number of very old people Government policies on the care of older people have been forthcoming from Whitehall but the issue of housing is just beginning to be seriously addressed This book represents a first attempt at bringing together people from the worlds of architecture social science and housing studies to look at the future of living environments for an ageing society Projecting thinking into the future it asks critical questions and attempts to provide some of the answers It uniquely moves beyond the issues of accommodation and care to look at the wider picture of how housing can reflect the social inclusion of people as they age Inclusive housing in an ageing society will appeal to a wide audience housing health and social care workers including housing officers architects planners and designers community regeneration workers care managers social workers and social care assistants registered managers and housing providers health improvement staff and of course current and future generations of older people      Medical Identities Kent Maynard,2007 Illness and misfortune more broadly are ubiquitous thus healing roles or professions are also universal Ironically however little attention has been paid to those who heal or promote wellbeing These come in many different guises in some societies healing is highly professional and specialized in some cases it is more preventative in others more interventionist Based on rich and wide ranging ethnographic data and especially written for this volume these essays look at how a great variety of health providers are perceived from traditional healers to physicians from diviners to nursing home providers Conversely the authors also ask how healers or those concerned with wider matters of well being view themselves and to what degree social attitudes differ in regard to who these people are as well as their power prestige and activities As these essays demonstrate class gender sexuality ethnicity or state policy may all play formative roles in shaping the definition of health and wellbeing how they are delivered and the character and prestige of those who provide for our health and welfare in society      Changing Britain Susan McRae,1999 Major changes have happened in households and people s lives in most countries in the developed world Marriage rates have fallen divorce has risen women are having fewer children and later in life and there has been a rise in childbearing outside marriage One in four families is headed by a lone parent We are all getting older These changes have significance that goes beyond the individual families with implications for housing demand social security benefits labour force participation health and social services Changing Britain provides a comprehensive portrait of British families and households at the end of the 20th Century The book examines more generally the nature of economic and labour market change Britain s place in Europe and changing attitudes towards family life Specifically the book also deals with issues such as older people s lives non heterosexual families one person households young mothers and single parents and divorce      Social Work Practice with Older People Rory Lynch,2013-11-13 Older people are the biggest service user group for social workers and an increasing proportion of the population In this refreshingly positive and practical textbook Rory Lynch draws on years of practice and teaching experience to show how to achieve best social work practice with older adults He takes a person centred approach which fosters respect by valuing the fact that elderly people have more lived experience than others Exploring the key theoretical approaches and methods of intervention this book helps social workers to identify understand and facilitate their service users wishes for well being and a fulfilling older age Chapters are practice driven containing case studies drawn from a range of care settings reflective questions and exercises Mapping directly onto the key modules on the social work degree this is essential reading for all student social workers especially as they prepare to go on their practice placement It is also valuable reading for qualified social workers Rory Lynch is Lecturer in Social Work at Robert Gordon University Older People and the Law McDonald, Ann,Taylor, Margaret,2006-11 This book is a revised and updated edition of Elders and the Law PEPAR Publications 1993 It describes the legal framework for working with older people following the modernising agenda in health and social care and the length has been considerably expanded to enable topics to be dealt with more comprehensively It covers the range of legal issues affecting the welfare and financial security of older people in the community and residential settings and emphasises the empowering nature of legal knowledge It also describes and explains the application of law and policy relating to older people in the context of social work practice Older People and the Law is aimed at all professionals working with older people but particularly social workers Its clarity of style means that older people themselves and carers will find it accessible BOOK JACKET Institutional Abuse Jill Manthorpe,Bridget Penhale,Nicky Stanley,2002-09-11 Institutional Abuse brings together a number of different research studies and accounts of institutional abuse from leading academics and researchers Public enquiries and court cases concerning institutional abuse in a range of settings have generated considerable media interest and have highlighted the need for preventative strategies and appropriate responses Four areas of abuse are covered the abuse of children the abuse of adults with mental health problems the abuse of adults with learning difficulties the abuse of older people Each section includes a chapter which reports on users experiences of abuse and their views as to how institutional abuse can be prevented and survivors needs met There's No Place Like Home: Place and Care in an Ageing Society Christine Milligan,2016-02-17 Against a background of debate around global ageing and what this means in terms of the future care need of older people this book addresses key concerns about the nature and site of care and care giving Following a critical review of research into who cares where and how it uses geographical perspectives to present a comprehensive analysis of how the intersection of informal care giving within domestic community and residential care homes can create complex landscapes and organizational spatialities of care Drawing on contemporary case studies largely but not exclusively from the UK the book reviews and develops a theoretical basis for a geographical analysis of the issue of care By relating these theoretical concepts to empirical data and case studies it illustrates how formal and informal care giver responses to the changing landscape of care can act to facilitate or constrain the development of inclusionary models of care Trends in Long-term Care United States. Congress. Senate. Special Committee on Aging. Subcommittee on Long-Term Care,1970 Housing Policy in the UK David Mullins,Alan Murie,2017-09-16 Housing Policy in the UK is a major new textbook that traces the emergence of a new comprehensive housing policy in the wake of the Communities Plan and regionalisation Grounded in cutting edge research and analysis it provides a clear account of the evolution and current dimensions and tensions at the heart of this policy      Equity and Efficiency Policy in Community Care Bleddyn Davies, José Fernández, 2018-02-06 This title was first published in 2000 Equity and Efficiency Policy provides a completely new perspective on post reform community care analyzes its fairness effectiveness and efficiency in a new way and uses its powerful new techniques applied to a major national collection of evidence to suggest how to develop the Modernization Agenda It describes for the first time how differences in the levels of each of the main services alone and in combination affect a wide range of user and carer benefits uses this knowledge to analyze in a new way and make policy proposals about some of the pressing policy issues of the government s Modernization Agenda      Residential versus Community Care Raymond Jack, 2016-01-06 The role of residential care in welfare provision has been debated for many years Recent emphasis on care in the community has led to closure of hospitals and residential homes on a massive scale Drawing together contributions from some key names in the field this provocative and stimulating book questions the reasons for the rejection of this form of care and offers a reassessment of its role in community care for the twenty first century      Into the House of Old Megan J. Davies, 2004-10 Davies study of institutional life is multi textured informed by social and architectural theory while telling us much about daily life in these facilities We learn about angry rebellion and harsh discipline fun and festivals death and compassion And we see how the twentieth century witnessed the gradual withdrawal of these institutions from the life of the community further enhancing the marginal place of the old age home in our society Chronicling the evolution of professional ideas about residential care facilities and an innovative program to move elderly patients out of acute care hospital beds Into the House of Old provides a context for understanding this problematic institution as both an offspring of the poor law and a product of the post Second World War expansion of state medical services      Independent Futures Colin Barnes, Geoffrey Mercer, 2006-04-28 This book provides the first comprehensive review of the increase in the UK and internationally in the number of disability related support services controlled by disabled people themselves It highlights the need for greater user involvement in service provision and delivery      A Handbook Of Dementia Care Caroline Cantley, 2001-09-16 Recently professional understanding of dementia has broadened and has opened up new thinking about how we can provide more imaginative responsive and person centred services for people with dementia Against this background A Handbook of Dementia Care provides a wide ranging up to date overview of the current state of knowledge in the field It is comprehensive authoritative accessible and thought provoking It asks How do different theoretical perspectives help us to understand dementia What do we know about what constitutes good practice in dementia care How can we improve practice and service delivery in dementia care How do policy organizational issues and research impact on dementia care This handbook provides a unique multidisciplinary and critical guide to what we know about dementia and dementia care It is written by leading academics practitioners and managers involved in the development of dementia care It demonstrates the value of a wide range of perspectives in understanding dementia care reviews the latest thinking about good practice and examines key ethical issues It explores the way organizations policy and research shape dementia care and introduces a range of approaches to practice and service development A Handbook of Dementia Care is an essential resource for students and professionals in such fields as gerontology social work nursing occupational therapy geriatric medicine psychiatry mental health psychology social services and health services management social policy and health policy Residential Care Transformed J. Johnson, S. Rolph, R. Smith, 2010-05-28 This book now in paperback revisits Peter Townsend's classic study of residential care for older people in Britain conducted in the late 1950s It provides not only a fascinating account of residential care for older people over the last 50 years but is also an important contribution to the literature on research methods Addressing Violence, Abuse and Oppression Barbara Fawcett, Fran Waugh, 2013-07-04 Everyone working in health and social care is at one point or another confronted by violent behaviour and its consequences Addressing Violence Abuse and Oppression provides a broad overview of violence in relation to a range of groups and areas that involve human service professionals Adopting an international perspective this book looks at the ways in which violence abuse and oppression can be clearly associated with power imbalances which are often gendered and which are covertly or overtly manifested at a range of levels including the interpersonal as well as the organizational and the political It explores debates and challenges with regard to theoretical orientations policy frameworks and how power imbalances intersect with a range of influencing factors including gender poverty indigenous ethnic issues class and sexuality Examining the implications for human service professionals each chapter of Addressing Violence Abuse and Oppression provides an historical overview explores theoretical perspectives examines specific policy and practice context appraises the contribution from research and assesses the impact for individuals and groups
