Reader In International Relations:

A Reader in International Relations and Political Theory Howard L. Williams, Tony Evans, Moorhead Wright, 1993 This reader has been assembled in response to increasing dissatisfaction among a growing number of international relations scholars with the currently dominant theory of realism as well as in recognition of the large number of newly independent states which are having to write new constitutions and develop foreign relations The book includes excerpts and essays from political theory and international relations which provide a starting point for further study of these subjects It draws together writings representing two distinct traditions and demonstrates their interconnections In political theory excerpts are drawn from classical texts which have an important bearing on problems of international relations In international relations the collection includes essays which have had a seminal influence on the development of this discipline Reader in
