Picturing the Postcard Monica Cure, 2018-12-18 The first full length study of a once revolutionary visual and linguistic medium Literature has died many times this book tells the story of its death by postcard Picturing the Postcard looks to this unlikely source to shed light on our collective modern day obsession with new media The postcard almost unimaginably now produced at the end of the nineteenth century the same anxieties and hopes that many people think are unique to twenty first century social media such as Facebook or Twitter It promised a newly connected social world accessible to all and threatened the breakdown of authentic social relations and even of language Arguing that new media is as much a discursive object as a material one and that it is always in dialogue with the media that came before it Monica Cure reconstructs the postcard's history through journals legal documents and sources from popular culture analyzing the postcard's representation in fiction by well known writers such as E M Forster and Edith Wharton and by more obscure writers like Anne Sedgwick and Herbert Flowerdew Writers deployed uproar over the new medium of the postcard by Anglo

American cultural critics to mirror anxieties about the changing nature of the literary marketplace which included the new role of women in public life the appeal of celebrity and the loss of privacy an increasing dependence on new technologies and the rise of mass media Literature kept open the postcard's possibilities and in the process reimagined what literature could be

Discourse, Communication and Tourism Adam Jaworski, Annette Pritchard, 2005-09-19 For the first time ever this book brings together an explicit linkage between empirical and theoretical perspectives on tourism and discourse A broad social semiotic approach is adopted to analyze a range of spoken written and visual texts providing a unique resource for researching and teaching tourism in the context of communication studies Some of the key concepts explored in its chapters include space representation the tourist experience identity performance and authenticity and the contributors are key sociologists of tourism as well as discourse analysts and sociolinguists

Rereading Modernist Postcards Bradley D. Clissold, 2023-08-31 Informed by both new and old media theory materialist approaches to the study of everyday objects and a series of close readings that chart the critical history of postcard use in the fiction and correspondence of Ernest Hemingway Ring Lardner James Joyce and Wilfred Owen this book locates and attempts to rediscover lost misplaced and neglected postcard materialities as they relate to the archiving editing publishing and fictional repurposing of postcards across Anglo American Literary Modernism 1880 1939 It argues that postcards need to be recognized as important early twentieth century communication technologies and distinctly modernist textualities composed of multimedia recto verso intertextualities Moreover their material limitations encourage users to inscribe messages often in fragmented language forms and innovative cultural shorthands a k a postcardese This study redresses the ongoing widespread scholarly neglect of signifying postcard materialities in modernist studies and the editorial silencing of postcard features in collections of published author correspondence It also stresses that for these four literary figures of modernism the material choice of a postcard for communicating is always as much the meta message as any of the signifying materialities they carry uploaded onto their platforming surfaces

Contemporary Archival Fiction Elin Ivansson, 2025-09-30 This book presents a synthesised framework for analysing archival poetics in multimodal literature examining case studies from twenty first century American fiction towards elucidating the archival turn in contemporary literature more broadly Ivansson turns her focus on multimodal archival fiction here understood as works which engage with archival practices of collecting and organising both verbal text and visual inclusions of fictional and factual archival material such as photographs sketches notes and newspaper clippings The volume brings together work from multimodality cognitive stylistics and narratology with archival studies to demonstrate how contemporary archival fiction engages with archival themes through multimodal design Case studies include works from Barbara Hodgson Leanne Shapton Valeria Luiselli and Jacob Garbe and Aaron A Reed The selected examples allow for a detailed exploration of how to analyse the multimodal composition and reader experience of archival poetics Furthermore these case studies also elucidate how such a framework can be applied more broadly to the analysis of fictional works thematically and structurally concerned with the archive or those that grapple with such areas of interest in contemporary research as materiality bookishness and ontological ambiguity This volume will appeal to students and scholars in multimodality stylistics American literature and literary studies

Pastoral and Monumental Donald C. Jackson, 2017-03-15 In Pastoral and Monumental Donald C. Jackson chronicles America's longtime fascination with dams as represented on picture postcards from the late nineteenth to the mid twentieth century Through over four hundred images Jackson documents the remarkable transformation of dams and their significance to the environment and culture of America Initially dams were portrayed in pastoral settings on postcards that might jokingly proclaim them as a dam pretty place But scenes of flood damage dam collapses and other disasters also captured people's attention Later images of New Deal projects such as the Hoover Dam Grand Coulee Dam and Norris Dam symbolized America's rise from the Great Depression through monumental public works and technological innovation Jackson relates the practical applications of dams describing their use in irrigation navigation flood control hydroelectric power milling mining and manufacturing He chronicles changing construction techniques from small timber mill dams to those more massive and more critical to a society dependent on instant access to electricity and potable water Concurrent to the evolution of dam technology Jackson recounts the rise of a postcard culture that was fueled by advances in printing photography lowered postal rates and America's fascination with visual imagery In 1910 almost one billion postcards were mailed through the U.S. Postal Service and for a period of over fifty years postcards featuring dams were all the rage Whether displaying the charms of an old mill the aftermath of a devastating flood or the construction of a colossal gravity dam these postcards were a testament to how people perceived dams as structures of both beauty and technological power My
