A study carried out in Germany has found that chocolate may be good for your heart. This is fantastic news for all chocolate lovers. The extensive research was conducted over eight years. The research team followed the chocolate-eating habits and health of almost 20,000 people. They compared how much chocolate was in their diet to the number of heart attacks and strokes people had. Lead researcher Brian Buijsse said: "The good news is that chocolate is not as bad as we used to think, and may even lower the risk of heart disease and stroke." Mr Buijsse said his team found that dark chocolate was the healthiest kind to eat: "Dark chocolate exhibits the greatest effects, milk chocolate fewer, and white chocolate no effects," he said.

The German study showed that people who ate the most chocolate (at least one bar per week) reduced their risk of having a heart attack by 27 per cent. The risk of suffering a stroke was cut by as much as 48 per cent. Nutrition experts believe that natural compounds in chocolate called flavonols are good for our heart. Flavonols also help reduce blood pressure. They are found in cocoa beans so dark chocolate (which has more cocoa) contains more of them than milk chocolate (which has more fat). Buijsse warns people not to suddenly eat lots of chocolate: "Eating higher amounts will most likely result in weight gain. If people start eating small amounts of chocolate, it should replace something else, preferably other high-calorie sweets or snacks."

Select the meaning of lead in this context.

- the initiative in an action; an example for others to follow.

Reading Comprehension in Polish and English Monika Kusiak,2013-06-01 This book is about reading Throughout the book the author explains the complexity of the dual language involvement of FL L2 reading by showing how L1 and FL L2 factors interplay in FL L2 reading The main aim of the book is to explore reading in English in the foreign second language context as a cross linguistic phenomenon and to present the results of a think aloud study which investigated reading in Polish as the L1 and English as the FL of Polish learners of English. The project consisted of six stages each focussing on a different aspect of reading. Thus the following was explored: reading strategies, problems and solutions, the way the subjects constructed their representations of the texts, the students' individual patterns of developing comprehension and effectiveness in identifying the main ideas. The findings revealed both differences and similarities between the subjects reading in Polish and their reading in English. The book offers implications for further research and elucidates the usefulness of think aloud protocols in foreign language instruction.
