Roman Art Architecture:

The Oxford Handbook of Greek and Roman Art and Architecture Clemente Marconi, 2014-10-07 The study of Greek and Roman Art and Architecture has a long history that goes back to the second half of the 18th century and has provided an essential contribution towards the creation and the definition of the wider disciplines of Art History and Architectural History This venerable tradition and record are in part responsible for the diffused tendency to avoid general discussions addressing the larger theoretical implications methodologies and directions of research in the discipline This attitude is in sharp contrast not only with the wider field of Art History but also with disciplines that are traditionally associated with the study of Greek and Roman Art and Architecture like Classics and Classical Archaeology In recent years the field has been characterized by an ever increasing range of approaches under the influence of various disciplines such as Sociology Semiotics Gender Theory Anthropology Reception Theory and Hermeneutics In light of these recent developments this Handbook seeks to explore key aspects of Greek and Roman Art and Architecture and to assess the current state of the discipline The Handbook includes thirty essays in addition to the introduction by an international team of leading senior scholars who have played a critical role in shaping the field and by younger scholars who will express the perspectives of a newer generation After a framing introduction written by the editor which compares ancient and modern notions of art and architecture the Handbook is divided into five sections Pictures from the Inside Greek and Roman Art and Architecture in the Making Ancient Contexts Post Antique Contexts and Approaches Together the essays in the volume make for an innovative and important book one that is certain to find a wide readership

Roman Art in the Private Sphere Elaine K. Gazda, Anne E. Haeckl, 1991 This is a stimulating book and should be compulsory reading for all students of Roman art Classical Review For all the authors attention to the ensemble a sense of the relation between the formal and the iconographic and the desire to historicize their material contribute to making this anthology unusual in its rigorous and creative attention to the way that art and architecture participate in the construction of the image of the Roman elite Art Bulletin Roman Art in the Private Sphere presents an impressive case for the social and art historical importance of the paintings mosaics and sculptures that filled the private houses of the Roman elite The six essays in this volume range from the first century B C E to the fourth century C E and from the Italian peninsula to the Eastern Empire and North African provinces The essays treat works of art that belonged to every major Roman housing type the single family atrium houses and the insula apartment blocks in Italian cities the dramatically sited villas of the Campanian coast and countryside and the palatial mansions of late antique provincial aristocrats In a complementary fashion the essays consider domestic art in relation to questions of decorum status wealth social privilege and obligation Patrons emerge as actively interested in the character of their surroundings artists appear as responsive to the desire of their patrons The evidence in private art of homosexual conduct in high society is also set forth Originality of subject matter sophisticated appreciation of stylistic and compositional nuance and philosophical perceptions of the relationship of humanity and nature are among the themes that the essays explore Together they demonstrate that Roman domestic art must be viewed on its own terms Elaine K Gazda is Professor of the History of Art and Curator of Hellenistic and Roman Antiquities at the Kelsey Museum of Archaeology University of Michigan

Roman civilization history and culture Roman art and architecture Robert Eric Mortimer Wheeler,1979 Roman Art Eve D'Ambra,1998 In this refreshing reappraisal of the art and architecture of ancient Rome Eve D Ambra focuses on the personal social and cultural identity of its subjects The acquisition of art whether the purchase of copies of Greek statuary the construction of a sumptuous villa or the commissioning of a portrait head played a crucial role in Roman society in which displays of wealth and culture were necessary to gain and maintain power The question of identity is key to understanding the nature of the Roman empire which seemed infinitely expandable at its peak welcomed foreigners to become Romans freed slaves to citizen status and allowed social mobility within a strictly hierarchical social order D Ambra discusses patronage on different social levels from that of the emperor and his court to those of shopkeepers and of artisans in diverse regions of the empire and in distinct ethnic groups She compares the imagery of the state and of military victory with the humblest funerary reliefs Many provincial artworks were based on imperial models but others were created in resistance to prevailing imperial standards D Ambra draws on a range of sculpture wall paintings decorative arts coins and architecture from Italy to the edges of the empire evoking the traditionalism and the adaptability of Roman art She also looks ahead to the art and architecture of the fourth century AD which despite the emergence of Christianity as the dominant religion continued to be influenced by Roman styles and themes Eve D Ambra is Associate Professor in the Department of Art at Vassar College Poughkeepsie New York She has taught and published widely in the field of Roman art and society The Oxford Handbook of Greek and Roman Art and Architecture Clemente Marconi,2015 An innovative and up to date synopsis of the field of Greek and Roman Art and Architecture filling a genuine need in the literature A Handbook of Roman Art Martin Henig,1983 Examines the architecture sculpture murals mosaics jewelry coins pottery and glass produced in ancient Rome Roman Art and Architecture Jonathan Campbell,1998 An introduction to Roman imperial art and architecture designed for use by secondary students Describes all pieces set for this section of the Form Seven Classical studies course while also covering other relevant works of art from the period Suggested level senior secondary Roman Art Nancy H. The Social History of Roman Art Peter Stewart, 2008-05-29 An introduction to the study of ancient Roman art in its social context Roman Art Helga Freifrau von Heintze, 1990 Art & Architecture of the Roman Empire, 2001 Art and Archaeology of Ancient Rome, 2021-04

Classical archaeology was long equated to ancient art history. Today these fields find themselves at a major crossroads. The influence on them from the discipline of anthropology has increased substantially in the past 15 years, adding to the ways in which scholars can study the Roman past. The classical archaeologist of the 21st century is likely to be versed in Greek and Latin, computer technology, ancient history, great monuments, various hard sciences such as physics or even astronomy, GPS, GIS, surveying, mapping, digitizing, artistic rendering, numismatics, geo science, astronomy, environmental studies, material culture analysis, and a host of other disciplines and sub disciplines. Universities are seeking specialists whose talents embrace not one but several different fields of research. It is not necessary for each scholar to know everything about each discipline being used within the fields of art history, classical archaeology, and anthropology, but these days a basic knowledge of all relevant disciplines is becoming indispensable. This book will layout the basic information and steps necessary to take the beginning archaeologist's search for knowledge of the past and lead them to adventures of the future. There have been numerous textbooks about the art history and monuments of ancient Rome. With this new work, the authors have attempted to create something slightly different. Students of the subject will still be able to gain the essential basic knowledge of the most important works of art and architecture that have been the focus of university art history courses for more than a century and remain the essential starting point for gaining a window into Roman Antiquity. In addition to this, however, anthropology, classical studies, social history, and computer graphics have been used throughout this text in order to help the beginning student understand the daily life of the ancient Romans. The authors have sought to emphasize not only the greatest works of ancient art but have also included utilitarian objects which were more typical of the Roman life experience. It is hoped that this holistic approach can afford an appreciation not only of that estimated one sixth that formed the Roman elite but also the remaining five sixths who formed the majority of the Roman people. New technologies are being developed each year, allowing increased possibilities for understanding the past. These range from innovations in museology, as exemplified by the ruin within a museum approach of Rome's Capitoline Museums, to the virtual reality 3D walk-throughs that allow the general public to experience the past first hand by passing through museums or even reconstructed ancient buildings and sites. If a picture is worth a thousand words, the 21st century is showing that there is a growing desire to offer detailed and intimate snapshots that allow the past to resonate and reveal itself in ways not thought possible a generation ago. In this textbook, the authors present more than 400 images, including over 100 new plans and specially commissioned reconstructions. Roman Art and Architecture, 2020
