Mapping Marriage Law in Spanish Gitano Communities Susan Gay Drummond, 2006 Comparative law and legal anthropology have traditionally restricted themselves to their own fields of inquiry Mapping Marriage Law in Spanish Gitano Communities turns this tendency on its head and investigates what happens when the voices of each discipline are invited to speak to each other Susan Drummond forges this hybrid form of comparative work through small and large scale studies of Gitano marriage law as it emerges in a Western European state in a modern urban centre and in particular communities and families Drummond's mapping of Gitano marriage law is grounded in ethnographic fieldwork in Andalucia The study draws initially from the tradition of comparative law to focus on the emergence of Spanish state family law in a predominantly national and international context Drummond then adopts the role of legal anthropologist to examine a particular legal culture that exists within and also beyond the Spanish state that of the Gitanos and the transnational Roma Ultimately she brings the international national and cultural dimensions of law into play with one another and contemplates how all of these influences bear on the spirit of Andalusian Gitano marriage law The result is an ethos of marriage law in a thoroughly mixed legal jurisdiction Mapping Marriage Law in Spanish Gitano Communities will appeal to scholars and students in comparative law and legal anthropology as well as readers interested in Roma studies in general and the Gitanos in particular

The Afterlives of Anticolonial Aesthetics Carlos Garrido Castellano,Patrick Crowley,2025-08-06 This book develops a critical intervention in the politics of time and anticolonial aesthetics Engaging with recent debates on cultural activism and postcolonial and decolonial studies the main objective of this volume is to examine the ways in which anticolonial cultural analysis and production keeps nurturing contemporary processes of progressive social transformation The chapters in this volume argue that anticolonialism should not be bounded to a specific historical moment that of postcolonial nation building rather it should be seen as a fertile radical tradition going beyond the specific event of decolonization and informing utopian and radical futures. The twelve essays engage with this argument from a wide variety of disciplines including film studies, art history, literary criticism, and cultural and visual studies. It is intended for scholars, activists, and students across disciplines who are interested in the intersections of culture, politics, and social change. The chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue of Interventions. The Independent Review Edward Jenks, 1905 French Film Susan Hayward, Ginette Vincendeau, 2014-04-23. The second edition of this innovative textbook brings together leading scholars to provide detailed analyses of twenty-two key films within the canon of French cinema from the 1920s to the 1990s. Films discussed include masterpieces such as Renoir's La Bête Humaine and Carne, popular classics such as Les Vacances de Monsieur Hulot and Ma Nuit chez Maud, landmarks of the New Wave such as Les 400 Coups and A bout de souffle, important films of the 1990s such as Nikita and La Haine. The films are considered in relation to such issues as the history of French cinema, the social and cultural contexts of their production and reception, the relationship with Hollywood cinema, gender, politics, authorship, and genre. Each article is accompanied with a guide to further reading and a filmography of the director, and the new edition also includes a fully revised introduction and a bibliography on French cinema. Nature Displayed in Her Mode of Teaching Language to Man Nicolas Gouin Dufief, 1810 Contemporary French Culture and Society Georges Santoni, 1981-06-30 Rome, Ostia, Pompeii Ray Laurence, David J. Newsome, 2011-11-24. Rome Ostia Pompeii: Movement and Space demonstrates how studies of the Roman city are shifting focus from static architecture to activities and motion within urban spaces. This volume provides detailed case studies from the three best-known cities from Roman Italy, revealing how movement contributes to our understanding of the ways different elements of society interacted in space and how the movement of people and materials shaped urban development. The chapters in this book examine the impressions left by the movement of people and vehicles as indentations in the archaeological and historical record and as impressions upon the Roman urban consciousness. Through a broad range of historical issues, this volume studies movement as it is found at the city gate, in public squares, and on the street, and as it is represented in texts. Its broad objective is to make movement meaningful for understanding the economic, cultural, political, religious, and infrastructural behaviours that produced different types and rhythms of interaction in the Roman city. This volume's interdisciplinary approach will inform the understanding of the city in classics, ancient history, archaeology, and architectural history, as well as cultural studies, town planning, urban geography, and sociology.
